THE COAL PEOPLE ARE SUMMONED TO WHITE HOUSE

Roosevelt to See Both Parties in a Peace Meeting Friday.

REASON TO HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

AN EXTRA SESSION THE FINAL RESORT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 603 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.

In his usual energetic style, President Roosevelt today drove the first blow in his effort to end the coal strike. He sent telegrams to the presidents of the anthracite coal railroads and to President Mitchell of the miners, asking them to meet him at the temporary White House, at 11 o'clock on Friday morning. The message to Mitchell says:

"I should greatly like to see you on Friday next, October 3, at 11 o'clock a. m., here in Washington, in regard to the failure of the coal supply, which has become a matter of vital concern to the whole nation. I have sent a similar dispatch to the presidents of the anthracite coal companies."

This morning the president conferred several hours on the subject with Secretaries Root, Shaw and Moody and Attorney General Knox. Mr. Knox thought there is no legal way to end the strike, and Secretary Root, who had just returned from New York, believed the parties to the strike are about ready to confer if they could be brought together by a comparatively disinterested party. This decided the president.

Extra Session a Final Resort.

The president has no intention of using force himself, but if the strike is not speedily settled, an extra session of congress to be called at once to pass the necessary legislation, probably would be the force needed.

It is not believed here that there will be any refusals on the part of anybody invited to attend the conference, and there is a widespread confidence in administration circles this afternoon that the conference will end the coal strike. The plan formally adopted today was among those considered at the White House yesterday, but at that time the president was not aware of just how such a suggestion would be met.

His first intention was, if possible, to bring about legal proceedings against the coal companies, and with that purpose in view Attorney General Knox for the last two days consulted all laws bearing upon this phase of the situation. Mr. Knox reported yesterday afternoon and again this morning, that he could not find the slightest cause for legal interference.

Root Tells of New York Mission.

Mr. Root spoke to the president and cabinet of confidential interviews he had had with different persons in New York yesterday and of their views of the situation. He looked upon the plan of bringing together the persons interested as the most feasible that has been proposed.

What Mr. Roosevelt will propose to the men who will assemble here on Friday is not known; but it is believed that he will tell both sides that he is receiving telegrams and letters from all over the country portraying the discontent of people with the existing condition of affairs and suggesting that those most vitally interested should consider means of settling the strike.

The president will lay before his hearers the situation as it appears to him, with all the prospective horrors that will follow a fuel famine, and will urge them in the interests of humanity to open the mines and supply the demand for coal.

It is stated by a member of the cabinet that there is no political purpose in this effort, but that the president is moved to exert his influence solely in the interests of the people.

In the other attempts, it is said, the operators felt that politics was the most prominent motive.

Operators Sore at Politicians.

In this connection the story is revived of the settlement of the strike in 1900. The operators claim that when that strike was settled under stress of a political exigency the way was paved for the present strike. They also claim that the strikers have hoped that political influence would again be exerted in their behalf, and the operators would be compelled to make further concessions. The efforts of Senators Quay and Penrose of Pennsylvania, Senator Platt of New York and Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania, have been pointed out as a verification of the claim of the operators. All this, they have asserted, is due to the settlement made in 1900.

All these various questions have been discussed during the past few days, together with the legal situation and the power of the federal administration in the premises, and the conclusion was reached that the president could do more by bringing the interested parties together than in any other way.

It is felt today that the heads of the coal companies and the president of the United Mine Workers will be glad to have some one so high in authority as President Roosevelt to bring them together.

Saves Pride of Both Sides.

By this means neither side will appear to have been worsted by the other, and whatever the settlement effected may be it will go to the credit of the president, and not to one side or the other; but stubbornness by either party undoubtedly will result in an extra session of congress next month.

No one will be present at Friday's meeting at the temporary White House but the principals, the regular cabinet meeting being postponed for this purpose. The absence of the cabinet will give the president an opportunity to do just what he wants, namely, to have a good, heart-to-heart talk with the operators and Mr. Mitchell, to induce them to talk to each other freely and to reason quietly and soberly, and finally to agree, if possible, to make concessions on each side which will terminate the strike. At least, if this last object cannot be directly attained, it is hoped that the fountations may be laid for an agreement in the near future, perhaps an agreement between the principals to have further meetings, and perhaps to refer open issues between them to third parties.

It is stated positively that the president has no assurances from either side which formed the basis of his call for this meeting.

MORGAN SAYS PRESIDENT'S ACT IS ADMIRABLE

The Coal Operators and Mitchell Glad to Attend Conference.

MINERS' LEADER EXPECTED A CALL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 1.—All the men invited by President Roosevelt to attend the coal strike conference in Washington next Friday will attend. The coal road presidents were quick this afternoon to signify their acceptances. Not one of them, however, would venture a word as to possible results. J. Pierpont Morgan went farther than any of the operators, declaring the move an admirable thing.

Mr. Morgan said: "I have heard of the president's invitation to the coal presidents, and I think it is an admirable thing. As to results, we can tell better when the operators come back."

President Truesdale of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western said that he had received President Roosevelt's telegram inviting him to the conference, and replied, saying he would be glad to attend.

All Will Go Gladly.

President Fowler of the New York, Ontario & Western and President Olyphant of the Delaware & Hudson acknowledged the receipt of President Roosevelt's invitation. The invitation will be accepted by all the operators, but none of those seen would discuss the probable outcome of the meeting. President Truesdale made this statement this afternoon:

"There is absolutely no truth whatever in the report that President Baer of the Reading company has resigned. There is no truth whatever in the reports that the strike has been settled or contemplated."

Following the receipt of the president's invitation, the coal presidents in the city held a brief conference, but no word as to what passed between them was obtainable.

John Markle, one of the leading independent operators, was also invited by President Roosevelt to attend the Washington conference. Mr. Markle said he would certainly go. He declined to prophesy results.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—President Baer of the Reading company will attend the conference at Washington on Friday. In reply to a query, he said: "I consider the president's request a command."

Mitchell in High Glee.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 1.—If the broad smile which President Mitchell wore when he opened President Roosevelt's telegram inviting him to the White House conference was any indication, he was highly delighted with the president's message.

"Of course I shall accept President Roosevelt's invitation," he said. "I have just sent a reply to the president's telegram. I shall leave here tomorrow afternoon and be in Washington early Friday morning. I have no means of knowing just what matters will be brought up at the conference and would not discuss them now, even if I had."

The receipt of the message from President Roosevelt was a great relief at President Mitchell's headquarters, as the suspense for the last 48 hours has been intense. Some communication was expected from some one high in power and its failing to arrive last night or early this morning was a disappointment. At one time it looked as though all hopes of a peaceful settlement of the strike had fallen through.

May Yohe's Divorce Final.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—The divorce decree obtained March 21 by Lord Francis Hope against May Yohe was made absolute this morning.

POLICEMEN GUARD WHITE HOUSE COAL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The first carload of anthracite coal received in Washington since the beginning of the coal strike arrived here today. It is held for the use of the White House, and on its arrival several policemen were detailed to guard it.

Later two carloads arrived under consignment to the District of Columbia government and were distributed to school houses. A conservative estimate of the amount of anthracite coal in the city, exclusive of that received today, is 950 tons, all of which is in the hands of four dealers.

MARKLE SUGGESTS USE OF REGULAR SOLDIERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—John Markle, the only independent coal operator whom President Roosevelt asked to visit him, when seen tonight, had this to say:

"The president of the United States has been appealed to, and I understand the attorney general has advised the president there were no grounds for interference, as the constitution of the United States would not permit it.

"Allow me to suggest what action the reputable citizens of the country should take now, namely, urge enforcement of the laws in Pennsylvania, and if Gov. Stone has not at his command sufficient forces to control the situation, call upon the president of the United States, and I have no hesitancy in saying that the president of the United States will at once send sufficient troops into that region to immediately procure protection.

"I emphatically say that with that condition existing, anthracite coal will rapidly be placed in the market and the coal famine settled."

ELKIN AT HEADQUARTERS.

He Agrees to Fill a Number of Engagements—A Cold Forbids Penrose Taking the Stump.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Attorney General Elkin, Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds Eyre, and ex-State Chairman Reeder called at Republican state headquarters today. Gen. Reeder has just returned from Europe. Senator Penrose received the visitors in the absence of Chairman Quay. He had a long talk with the attorney general concerning the campaign, and later Mr. Elkin arranged with Chairman Garvin of the speakers' bureau to fill a number of engagements in counties where his services had been requested.

The Pennypacker itinerary for next week, as decided upon, is: Monday, Chambersburg; Tuesday, Lancaster; Wednesday, Altoona; Thursday, Clearfield; Friday, West Chester; and Saturday, Philadelphia, at the Academy of Music.

Owing to a severe cold Senator Penrose was unable to join the gubernatorial party today and it is probable that he will not speak this week, his physician having directed otherwise.

Chairman Quay is expected home in the morning. Many important matters await his attention.

His Mother and Brother Will Offer It to New Jersey Judge Today.

FREEHOLD, N. J., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—An effort to effect bail for Dr. Hendricks was made late this afternoon by Mrs. Sarah Hendricks and Joseph Hendricks, his mother and brother. They presented deeds of property in Jersey City, owned by Mrs. Hendricks, showing a valuation of $9,000 over and above encumbrances.

The county clerk declined to accept bail and directed them to apply to Judge Heisley, who will sit here tomorrow morning. Mrs. Hendricks will remain night and take the clerk's advice.

Laura Biggar still remains in hiding.

TWENTY MOROS ARE KILLED AND MANY WOUNDED

Rebels Fire on United States Cavalry, but Are Forced to Retreat.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manila, Oct. 1.—The Maciu Moros in Mindanao have offered but slight resistance to the column under Capt. Pershing of the Fifteenth cavalry. After a series of skirmishes on Monday and Tuesday of this week the Moros retreated into six forts on the shores of the lake, after 20 were killed and many wounded. When a courier left Maciu yesterday for Camp Vicars Capt. Pershing was preparing to assault the last Moro stronghold. There had been no American casualties.

The American column reached the former camp at Maciu Sunday night. On Monday night the Moros opened fire on them with a brass cannon and rifles from a series of new forts which had been erected since Capt. Pershing's first visit to the place. The battery under Capt. William S. McNair scaled a ridge commanding the position of the Moros and shelled them out. The engineers under Capt. Jay J. Morrow had constructed a trail over the swamp, flanking the Moro position. The men of Capt. Pershing's column crossed the swamp by the trail and captured and destroyed three of the Moro forts. The Moros stood but a short while, and ran as soon as the artillery opened on them.

Capt. Pershing has been ordered to destroy the forts unless the Moros make peace. The letter of Gen. Sumner, in command on Mindanao, to the Maciu sultans has been delivered.

WORKERS FOR PEACE.

Acceptances for Detroit Conference. Miners' Committee to Meet Manufacturers in Buffalo Tuesday.

DETROIT, Oct. 2.—Telegrams from mayors continue to arrive in the mayor's office in response to the invitation to send delegations to the proposed national conference on the coal situation. Mayor Harrison of Chicago wired that he would take the matter up with the city council next Monday night. Mayor Maybury this afternoon sent invitations to all commercial bodies asking them to send delegates.

President Parry of the National Association of Manufacturers today received a dispatch from John Mitchell that a committee of five mine workers would meet a committee of the national association in Buffalo next Tuesday.

Tonight President Parry announced that the manufacturers' committee would consist of himself, George H. Barbour of the Michigan stove works, Detroit; Richard Young, leather belting manufacturer, of New York; F. L. Converse of the Philadelphia locomotive works, and D. C. Ripley of the United States Glass Company, Pittsburgh.

1,500 MORE MINERS OUT.

Alabama Men Strike Because Some Refuse to Be Taxed to Aid Anthracite Men.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Oct. 1.—The refusal of several miners to allow $1 to be taken from their wages for the benefit of the striking anthracite miners in Pennsylvania and the compliance of the paymaster of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company with their wishes has caused a suspension of work by 1,500 miners.

The strike was ordered today at a meeting of the executive committee of the United Mine Workers for the district of Alabama.

SHIP COMBINE MAKES A BOW TO THE WORLD

International Mercantile Marine Company Is Incorporated.

TOTAL CAPITAL IS NEARLY $200,000,000

Clement A. Griscom President and Americans in Full Control.

FIVE OCEAN LINES, AND MORE TO COME

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 1.—The ship combine was incorporated here this afternoon by the filing of papers amending the certificate of incorporation of the International Navigation Company, which was filed in June, 1893, with an authorized capital of $15,000,000. The amended certificate filed today changes the name to that of the International Mercantile Marine Company, with an authorized capital of $120,000,000, one-half preferred, with 6 per cent cumulative dividend. The company is also authorized to issue $75,000,000 of 4½ per cent bonds.

The papers are signed by Clement A. Griscom of Philadelphia, as president, and Emerson Parvin, secretary. The company originally included as incorporators Clement A. Griscom, William Henry Barnes, A. J. Cassatt, Henry H. Houston, Joseph D. Potts, all of Philadelphia; Benjamin Brewster of New York and William J. Sewall, now deceased, of Camden. The stockholders of the original company who have given their consent to the increase in capital stock and the change of name are Clement A. Griscom, Joseph S. Swarts, Joseph S. Fahnstock, Joseph J. Hope, Howard Pusey, John D. Archbold, Albert H. Gillow, James A. Wright, Benjamin S. Kobbe, Horace S. Phillips, Alfred P. Palmer, John I. Waterbury, P. A. B. Widener and Clement A. Griscom, Jr.

ANOTHER WOMAN STRANGELY DEAD

Found in Room With Half Conscious Uncle—Wounds on Her Body Contradict His Story.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The body of Jennie Larsen, a Danish woman, 20 years old, was found in the apartment of Louis Appleord, on the third floor of a tenement in Harlem today. She had been dead for days, according to a medical expert; the body was mutilated and much decomposed, and gas filled the room where it was found. Despite the gas and stench which first revealed the tragedy, Appleord, in a dazed mental condition, was in the room when it was entered by the police.

Dr. Donovan, who examined the body, found that the abdomen had been gashed in several places. He said he believed the woman had been dead five or six days, and it was his belief that she had been the victim of a criminal operation.

Appleord was arrested as a suspicious person and taken to the station. It was learned from his incoherent talk that the young woman was his neice. He had caused her to come from Denmark 10 days ago, he said, to be his housekeeper.

A search of the rooms brought to light a bundle of letters written in Danish. They were addressed to Appleord, signed with the young woman's name, and all of them were dated New York, during the months of August and September. Appleord is 53 years old and a conductor on a line of horse cars.

Coroner Scholer's opinion is that the girl was strangled to death. He does not believe a criminal operation was performed. Appleord would say little except that he had turned on the gas in the room for the purpose of committing suicide. The police officials said tonight that Appleord's stories had convicted him of the murder of his niece.

The coroner's jury in the murder of Capt. James B. Craft returned a verdict today that Craft came to his death by violence at the hands of Thomas Tobin, Alexander McAnerney and Robert S. Kelly. The three accused men were committed to the Tombs without bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Thomas J. Sharkey, accused of the murder of Banker Nicholas Fish, today pleaded not guilty to the indictment. His bail was reduced from $15,000 to $10,000.

Boers Coming but Won't Lecture.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 1.—Gens. Kritzinger, Fouche and Joubert, Boer commanders, sailed from her today for England on their way to the United States, where it is said they intend to go on a lecturing tour. In an interview Gen. Kritzinger denied that he planned a lecture tour in the United States.

LOCAL CONCERN WILL DOUBLE ITS ISSUE OF STOCK

Fidelity Title & Trust Company Takes Action Next Week.

WORKING CAPITAL WILL BE $6,000,000

At the monthly meeting of the directors of the Fidelity Title & Trust Company next Thursday, approval will probably be given to a proposition for increasing the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000, and this will be soon followed by ratification by the stockholders.

By doubling the capital stock 10,000 new shares of stock of $100 each will be issued. These will be sold at $400 per share, which will amount to $4,000,000. Of this amount $3,000,000 will constitute a new surplus fund and the other $1,000,000 will be put into the capital.

The new shares will be offered to the present stockholders at $400, and each stockholder will be allowed to subscribe for as many shares of the new issue as he holds shares of the old. If there is any left, which is not likely, outsiders will be allowed to buy.

The present surplus fund of $1,000,000 will be used as an undivided profit fund. When the new stock has been issued and sold, the total working capital will be $6,000,000, making it one of the most powerful financial institutions in this part of the country.

Great Working Capital.

Th object in increasing the present capitalization is to give facilities for handling larger estates and trust funds.

At the last monthly meeting of the directorate, September 11, the proposition was acted on officially and the counsel of the institution was instructed to draw up the necessary papers for the increase. When the first intimation of the proposed increase of the capital stock of the institution was made to several of the large stockholders about a month ago it acted as a signal for the advance in the price of the stock.

Stock Has Already Risen.

September 1 the stock of the concern was quoted at $400 per share. Since then an advance of $200 per share has been made.

On 'change yesterday 110 shares of the stock sold at prices ranging from $570 to $601 per share. The latter price was paid for a small block of 30 shares, while $601 was bid for the stock at the closing of the market. This is a record price. The par value is $100.

The Fidelity Title and Trust Company is one of the older trust companies of Pittsburgh. It was organized November 27, 1886, with a capital stock of $1,000,000.

The late William O'Hara Scully was the company's first president. About 10 years ago John B. Jackson succeeded to the presidency, which position he still occupies. For some years the institution has been paying dividends at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. The total amount of dividends paid until January 1 of this year amounted to $540,000.

The board of directors is composed as follows: John B. Jackson, Albert H. Childs, James J. Donnell, E. M. Ferguson, Reuben Miller, Robert Pitcairn, Charles E. Speer, H. S. A. Stewart, John Walker, John R. McGinley, Frank Semple, Edward T. Dravo, James H. Reed, C. S. Gray and Bayard Henry.

NEW WINDOW GLASS COMPANY ORGANIZED

It Is an Independent Concern and Has Capital of $1,000,000. Pittsburghers in It.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—The Independent Window Glass Company, with a capitalization of $1,000,000, was organized this evening at a meeting held in the Chittenden hotel. The officers elected are: C. P. Cole, Lancaster, O., president; L. S. Cunningham, Pittsburgh, vice president; J. C. Sayer, Marion, Ind., secretary and treasurer.

Board of directors—George Camp, Bradford, Pa.; C. P. Cole, Lancaster, O.; L. S. Cunningham, Pittsburgh; G. W. Morenus, Kane, Pa.; T. T. Welch, Falls Creek, Pa.

Columbus is to be the headquarters of the new corporation. President Cole said this evening:

"We are not a trust, nor a selling agency. We are a company organized to do a business of manufacturing and selling window glass. The company has no intention of building a new factory in Lancaster, O., as has been reported, or anywhere else at present. Our factories are now built and in operation. We may build a factory at a later date in Columbus."

BIRDSALL FAVORS TARIFF REVISION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLARION, IA., Oct. 1.—Judge B. P. Birdsall, in accepting the Republican nomination for congress in the Third district, to succeed Speaker Henderson, in his letter of acceptance, made public today, says of the tariff and monopolies:

"That monopolies in the form of combinations of capital to control production and prices exist in this country, is an admitted fact. Trusts exist in countries where trade is absolutely free, as well as in this country.

"The Republican party of Iowa will not permit the policy of protection to become a shelter beneath which designing corporations shall be able to oppress the people of this country. Whenever such men or corporations have gained such control of the production of and market for dutiable products, so that the price of the same is regulated by it and not by home competition, Iowa Republicans propose to destroy such monopoly by applying the principles of reciprocity and by so readjusting the tariff as to force such combinations into competition with the world's markets."

ENTRY IS PROVIDED FOR ALL NEW LINES

Two ordinances, or sets of ordinances, of great import to Pittsburgh's industrial development, will be presented in select council at a special meeting to be held next Monday afternoon. One will come from the Pennsylvania people, providing for improvements contemplated and started several years ago, and which will practically result in a belt line about Pittsburgh. The other will prescribe the terms under which any steam railroad desiring to enter Pittsburgh can do so.

The last measure referred to has been generally known as a Wabash ordinance, and while the fact that the Wabash is knocking at Pittsburgh's door is largely responsible for this ordinance it is a further fact that President John S. Lamble of select council is the father of the movement, and he had its preparation in charge. It provides that to gain its franchises, a railroad shall present a special ordinance showing compliance with the provisions of this general one. If this measure passes the Wabash will shortly present its special ordinance.

Many Interesting Features.

There will be several interesting features in the Pennsylvania ordinance. The two main points are the removal of the freight track to the Duquesne station at the Point from Liberty avenue and building it as an elevated track on Duquesne way. Another point is the proposed building of the new connecting line from the main line at Fifth avenue in the East End across to the Allegheny Valley and West Penn divisions.

A third point is the abolition of the Panhandle's grade crossing at Second avenue. This is one of the few remaining grade crossings on the various Pennsylvania lines about Pittsburgh, and has a bloody record.

The East End connecting line of the Pennsylvania is one of the most important improvements the company has contemplated in the entire series.

The expansion of the industries along the Allegheny river throughout the Lawrenceville and adjoining districts and the addition of new ones has made more room for the through tracks and for yards impracticable. The value of the property has increased to a price prohibitive of use for railroad purposes.

That the Allegheny Valley division is overcrowded by business has been felt for over two years past, and during the recent troublous times of freight congestion, the Valley was always the greatest sufferer of all the Pennsylvania lines. This new line will rid the tracks through the city of much traffic, which will be run over the connecting line to the main line.

East Liberty's Importance Increased.

By this arrangement East Liberty will be made a point on the Allegheny Valley road and all the heavy passenger travel from the Oakland district or other parts of Pittsburgh farther east, and the transfer business to the Allegheny Valley, which comes in over the Pennsylvania, can be turned over to the Valley at East Liberty, and the Union station in that way be relieved of crowds.

A still more important point to Pittsburgh is that by this line the Pennsylvania system completes a belt line about the city which will enable freight to be transferred from any one division to any other without coming through Union station and thus blocking tracks needed for satisfactory handling of passenger traffic. Freight from the east, bound for points on the Ft. Wayne, Cleveland and Pittsburgh, Erie and Ashtabula, Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Ashtabula, or any other part of the northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines, will be transferred, not by coming down through Pittsburgh proper, but by passing over the connection, leaving the main line at Fifth avenue and thence over the proposed new bridge to the West Penn and down the West Penn to the Ft. Wayne. The same plan works in reverse for freight from the northwest consigned to point east of Pittsburgh. The southwest or Panhandle part of the belt is now in use.

The belt line of Pittsburgh will be composed of this new line, of the West Penn, the Ft. Wayne, the Ohio Connecting, the Panhandle, the Pittsburgh, Virginia and Charleston, the line from Thomson to Brinton and the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad back again to the new connection.

Elevated Tracks to Warehouse.

The elevated tracks on Duquesne way will have as one of their purposes the reaching of the proposed warehouses on the Point. The plan of F. F. Nicola and Charles P. Donnelley to build these warehouses was postponed for some reason and the property was bought by H. C. Frick from the Schenley estate. One check of $1,750,000 was passed in this transaction. Mr. Frick was not a partner in the plan as first proposed. It is said, but later took hold of it. The Pennsylvania has now leased the property from Mr. Frick. The series of warehouses will be most complete in every way. The tracks will enter each of the houses from Duquesne way and the houses will be accessible for wagons from Penn avenue.

The general ordinance prepared by President Lamble of select council contains about 12 or 15 conditions for the entry of railroads. It affects only steam railroads and elevated, underground or grade lines indifferently, are allowed. It provides that plans showing the detail of the proposed construction shall be submitted to the department of public works by the railroad desiring to enter the city and that a special ordinance in accordance with these requirements shall be presented to councils. Public property used is to be paid for the same as private.

Patterson Approves the Plan.

"It is a good plan to have an ordinance of this kind and the Wabash will readily agree to any fair proposition such as it.

contains. It will affect all new railroads and I, for one, am not of those who believe that the Wabash will be the last railroad to ask entry into Pittsburgh," said Chief Engineer and General Manager J. W. Patterson of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western, the Wabash extension, last night. Continuing he said: "The hearing on the city's appeal on Judge S. W. McClung's decision in regard to the Wabash's rights is to be given at the session of the supreme court opening Monday. Whether the Wabash will present its special ordinance before the decision of the supreme court is handed down is not yet settled.

"The Wabash is not in any way connected with the warehouse plans at the Point nor has it any plan so far as I know for a bridge to Allegheny to be built jointly with the Pennsylvania.

"When our special ordinance is presented it will provide for the line from the southern part of the city, across the river, along Ferry street on the private right of way, and then across Liberty avenue and along another private right of way to the Allegheny river near Fourth street. It is not yet settled when Allegheny will be asked for rights in that city."

The Wabash has never disclosed its plans in Allegheny, farther than the statement that the purpose is to reach the industrial plants there. If there is any purpose of connecting with the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh through the Pittsburgh & Western, as has been frequently reported, there is no official authority for the belief.

More East End Land Wanted.

Since last Monday morning agents of the Pennsylvania have made a canvass of the property owners along the east side of North Linden avenue, between Frankstown avenue and Silver lake, and have secured options on eight properties valued at about $65,000. The properties are located about midway in North Linden, and consist of eight and nine-room brick veneered houses on lots 30x120 feet each. The options, most of which were for three days only, have been secured at prices ranging from $7,000 to $9,000 each. The dealing has been done in much the same way that the Pennsylvania bought up the property on the west side of Linden avenue last summer, when the three-day options all resulted in sales. Two East End brokers and a Fourth avenue real estate man have made the deals. Two more residences situated on the same side of the avenue have not yet been secured. These are the Bethel and the Elk properties. Among those which have been optioned are the Schuhlhof, the Behen and the Fawcett residences.

At the corner of Frankstown and Linden avenue is a [illegible] vacant lot which the Pennsylvania bought several months ago. In the other end of Linden avenue, next to Silver lake, the railroad secured a long strip of vacant frontage about the same time. When it was bought it was reported that the houses which the railroad has bought on the west side of the avenue were to be moved across the street and sold. The Finley property at the corner of Frankstown avenue and Fifth avenue extension has not yet been bought, and it is rumored that the railroad is having trouble in getting around the patent which the Finleys have on the lake property.

Simen Street Canvassed.

Several times during the last month agents of the railroad have canvassed Simen street, but as far as known no purchases have yet been made. Simen street extends along the side of the railroad from Fifth avenue extension to Dallas avenue, and is improved with 20 large brick and frame houses worth from $6,000 to $10,000 each. This property, it is said, is wanted to strengthen the curve where the railroad enters the stock yards. A rumor has been current for several days that the Pennsylvania had secured options on about $50,000 worth of property in Torrens street. This is denied by residents of that street, who say that no offers have been made for their houses.

FUNERAL ATTENDED BY 4,000 STRIKERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, Oct. 1.—The funeral of Joseph Gillis, the striker who was killed at Nanticoke, took place this morning. All the executive officers of the United Mine Workers attended. Four thousand miners followed the remains to the grave. The coroner's jury returned a verdict this evening that Gillis came to his death from a bullet wound inflicted by James Sweeney.

A number of tramps bombarded the Ninth regiment camp this morning. The soldiers fired at the tramps, but they managed to escape.

The Sterling washery at Plymouth was compelled to suspend operations today, a crowd of men and boys having cut the belting and plugged the machinery. The employes were driven away by a mob. Two battalions of the Ninth regiment were sent to Plymouth, but when they arrived they found everything quiet and the crowd gone.

LEBANON, Oct. 1.—The five companies of the Twelfth regiment, sent here to preserve order, were ordered back to Shenandoah. They left this afternoon.

HAZLETON, Oct. 1.—Coxe Bros. & Co. started their Drifton colliery today with a small non-union force. The colliery is guarded by about 200 special officers.

SCRANTON, Oct. 1.—Lackawanna county was today wholly free from lawlessness. The most the soldiers had to contend with was another heavy rain.

POTTSVILLE, Oct. 1.—One hundred and twenty-seven warrants were served this afternoon on strikers and their sympathizers at Centralia and the prisoners were taken to Bloomsburg.

MALLEY GETS PLUM.

Appointed Detective, Filling Vacancy Caused by Bernard McStay's Resignation.

Director A. M. Leslie of the department of public safety yesterday appointed Thomas E. Malley to succeed Detective Bernard McStay, who recently resigned from the bureau of detectives. Detective Malley will be sworn into office this morning and assume his duties this evening with Detective William McElroy. Malley has been employed in the Safety palace as a pawn shop clerk.

He is 36 years old and has been employed by the city for 14 years. He was appointed on the police force by J. O. Brown in 1888 and served in that capacity for a number of years. Malley is a thorough clerk, and he was brought into the safety department to work in that position. After that he was made pawn shop clerk. It was his duty to record the numbers of watches and jewelry pawned at the various money loan shops in the city during each day of the year.

While acting in this capacity he was often detailed as a special officer to work up a case for the bureau. Malley has done some good work, and several months ago was mentioned for a front office position. Director Leslie thinks that Malley will make a good detective. He will be placed on night duty.

ARMY OF BROWNS CRIPPLED TRAIN

SUFFERED HEAVY LOSS

Cavalry Succeeded in Heading Off Supplies Sent Through Their Lines to the Infantry in Fort Riley Sham Battle.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Fort Riley, Kas., Oct. 1.—As a spectacle the military maneuvers of today would be difficult to equal; as an object lesson to the officers of the National guard, for which purpose they were carried out, they were full of instruction and suggestion upon points of actual war service which they could have obtained in no other way. The weather conditions were perfect, the men and horses refreshed by their day of rest after the heavy storm of Monday, and the marching and the attack and defense were full of snap and dash.

Shorn of all military parlance, the maneuver was comprised in the effort to march an urgently needed wagon train through the enemy's country. The defense of the wagon train was in charge of the blue under command of Col. James M. G. Sanno of the Thirteenth infantry, and the attacking force, which endeavored to cut off and cripple the train, was under direction of Capt. T. R. Rivers of the Fourth cavalry. At the end of the maneuvers it was estimated that Capt. Rivers had crippled about 35 to 40 per cent of the wagons, but he had suffered a heavy loss in accomplishing that much of his task. He had in his command eight companies of cavalry, and beside the usual losses incident to long range rifle and artillery fire, three of his eight companies were wiped off the map of the maneuvers by attempting to charge a strong line of infantry in position.

A squadron of the brown cavalry appeared upon a crest 1,500 yards from the leading wagons of the First division. It made a most tempting shot for the artillery. Word was sent back and the Seventh battery came dashing forward to get them. The officer in command of the browns, however, knew his business. Without checking his advance for an instant, he dashed his men behind a slight eminence which would, however, afford but slight protection, once the artillery was at work.

Then holding back the main body, he sent his men, one at a time, their horses on the dead run, across 500 feet of open ground to the secure shelter of a high rise in the ground. About one minute before the artillery was ready for action the last brown cavalryman had dashed into safety and the disappointed artillerymen were forced to resume their march.

MAY CRIPPLE EARLY START OF DENNY MEN

Two Window Glass Houses Offer Denny Workers Higher Burns Wage at Once.

Two of the independent window glass concerns, employing workmen of the Denny organization, have notified their men that they will resume work October 4, and will pay the same wages as the American and Federation Window Glass companies, operating under the scale of the Burns organization after October 15. These concerns are the Pittsburgh Window Glass Company, with works at Washington, Pa., and a member of the Federation Window Glass Company, and the W. B. Jones Company of Morgantown, W. Va. The factories of these companies are among the largest employing Denny workmen.

This move is expected to start a flood of dissatisfaction among the Denny workers, over a clause of the scale entered with the Independent Glass Company at Philadelphia. This clause makes the Philadelphia scale, which is 12 per cent lower than the Burns scale, rule till the start of the factories under the Burns scale. The Pittsburgh and Jones companies have signed the Denny scale, as entered at Philadelphia, but have taken it upon themselves to pay the Burns scale prices from the start of their factories.

The move of these two concerns is important, as it is likely to prevent a general start of the Denny factories before those operating under the Burns scale, unless the higher wages rule from the start. It will prevent in some measure, at least, possible cheaper glass from disturbing the market, which now promises additional strength in a short time.

The Independent Glass Company will have to deliver 75,000 boxes of its first production at the low prices of its oversales at the end of the last blast. The company is without stock, while the American and Federation companies together will have about 350,000 boxes in stock after fulfilling the recent order of the jobbers for 400,000 boxes.

ACCUSED OF THEFT DAUGHTER RAN AWAY

Jeanette McCready, of Carnegie, Left Her Home on September 23 and Is Still Missing.

Distressed and broken-hearted because her mother accused her of having stolen some oranges from the boarders' rooms, Jeanette McCready of No. 60 Washington street, Carnegie, ran away from home on September 23, and the family has not heard from her since. She is 18 years old, and yesterday afternoon her mother went to Superintendent of Police John McAleese and asked him to aid her in locating the young girl.

"Mother, you will regret having accused me of being a thief," she said, when her mother charged her with entering the boarders' rooms and taking some fruit. "You will never have another chance to do so."

These were her last words to her parent. The next morning her mother went to her room to apologize and inform her that she had been mistaken, and to her surprise found that her daughter was missing. She had left during the night. The bedclothes had not been disturbed.

Mrs. McCready thought that she would return during the day and said nothing about the matter. When her daughter failed to appear she notified the police in Carnegie. Yesterday she was informed that her daughter had been working at the exposition, and she asked Supt. John McAleese to aid her in her searches.

It was learned later in the day that the girl had left her position at the exposition and was working in some department store. She is a pretty girl, with dark brown hair, and was graduated from the high school in Carnegie last year.

Double Track Authorized.

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has authorized the double-tracking of the Erie & Pittsburgh railroad, between Erie and Pittsburgh. Part of the division is already double-tracked, but the portion that is not, will cost the company approximately $2,000,000. The work will be pushed as rapidly as possible, so that it will be ready for hauling ore from the Erie docks when navigation is resumed next spring.

NEW $550,000 BANK IS BEING FORMED

WILL BE CALLED FIFTH AVENUE NATIONAL.

May Absorb an Old Institution. Has Opinion for Home of Its Own.

Merchants of Fifth and Wylie avenues and along communicating streets mainly between Dinwiddie street and the downtown business sections are organizing the Fifth Avenue National bank, to start business with a capital of $500,000 and a surplus of $500,000. The syndicate may purchase a control in the Fifth avenue bank, at Fifth avenue and Stevenson street, consolidate the two, and operate there. Otherwise an option has been secured on a property within two blocks of this bank on which a new banking house will be located.

The plan of those in interest is to make the new institution strictly one of their own and depositors of the neighborhood. The promoters have already taken subscriptions to over $300,000 of the stock and could place the rest within two days if they wanted to admit downtown business men. At this there is hesitancy, as it threatens the control in the new institution now held by those who are creating it.

Option Is Secured.

H. K. E. Arnold, former head of Henry Arnold & Co., the insurance and real estate brokers in Fifth avenue, is understood to have optioned a controlling interest in the Fifth Avenue bank and arrangements may be concluded at a meeting next week of the syndicate organizing the new Fifth Avenue National bank to take up this option. The Arnold options are said to hold a majority of the shares of the Fifth Avenue bank at from $62 to $70 a share, the par value being $50. President H. H. Nieman and the directors of the bank have been opposed to the sale of the control in the bank. They have been considering a plan to increase its capital, which is now $100,000 and the surplus $20,000. At the same time the optioned control is said to be in the hands of Mr. Arnold, and if the new national bank syndicate can secure it at reasonable terms the two institutions will be consolidated and operated as a national bank.

Directorate Not in Control.

It is said that the directorate of the Fifth Avenue bank does not hold over 500 of the 2,000 shares of the institution, the rest being scattered among many holders. The Fifth Avenue bank has always been regarded as a conservative institution. If it is allowed to remain independent, the merchants of this section will have three banking institutions, including the recently organized Merchants' Savings and Trust Company, which, with $350,000 capital and $70,000 surplus, is to establish a new banking house nearly opposite the Fifth Avenue bank. The firm of Henry Arnold & Co. acted as agents in the formation of the trust company and Philip Lippert, who now controls the Arnold business, is a director in the trust company.

THE DAY'S HAPPENINGS.

—Alderman Sherran yesterday sent Charles Brunzinski to jail on a charge of selling liquor without a license.

—Ten cases of typhoid fever, one of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria were reported yesterday to the bureau of health.

—The ceiling in the cellar of Christy's drug store, at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street, was slightly damaged by fire yesterday morning.

—Harry Isenkin of No. 12 Matilda street, Allegheny, was arrested last night on a charge of desertion and non-support, preferred by his wife before Magistrate Hunnesbagen.

—A new wage agreement of journeymen and master plumbers went into effect yesterday. It provides for a minimum wage rate of $3.75 a day and supersedes the agreement made May 1.

—A special meeting of the McKees Rocks council passed an ordinance last night authorizing an election on November 4 to decide on the issuance of bonds for the expenditure for projected municipal improvements and outstanding bills.

—About two weeks ago William Howell was discharged from the East Pittsburgh police force for sleeping on duty. He now proposes to appear before the council at its meeting Monday night and make some sensational charges against the borough administration.

—While working in a culvert now in course of construction under the new plant of the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Company at Turtle Creek, James Alexander of No. 4 Brown avenue, a foreman of masons, was critically injured by a heavy stone, which fell upon his back.

—Floyd Weaver, a motorman of the Pittsburgh Railway Company, was committed to the Allegheny county jail yesterday afternoon by Coroner McGeary from a charge of murder in connection with the death of Lawrence Nolan, who was run over and killed by a Hamilton avenue car on September 19, in Fifth avenue.

—William Rose and his housekeeper, Mrs. Hawkins, of No. 511 Taylor avenue, Allegheny, charged before Alderman John A. Martin with cruelty to the 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Hawkins, preferred by Probation Samuel F. O'Brien of the Western Pennsylvania Humane society, were given a hearing yesterday afternoon. The alderman reserved his decision until tomorrow.

—Eight hundred young people last night danced to the sprightly music of "The Pittsburgh Gazette March," in Prof. A. Y. McElwain's class at Kenwood Lawn. The announcement that Carl Bruno's masterpiece would be played by the orchestra brought out a great number of spectators, beside the members of the dancing class, and the pavilion was crowded.

—The Composition and Gravel Roofers of Pittsburgh are a new organization, which starts with a membership of 90. At a meeting in headquarters of the Building Trades Council last night the following officers were named: M. P. Murray, president; Robert Conley, financial secretary; Frank Craighead, recording secretary; and John Brown treasurer. For the present the organization will be independent of any national or international union. It will be affiliated with the Building Trades council.

—The residents of Bessemer Terrace, East Pittsburgh, yesterday discovered several hundred pounds of dynamite stored in a gunpowder house belonging to the Pennsylvania Water Company, in the midst of the residence district. The remembrance of an explosion, which wrecked in or 20 houses in the same vicinity about a year ago, prompted those living in close proximity to the dangerous stuff to notify the police authorities, who compelled the company to remove the explosive.

COWARDICE DROVE HIM TO SUICIDE

UNKNOWN MAN PLUNGED INTO RIVER.

Strange Identification of Bernard Troast—Seven Held for Murder—Other Morgue Cases.

An unknown man was driven to suicide yesterday afternoon and drowned himself in the Ohio river near Esplen. Two men were seen to jump off a freight train on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie at Toll Gate. One struck the other. The man who received the blow ran to the river bank and jumped in the river.

The tragedy was witnessed by Frank Welsh of No. 1138 River avenue, Esplen, and Fred Rider, flagman of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad. They were standing near Toll Gate when the train pulled up, and they saw the men jump off. They squared off at each other and the larger man of the two hit the other in the face.

This seemed to frighten him and he started for the river. Without any hesitation he plunged in. His adversary chased the man to the river bank and watched him struggle in the water. Then he returned to the freight train, which was about to start, and boarded it. Welsh and Rider went to the river bank, but there was no sign of the man in the water. They went about their work and paid no more attention to the matter.

Later the body was found by John Stingle and Joseph Miller, employes of the steamer Short Cut. He was a man about 150 pounds and 5 feet 10 inches in height. Nothing was found on his clothing to identify him. He was about 30 years old.

Body Was Exhumed.

The body of Mrs. Arma Apser, buried on last Wednesday in St. Michael's cemetery, was exhumed yesterday afternoon and a post mortem examination was made. The only external injuries found were several bruises on the limbs below the knees. The woman resided at No. 10 Birmingham avenue, South Side, and died on September 22. It was charged that her husband attacked and beat her while she was ill, and that she died of the injuries inflicted by him. He was arrested and committed to jail by Coroner McGeary, pending investigation.

The body of Bernard L. Troast, who was killed in the yards of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on Sunday night at Glenwood, was identified yesterday afternoon by his brother, John A. Troast, of Sutherville, Westmoreland county.

Owing to an attempt by Deputy Coroner W. J. Campbell to keep from the public the news of a suicide, it was not learned until yesterday morning that Mrs. Mary J. Getty was found hanging to a hook in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Maggie Park, at No. 1207 Monterey street, Allegheny, about 1 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Her body was still warm when cut down by two men who were called in by Mrs. Park for the purpose.

She was 62 years old and the widow of James Getty, a former well-known wholesale liquor dealer, who was shot to death in his place of business, in First avenue near Grant street, about seven years ago, by Alexander Hutchinson, at the time proprietor of the Merchants hotel.

Seven Held for Murder.

At the close of the inquest into the death of Peter Mihallo of No. 1100 Sarah street, South Side, who was stabbed to death Sunday night at a christening in Windom street, Joseph and Stephen Botek, John Bardsa, Samuel Vorgan, John Burdi, John Vancicik and Andrew Hutic on the recommendation of the coroner's jury, were held for the murder of Mihallo. The verdict of the jury was that Mihallo's death was caused from knife wounds received during a fight.

Lorenzo Dalmatin, an Italian miner, 23 years old, was killed in a mine explosion yesterday afternoon at Heidelberg. With five other miners they put off a blast, which opened a pocket of gas. He went back with a naked light to clear away the coal. The flame ignited the gas and the explosion resulted. He was instantly killed. The other miners escaped uninjured.

John Jackson, 42 years old, of No. 107 Soho street, died at his home yesterday afternoon of lockjaw. About four weeks ago he stepped on a nail which penetrated his foot. He neglected to attend to it at the time and inflammation set in, which resulted in lockjaw. He was a laborer and married.

CHORUS APPEARS WITH DAMROSCH

NEW MUSICAL FEATURES AT THE EXPOSITION.

Local Singers in Rossini's "Inflammatus" Monday Night. Damrosch in Piano Duos.

In connection with the engagement of Walter Damrosch and his orchestra at the Pittsburgh exposition, which commences next Monday night and continues until the close of the season, there will be some novel musical features introduced to supplement the work of the symphony orchestra.

Next Monday night, the opening night of the Damrosch engagement, there will appear with the orchestra a chorus of 600 voices, all local singers, who for some time past have been in training under Benjamin Franklin Butts, who had charge of the music at Pastor S. Edward Young's church, the Second Presbyterian.

Messrs. Damrosch and Butts, acting with the full approval of the managers of the exposition society, have been in close touch for several weeks preparing for this event. They have undertaken a heavy work for Monday night, for they have programed Rosini's "Inflammatus," which has never before been undertaken in Pittsburgh by such a large choir. In addition to the Rossini number the chorus will sing "Unfold, Ye Portals," next Monday night.

The soloist during the week will be Miss Henrietta Kell, and Miss Anna Bussert of New York, who has never been heard here, although in the east she has gained a brilliant reputation. Mr. Damrosch during the week will appear in piano duos with August Zuckerman, a protege of Alexander Lambert, the New York pianist. This announcement is certain to interest the music lovers of Pittsburgh. The fact that Mr. Damrosch is to be heard as a pianist at the exposition constitutes a novel feature of no small proportions. One of the numbers will be Liszt's "Hungarian Fantasie," which is to be played with orchestral accompaniment.

Only three days remain in which to hear Creatore. The impression of last night's "overture" program was absolutely overwhelming, and long before the towering climax of the closing number, the great "Tannhauser" overture was reached, the audience was on its feet, shouting its hoarse and applauding.

As an encore the "Star-Spangled Banner" followed and enthusiasm broke all fetters. It was a great night.

On tonight's program the works of German composers will figure prominently in honor of the exposition's loyal German clientele. Notable and favorite selections will be Schubert's "March Militaire," Hsendel's undying "Largo," Chopin's noble "Funeral March," and Strauss' "Blue Danube" waltz.

The exhibits are again undergoing a complete change, and the exposition presents a new face to interested visitors. The attractions are enjoying unusual patronage because of their really high merit. Creatore's program for this afternoon follows:

2 P. M.

March, "El Capitan"	Sousa
Prelude, "Lohengrin"	Wagner
Bombardino Solo, Signor "Evening Star,"	Fiore
"Tannhaeuser"	Wagner
Sig. Jubo.
Funeral March	Chopin
Act I. "Aida"	Verdi

4 P. M.

March, "Columbus"	Creatore
Prelude to "Traviata"	Verdi
Selection from "Fioradora"	Stuart
Waltz, "Thes Jolie"	Waldteufel
"American Fantasia"	Herbert

GATES FACTION LOSES.

United States Judge Caldwell at Denver Decides Colorado Fuel and Iron Suit.

DENVER, Oct. 1.—Judge Henry C. Caldwell, in the United States district court, this afternoon decided the case of George F. Bartlett against Gates, Blair and Mitchell and the officers of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Cimpany. This is the case in which Bartlett obtained an injunction preventing the stockholders' meeting of August 20 from being held.

The court now orders that the stockholders' meeting be held on December 1, and the effect of the order is that it be in charge of and conducted by Chairman Osgood. In accordance with the by-laws of the company and the statutes of Colorado, Judge Caldwell also decides against the contention of Gates that the stockholders' list furnished by the Knickerbocker Trust Company should be used to determine who had a right to vote. The court decided that the owners of stock or their proxies had a right to vote, even if they did not appear on the New York books when the same closed.

"I MIGHT HAVE BEEN CONVICTED OF IT"

BERT FEIGHTLEY SAYS GAZETTE SAVED HIM.

He Was an Interested Spectator at the King Murder Trial Yesterday.

Standing in the crowd of spectators at the trial of Joseph Allen for the murder of Achsah King yesterday was a man who seemed to pay a deal of attention to the case. When Allen was requested to put on the "slouch hat," that has figured so prominently in the case, he turned to one of his neighbors in the throng and said: "But for The Gazette I would be standing trial for the murder of Achsah King, instead of Joseph Allen. And through the stupidity of Superintendents McAleese and Demmel and Detective Swinehart's miserable attempt to sweat my life away, I might have been convicted of the crime."

It was Bert Feightley, employed by the Consumers Ice Company and unwarrantedly arrested by Detectives George H. Waggoner and Albert Swinehart for the murder. He was held in spite of the fact that evidence was shown that he was working a mile from the scene of the murder when it took place. Feightley was released by the court on a habeas corpus proceeding, and the police department was censured for its high-handed method of holding Feightley without making information against him.

His Awful Experience.

Feightley laughed as he said: "Because I knew Achsah King and I was employed by an ice company I was arrested for her murder. That was all the evidence the police had against me. I was sweated and cursed at by Detective Swinehart and Superintendent Demmel until I became so terrified that I was beginning to believe I had committed the murder."

"Now, the detectives say they have the right man on trial, and he has made a confession that he killed Achsah King. Now, if Allen had not told his brother that he killed the woman, and the detectives thereby put on his trail, I would be in his place today standing trial for the murder.

"And the reason for this is that Superintendent McAleese did not know enough to make the detectives go out and learn my whereabouts on July 23, as they should have done.

"Instead of that they sweated me; cursed me, and Detective Swinehart deliberately placed his hat on my head when I was arraigned before Mrs. Acheson for identification. After the hat was put on my head Mrs. Acheson said, 'that is the man, for he wore a black hat.'

Says Demmel Was Stubborn.

"In the court room yesterday she said Allen was the man. Swinehart knew I never owned that hat, for the woman with whom I boarded told him so. But I was a poor man and I knew the murdered woman, and I had to stand for the murder because Superintendent Demmel was stubborn and somebody had to be arrested.

"They would never have looked for anyone as long as they had me. Then they were shown by The Gazette that I was innocent and the court released me and censured them. It was not just to deprive me of my liberty and heap such disgrace upon me, when I had not seen Achsah King in three months."

FICKLE SWEETHEART CAUSED SUICIDE

Because his sweetheart had forsaken him for another, Louis Rizzotto, 23 years old, of Bridgeville, yesterday fired five shots into her photograph and placing the revolver to his heart killed himself instantly. He was a coal miner and worked in the Essen mines of that place. The girl with whom he was infaturated had promised to wed another on Tuesday evening and he became despondent.

Rizzotto was an Italian and had been employed at the Essen mine for several years. About a year ago he fell in love with Tresa Benoti, a pretty girl of his own race and they were to be married next month. Recently she became interested in another, and on Tuesday night Rizzotto went to her house and found her in the arms of another. Yesterday he went to work and when he came out of the shaft he bought a revolver. He went home and fired five shots into the picture of his fickle sweetheart, which was hanging on the wall. Then he killed himself. The inquest in the case will be held today.

MONEY IN PITTSBURGH

Banks of This City Contain Large Amount of the Funds of the Commonwealth—Schools Receive Appropriations.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 1.—State Treasurer Harris' statement for September shows a balance of $10,789,956 54 in the general fund of the treasury at the close of yesterday's business. During the month over $5,000,000 in state deposits was withdrawn from the state banks and trust companies for the purpose of paying the school appropriation which became due the first Monday of last June. All the districts in the state that have filed their annual reports in the department of public instruction, with the exception of Philadelphia, have received their share of the general and special fund for the current school year.

The Bank of Waynesboro and the Citizens bank of Gettysburg, each of which have been favored with a state deposit of $10,000, were added to the list of state depositories during September. The Mercantile Trust Company of Pittsburgh still retains $90,000, and the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh has had its deposit cut from $650,000 to $600,000.

The list of institutions in Pittsburgh and vicinity and the amount held by each follows:

Allegheny National bank, Pittsburgh, $758,-569 32; Freehold bank, Pittsburgh, $359,622 12; American Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $120,000; Anchor Savings bank, Pittsburgh, $95,000; Allegheny Trust Company, Allegheny, $75,000; Braddock Trust Company, Braddock, $20,000; Columbia National bank, Pittsburgh, $220,000; Colonial Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $800,000; Citizens National, Washington, $25,000; Citizens, National, Latrobe, $25,000; Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $50,000; City Deposit bank, Pittsburgh, $100,000; Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company, Allegheny, $50,000; Enterprise National, Allegheny, $382,000; Exchange National, Pittsburgh, $50,000; Fayette National, Somerset, $12,000; Farmers Deposit National, Pittsburgh, $184,000; Franklin Trust Company, Franklin, $30,000; First National, Somerset, $20,000; First National, Uniontown, $60,000; First National, Oakdale, $10,000; First National, Donora, $25,000; First National, Rankin, $45,000; First National, Monongahela, $25,000; Federal National, Pittsburgh, $80,000; German National, Allegheny, $50,000; German National, Pittsburgh, $50,000; Safe Deposit and Trust Company, Butler, $25,000; Keystone bank, Pittsburgh, $50,000; Lincoln National bank, Pittsburgh, $20,000; Monongahela Trust Company, Homestead, $20,000; Mercantile Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $90,000; Merchants and Manufacturers National bank, Pittsburgh, $200,000; North American Savings Company, Pittsburgh, $25,000; Oil City Trust Company, Oil City, $25,000; People's National, Grove City, Pa., $10,000; Prudential Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $50,000; Pittsburgh Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $250,000; Pennsylvania Trust Company, Pittsburgh, $50,000; Second National, Pittsburgh, $100,000; Second National, Allegheny, $200,000; Title Guarantee and Trust Company, Washington, $50,000; Union Deposit and Trust Company, Waynesburg, $40,60; Washington Trust Company, $25,-000; Westmoreland Savings and Trust Company, Greensburg, $30,000; Warren Trust Company, Warren, $25,000.

CORNETS

Mandolins, Guitars and All Such Goods Are Shown in Largest Variety at Hamilton's.

Hamilton's Music Store is a popular place with music lovers generally, and those interested in string and brass instruments in particular find much there that is of interest. It is a fact that Hamilton's stock of such small goods is both larger and more varied than that carried by any other house in this part of the country. Persons who have such goods to buy, whether for their own use or as gifts, should examine the new arrivals in this department. It is worthy of note that Hamilton's prices are always as remarkable for their lowness as the goods are for their high quality.

GROUND IS TO BE BROKEN THIS MORNING FOR THE NEW EAST END CHARITY HOSPITAL IN BEECHWOOD BOULEVARD.

The New East End Charity Hospital as It Will Look When Completed.

This morning ground will be broken for the erection of the right wing of the East End Charity hospital, at Frankstown avenue and the Beechwood boulevard. The right wing is to be completed by December 25, 1904, and the hospital staff hopes to occupy it soon after. The Duquesne Construction Company has the contract for the structure.

The main portion of the new hospital will be the last to be erected and it will be several years before the whole building is completed. The total cost of the right wing will be about $120,000, and the total cost of the whole building will be $500,000. The cornerstone of the building will be laid in a few months with impressive ceremonies.

While the first section of the hospital is building the old Finley property will be still used as the hospital. This building now contains 28 patients and the hospital is badly crowded for room. The new wing will accommodate about 100 patients. The East End Charity hospital at present is under the superintendency of Sister Mary Josephine, who has done very efficient and faithful service during her connection with the institution.

port line, as well as one or two other companies.

Charles Steele, who spoke for Morgan & Co. in the foregoing details, was asked about certain statements attributed to Gerald Balfour, president of the board of trade of Great Britain, that the new combination would be dominated by British interests. Mr. Steele said he thought that President Balfour intended to say that the subsidiary British lines would be so controlled, which, Mr. Steele said, would be the case.

The statement that there would be no public vending or sale of the stock of the new company (those directly interested having subscribed for the entire amount) was also made by Mr. Steele.

It was intimated by Mr. Steele that an understanding had been reached with the British government by which no discrimination in favor of the British ships will be shown in matters of mails, transportation, etc. The fact that the British government recently subsidized two vessels of the Cunard line was not regarded by Mr. Steele as an act of discrimination. He pointed out that the White Star ship, now a part of the combination, receives substantial subsidies from the home government. There will be no holding or securities company in connection with the new combination.

It is a known fact that a syndicate charged with the financial details of the combination was formed some months ago. Trustworthy reports also have it that a special underwriting syndicate has been organized to purchase the $50,000,000 of bonds and this syndicate, it is believed already paid two installments, each of 25 per cent, or $25,000,000 of the total authorized bond issue. The major portion of this amount was paid in by the American interests identified with the combination, so that control of the bonds will lodge here.

The directory is dominated by Americans, almost two to one, and Sir Clinton E. Dawkins, one of the English members of the main board, is a partner in the London banking house of J. S. Morgan & Co.

The German steamship lines do not figure in the combination, but it is unofficially declared that a "working" or "non-competitive" agreement has been reached with those companies.

NEWS OF BUSY TOWNS IN THREE STATES

WILL BE NO CONTEST OF HUFF'S NOMINATION

Democrats Decide Not to File Protest Against Republican Nominee for Congress.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 1.—The Democrats of Westmoreland and Butler counties have not contested the nomination of Col. George F. Huff, as the Republican candidate for congress from the Twenty-second district, and the name of the Greensburg colonel will head the ticket in the two counties.

Contrary to expectations, the Democrats of Westmoreland county determined at a late date not to file a protest to the papers of nomination. Several conferences had been held in Pittsburgh with the managers of Butler county's candidate, Editor Charles Heineman, and the local leaders decided that if a protest should be made it must come from Butler.

Why Heineman did not contest the nomination is not explained. With Col. Huff heading the ticket, Westmoreland Republicans are confident that the biggest majorities in years will be rolled up for all the candidates.

GIRL SHOT DEAD.

Coroner's Jury Finds That Victim Was Killed by Another Girl.

BELLEVERNON, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Annie Calvin, 12 years old, was shot and instantly killed at Dunlevy yesterday. The shooting took place at the home of Joseph Nocenti, an Italian. Jennie Juliana, the only person in the house at the time, says the Calvin girl shot herself. A jury empaneled by Coroner J. J. Fitzpatrick today decided that Annie Calvin came to her death at the hands of a gun shot wound fired by Jennie Juliana.

The Calvin girl went to Nocenti's home to deliver some soap. The Juliana girl's story is that she went up stairs to get money and that while gone the Calvin girl went into an adjoining room and picked up a shotgun and that when she returned the girl was dead, with the gun tightly clasped in her hands. It was found that the gun was in a different room from where the girl was shot and Dr. H. J. Repmen says the wound could not have been self-inflicted. The case will be presented to the prosecuting attorney.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 1.—The Ohio senate adopted Mr. Wayne's house resolution memorializing congress to provide the Mississippi and Ohio rivers with locks so as to make them navigable at all seasons of the year.

The house eliminated the Beal local option law from the code and approved the committee's action by establishing a tax commission. The commission, however, will have nothing to do with the levies made by boards of education.

Ballot Reform Ticket Filed.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—The announcement here today of the filing of nomination papers at Mercer by the Ballot Reform party, in which all Republicans for county offices are indorsed, except for commissioners, has caused a stir in local Republican ranks. The party is composed of Republicans and Democrats, who indorsed Democrats for the offices of county commissioners. No reference is made to the state candidates.

Burglars Operate at Scottdale.

SCOTTDALE, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—A gang of burglars visited several residences here last night, but in most cases were scared away by the occupants. The only place they succeeded in entering was the residence of Samuel J. Zearley, in North Chestnut street. They went through every room in the house and succeeded in getting about $30. The burglars evidently wanted nothing but money.

Steel Workers' Strike Ended.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—A strike of the employes of the Union drawn steel works at this place, which has caused a shut down of the plant for a month and rendered 450 men and boys idle, was amicably settled last night, and this morning the men returned to work. The works are running full hand. Concessions were made by both sides.

AN AGED MERCHANT FELLED BY A THIEF

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 1.—Covered with blood in his own yard is the condition in which M. M. Cotterman, an aged and well-to-do merchant of Apple Creek, was found late last night by a neighbor. The injured man was unconscious, but recovered for a few minutes and was able to tell that he had been struck several times over the head with a club in the hands of an unknown man.

The bludgeon used was a handle of a shovel and was picked up a few feet away. The bloodhounds owned at the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield were placed on the trail at 8 a. m., but rain kept the animals from getting the scent.

The robber was evidently frightened away before he had time to secure Mr. Cotterman's money.

LOST LIFE IN FIRE.

BROWNSVILLE, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Tearing down old buildings for an extension of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad caused a fire this evening, entailing a loss of $20,000 and one life, that of Robert Johnson.

The fire started in the old Graham warehouse, spread to Thompson building and thence to the old Briton distillery. The Story hotel was damaged $3,000 to $4,000, and adjacent wooden structures were entirely consumed. Johnson, who was employed by Contractor A. V. Purnell, met death by assisting Janen Collier, who came in contact with a live wire.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

ASHTABULA, O.—The Rev. S. H. Groves, formerly pastor of the Prospect Street First Presbyterian church of this city, has accepted a call to the Congregationalist church at Lindenville, O.

BELLEFONTE, PA.—At a reconvened court convention the Democrats nominated Dr. H. S. Brandt of Spring Mills, for coroner, to fill out the ticket.

TITUSVILLE, PA.—The coroner's jury rendered a verdict in the cause of the death of Frank Goodwill, finding Milo Peer responsible for the crime.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—It is announced authoritatively that the street railway extension from Brilliant, this county, to Martins Ferry is not to be built, and the route is to be abandoned. Instead the river is to be bridged at Brilliant over to Wellsburg and the street car line from Wellsburg to Wheeling used.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA.—While hunting together Edward Stephens accidentally shot and killed Willie Lutz. Both were about 15 years old. Stephens fired at a rabbit, not noticing that Lutz was in the way.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O.—Nannie Bucey, 14 years old, attempting to jump from a moving elevator, was caught between the machine and the floor and so crushed that she cannot live. The girl is the daughter of John Bucey and the accident occurred in the pottery where she is employed.

BIG SWARM OF BEES BROKE UP A SCHOOL

But the Insects Were Finally Exterminated and Pupils Secured Much Honey.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CUMBERLAND, MD., Oct. 1.—There was a novel occurrence at a country school house near here today. A change in the weather necessitated a fire. When the building became warm, honey bees commenced to fill the room in such large numbers that the teacher was compelled to adjourn school.

It turned out that during the summer a swarm of bees settled between the ceiling and roof of the school house and went to work.

The bees were exterminated with the fumes of burning sulphur and 75 pounds of honey were secured, after which the teacher and pupils resumed their duties as if nothing unusual had transpired.

TRIBUTE TO M'KINLEY.

Maygar Americans Placed Wreath on His Casket at Canton.

CANTON, O., Oct. 1.—Representatives of the Louis Kossuth monument commission, which unveiled and dedicated a monument to the Hungarian patriot in Cleveland, Sunday, came to Canton today, to pay the respects of the Maygar Americans to the memory of President McKinley and to lay a wreath of laurel upon his casket.

The tribute which was placed on the casket was a large wreath of laurel with ribbons displaying the colors of Hungary and the United States, and bearing the inscription in gold upon ribbons, "The Maygar Austrians, assembled to dedicate the Kossuth monument, to the memory of the revered McKinley, October 1, 1902."

Widow Died of Grief.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—When Bernard Schissler, a well-known German shoemaker of this place, died a few weeks ago, his widow took to her bed from grief and yesterday death ended her suffering. She was 70 years old and totally blind. The couple had no children.

TRAINS GOT TANGLED BY LOSS OF CABOOSE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 1.—A peculiar freight wreck in which one man was injured, occurred here on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad this morning. A caboose became detached from a southbound train at New Castle Junction and was picked up by a work train engine which pursued the southbound train in order to attach the car to the latter. The loss of the caboose was soon discovered by those on board the freight train and that train immediately began backing up to recover the missing car. As it did so the rear end of the train crashed into the work train engine with the caboose in front and in addition to demolishing the caboose damaged the engine to a considerable extent.

The engineer on the work train engine immediately reversed the lever and jumped. On the rebound after the collision this engine started running wildly down the track but a few minutes before a passenger train was due and traveled for some distance before being caught.

TERRORIZED BY GANG.

Desperadoes Occupy a Cave and Plunder the Neighborhood Near East Liverpool, O.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—W. S. Dyke, a gardener at Negley, has been made the victim of a gang of desperadoes, who, secreting themselves in an abandoned coal bank, have terrorized him and the village for almost a week. There had been numerous robberies nearby, and after his farm had been stripped of a large quantity of produce Dyke loaded his gun and seated himself near his house to watch.

A stone weighing half a ton suddenly fell near him and he saw dark forms above him, near the mouth of the cave. Without firing he took refuge in his house and a volley of stones poured down on the roof until it was wrecked, windows smashed and chimneys broken. That was Monday night.

Last night a neighbor watched with him and the performance was renewed. Dyke and Fred Shafer were fired upon and Shafer wounded. The exchange of shots lasted an hour. Then a posse came to Dyke's aid and more shooting was done, but no one hurt. The desperadoes still hold the cave and guards surround it. The sheriff was called upon this evening, and with a posse and several bloodhounds hopes to capture the gang in the morning.

Woman Missing from Home.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special)—Mrs. Ruth Williams of Hickory township has mysteriously disappeared. Her husband left home on September 27 to come to Sharon. He said his wife was in a happy frame of mind. That was the last he saw of her. When he returned the house was in disorder and from all appearances Mrs. Williams had gathered up a few of her clothes and left.

WITNESS TELLS DRAMATIC TALE

Nellie Reed Says She Saw Joseph Allen Stab Achsah King.

MADE A SPEECH TO JURY

Sensations in Murder Case Is Promised by Defense Which Will Put City Detective and Police Captain on Stand.

Joseph Allen was arraigned yesterday morning in criminal court for the murder of Achsah King, and pleaded not guilty to the indictment. His appearance is greatly changed from that of the day when he was committed by Coroner Jesse McGeary. Then he was unshaven, dirty and in rough clothing, without collar or tie. In court he was clean shaven, wearing a neat black suit, white collar and shirt, and neat tie, while his hair was neatly trimmed and combed. He appeared nervous when Clerk Goettman called him to his feet to be arraigned, but as the trial proceeded he was as composed as any in the room, although the majority of the witnesses heard were positive in their identification of him as the man who was in company with Miss King on the afternoon of her death. Most of this testimony the defense expects to break down.

He was not in the least disturbed when Nellie Reed, who is supposed to have been the only eye-witness to the murder, described the scene in a dramatic way, when she positively identified him as the man who struck the fatal blow. The defense also claims to hold a winning hand with reference to this story.

Judges T. H. Collier and E. H. Stowe were on the bench when court opened at 9:30 o'clock, but Judge Collier soon retired, leaving Judge Stowe to conduct the trial.

Attorney Rody P. Marshall, counsel for the prisoner, consulted with him prior to the opening of court, and the prisoner smiled in a confident manner.

Tale of the Murder.

Achsah King was murdered about 5 o'clock in the afternoon of July 23 in Curran's saloon, at Sixth and Wylie avenues. She had been drinking during the day and was with a man all that day who is said to have killed her. She was sitting in a drinking room and was cut in the neck with a small knife and bled to death almost instantly.

The murderer escaped and the only clue that the police had was a description of the man given by Mrs. Acheson, the dead woman's sister. She said that the man who was with her sister at her home on that day said he was an iceman. The description fitted Feightley, and as he was an iceman he was arrested for the murder.

The prosecution is conducted by District Attorney John C. Haymaker, and his case was nearly completed when court adjourned at 4:45 with Nellie Reed on the stand. The witness detailed the alleged actions of Allen and Miss King from their meeting on Wylie avenue saloon about noon on July 23 up to the hour of her death, just before 5 o'clock that evening.

Court Refused Attorney's Request.

Samuel Fondersmith, clerk, of the Thirteenth ward, was selected as foreman of the jury after the 11 others had been secured and is a younger man than is usually selected in homicide cases. The other jurors are John McCormack, laborer, Nineteenth ward; Charles Marks, collector, Braddock; Robert McFarland, farmer, North Fayette township; R. J. Cunningham, insurance agent, Sewickley; William Beadel, farmer, Aleppo township; Melvin Campbell, laborer, Fourteenth ward; Silas Thomas, puddler, Elliott borough; S. W. Smith, carpenter, Nineteenth ward; William B. Glover, clerk, Second ward, Allegheny; John Morgan, restaurant keeper, Eighteenth ward.

District Attorney Haymaker in opening outlined the case to the jury and indicated that the evidence of the witnesses would warrant a verdict of conviction.

W. R. Ball, a photographer, was called to identify photographs taken at the Traction hotel, at Sixth and Wylie avenues, where the murder occurred, and Dr. J. C. Boggs of Allegheny testified to having examined the body of the dead woman, holding the autopsy at the morgue.

The counsel for the defense asked that the jury be conducted to the Traction hotel to view the scene of the murder, but although Mr. Haymaker consented Judge Stowe refused the request.

When court convened for the afternoon session Mrs. Kate Acheson of Thirty-eighth and Butler streets, sister of the dead woman, was called. She testified to calling at the morgue after the tragedy and identifying the body as that of her sister, but was not asked concerning the visit her sister had made at her home during the afternoon till she was recalled.

Keeper Albert McGibbony of the county jail testified to the manner Allen was dressed when received at the jail. His clothing was offered in evidence and identified.

Annie Collins' Story.

Annie Collins, who was with the couple on the afternoon of the murder, was next called. She has been in jail as a witness since the murder. She told of meeting Allen, whom she identified, on Wylie avenue, and going with him to a saloon, where they were later joined by the King woman. This was about noon on the day of the murder, and the trio had drinks together, the couple leaving her to go to Allegheny. Her identification of Allen and his picture was positive. She was asked as to his appearance at the inquest, but the defense objected and was sustained by the court.

She was closely cross-examined and was asked how many other men she had identified as the slayer. She declared she was taken to see one, but stated at the time that he was not the man. She was asked if she did not drink freely at the saloon, and admitted it, but denied that she was drunk.

William Lytle, waiter in Nill & Knee's saloon, where the three were drinking, testified to their being there at 1:30 p. m. and his refusing the King woman liquor, as she was drunk.

He said the room was dark and lighted by a lamp. Asked if he had not made the statement that he could clear the man, but was afraid of the police, he denied it.

William Curran, proprietor of the Traction house, identified the photographs of his place and explained the location of the rooms. He identified the prisoner as the man who had been in his place between 12 and 1 o'clock the day of the murder with the King and Collins women. He had refused them drinks and ordered them from the place.

James Williams, porter at the hotel, who was first arrested after the murder, testified to waking up the morning of the murder in "Queen Lil's" place on Wylie avenue. He found himself there with the King woman, but had no recollection of going there. He saw her after the murder just before she died and before the arrival of the police, but could not identify Allen.

Conductor Identifies Allen.

Harry Johnson, a street car conductor on the Sharpsburg line, testified to carrying Allen and Miss King to Thirty-eighth and Butler streets on his car, about 2:40 o'clock that afternoon. Both were under the influence of drink, which attracted his attention to them. George Leper, a barber on Butler, near Thirty-eighth street, testified to the appearance of the couple when they got off the car and went to Mrs. Acheson's home across the street. He also saw them leave there about 5:40 p. m. and the man trying to get her to go down Thirty-eighth street. He identified Allen as the man, and said he had a week's growth of beard on his face.

Mrs. Kate Acheson was recalled and told of the visit to her house. Her sister had been drinking and it made her angry. She threatened to have her sent to the workhouse, and the man with her, whose name she did not remember, said she would not go, as long as he had money to pay her fine. Her sister said he was an iceman.

She watched them leave through the curtains of her front room and saw them go down Butler street. She said she did not pay attention to the man's name when introduced to him, but thought the name sounded like Allen. When cross-examined by the defense she denied having told the reporters the name of the man. She could not positively identify Allen.

Ex-Officer William Loughrey, who was on Butler street that afternoon, testified to following the couple down as far as Thirty-sixth street, where they took a car for town. He said the man tried to get the woman down Thirty-eighth, Thirty-seventh and Thirty-sixth streets, but she would not go. Both were drunk and when the woman went into a saloon at Thirty-sixth street, he told the waiter not to give her anything to drink. He spoke to the man and said the prisoner looked like him.

Robert Dixon, a conductor on an Aspinwall car, testified to bringing the couple to town from Thirty-sixth street, letting them off at Cecil alley and Liberty avenue, about 3:45 p. m.

Saw Allen on Wylie Avenue.

Mrs. Rudolph, an acquaintance of Miss King, testified to seeing her with a man who resembled the picture of the prisoner in Diamond alley, near Wood street, at about 4:30 p. m. She said she did not look closely at the man.

Harry O'Donnell, a waiter at Nill & Knee's saloon, in Wylie avenue, testified to Miss King and Allen being in his place between 4 and 5 o'clock. He refused to serve the woman anything but seltzer. Allen gave her his beer, and for that they were ordered from the place.

William Burchell, who saw the woman and man coming toward the Traction hotel from Wylie avenue, testified they were quarreling and the woman darted away from the man at the gate leading into the rear of the saloon from Sixth avenue. He was sitting on the steps but a few feet away. The man paused and then went in after her. He did not see him come out, and was asked seven or eight minutes later by a policeman which way the man went who stabbed the woman in the saloon. That was the first he knew of the affair. He identified Allen as the man.

The defense tried to break down his testimony by making him acknowledge that he had been drinking hard, but was unable to do so.

Edward Curran, son of the hotel proprietor, testified to seeing Allen and the two women in the saloon early in the afternoon, and giving orders to stop their drinks. He saw his father talking with the man, and identified Allen as the man, but said he was clean shaven. Allen and Miss King went out first and then the Collins woman.

W. H. Baker of the South Side was at his mother's house next to Curran's house and saw Miss King leave the man at the gate. He followed after her a few seconds later. He did not notice the man in particular and could not identify Allen as the man.

Eye-Witness' Dramatic Tale.

Mrs. Mary McDonald, or Nellie Reed as she is known, was called and proved a very dramatic witness—too much so for the district attorney's peace of mind, for she was very positive in her detail of how the murder occurred, and was stopped by Mr. Haymaker when she said "Gentlemen of the jury," waving her hand in a dramatic way, "it was this way."

"Never mind making a speech," said Mr. Haymaker, "just tell what you saw."

The attorney for the defense wished her to go on as she had started, but the cohrt interfered. She then detailed how the King woman entered and sat down. She said she was very drunk and was followed a moment later by a man, whom the witness positively identified as Allen. She recited her story as though she had practiced it during the months she was in jail.

She told of Allen asking the King woman "Are you going to bluff me?" and the answer, "No."

Then came a repetition of the question and the same answer. Allen, she said, had his right hand in his pocket and suddenly struck her on the neck, then leaned over and looked at the spot, and then hurried out. She described minutely the way the woman fell from her seat, acting the scene almost to the point of falling herself, and told what followed when it was discovered the woman had been stabbed.

New Woman Appears.

The defense tried to shake her testimony and tried to make her acknowledge that she was drunk and could not see well, but was met with indignation and denials. She testified she was chambermaid in a house in Ross street.

When asked if she did not tell Capt. McClellan after the murder that it was so dark that she could not tell whether the man was black or white, but that she thought he was an Italian, she denied saying so, and finally said she had no conversation at all with the captain; neither did she tell Detective Charles McGovern she did not know whether he was a negro or a white man.

She described the shirt worn and identified the shirt in court, but said it was so dark that she thought the man wore a stiff hat instead of a soft one. She was positive Allen was the man.

What promises a new development in the case was brought forward when the defense brought a Mrs. Low to her feet and asked the witness if the woman was not in the drinking room at the time of the murder.

The witness was positive she was not, and that she was the only one present.

The witness was still on the stand when court adjourned.

The defense will attempt to prove that Allen never saw the King woman, and that he is a victim of the same circumstances that caused the Feightley arrest.

Salvation Army Rally.

Col. R. E. Holz and Mrs. Holz of Cleveland, who have charge of the Ohio, Western Pennsylvania and southern divisions of the Salvation Army, will pay Pittsburgh a visit and conduct a special service in the Army hall, No. 35 Diamond square, this evening at 8 o'clock. They will be assisted by 20 officers and a host of soldiers. Col. Holz is on his way to New York to take part in the welcome to Gen. William Booth, who is to arrive from London Saturday. Gen. Booth will visit Pittsburgh on Sunday, January 25.

Street Forces Reduced.

Sixteen rammers and pavers were discharged yesterday by Supt. John Battles, of the bureau of highways and sewers, on the ground that they will not be needed any longer during the winter. A number of white wings were also discharged, according to the plan, as exclusively stated in The Gazette a week ago.

DIRGE PLAYED FOR PATTISON

Funereal Turn Given to His Meeting in the Capital of Crawford.

COUNTY IS REPUBLICAN

In the Past It Has Been Made a Many Freakish Political Breaks, but This Year Bolters Are Returning to Old Party.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Meadville, Pa., Oct. 1.—The band played a dirge tonight. The music was appropriate, for in November Republican clods will rattle over the Democracy. It seemed quite fitting this morning, just as the gubernatorial party was passing over the Erie line, that a little girl should hand the chief mourner a beautiful bouquet.

Crawford has made the rounds of political isms. There has been no county in the state more freakish in its politics. In the past decade Republicans have worshiped at strange shrines. Of late they have been returning to the old party. Last year the county gave a majority of 500 for the state candidates, and this fall the banner is to be elevated several notches.

With the exception of a few backsliders who have gone so far that they cannot get back, the Republican party is united today as it has not been in years. Added to this will be the votes of a number of Democrats who refuse to believe that Pennsylvania has gone to the dogs.

Democrats everywhere are counting too much on the run their candidate made 12 years ago. Here, as in other counties, the same conditions do not prevail today. Pattison carried this county then, but many of the men who stood back of him are fighting in the Pennypacker army. In November Pattison will realize this, if he is not aware of it now.

Local Politicians Sized Up.

Col. S. B. Dick sizes up the situation when he says Pennypacker and the entire Republican ticket will go through this fall. Pattison has reason to know that his judgment is good.

Wesley Best, the present district attorney and former Republican county chairman, knows Crawford well. He is positive that Pennypacker will have a good majority, and is just as confident that Samuel Boland, nominee for senator, and Frank P. Ray, Clark D. Ecles and L. O. McLain, candidates for assembly, will be elected. As for the re-election of Congressman Arthur L. Bates, no one here appears to think that there is a question about it.

The Democrats are trying to elect A. J. Palm to the senate, and L. D. Brown, J. L. Wilson and J. S. Martin to the house. They are willing to trade anything to get them through, but find that this is a year when the Republicans of Crawford intend to vote straight.

Pattison, Guthrie, Nolan and the other spellbinders were routed out of bed in Erie at 6 o'clock this morning. It was about 8 o'clock when Girard was reached, and some 200 Democrats took politics with their breakfast. The next stop was at Cranesville, where the governor spoke from the rear of the car to a few people. It was here that Ina Sigworth presented Pattison with a bouquet. There was another platform speech at Albion, and Erie county and its certain Republican majority, was left behind.

First Meeting in Crawford.

Springboro was the first town in Crawford to be visited. Political meetings and funerals are the chief diversions there, and the majority of the populace took advantage of the opportunity to kill time. Conneautville was visited before dinner and a number of appetites were spoiled. Linesville was allowed the matinee performance of the day. It is a Pattison stronghold and 225 people listened to the oft told story.

For the first time since that disastrous experience at Hyndman, in Somerset county, a preacher was allowed to preside. The Rev. J. W. Planette, who administers to the spiritual wants of the Baptists of Linesville, and at the same time finds time to be one of the nine members of the Union party in this county, was chairman of the meeting. The Rev. Mr. Planette had been selected by a convention composed of himself and eight others as a delegate to the Union party rump gathering in Philadelphia. The preacher told of his troubles in the Quaker City and apparently without a twinge of conscience, blamed everything on Pennypacker.

After the meeting the school children were marched down to the hall and Pattison gave them a short talk.

There was no demonstration when Meadville was reached this evening. The party was escorted here by L. D. Brown, S. Lowry Humes, Charles Putnam, Charles Davis, S. W. Lowing, Fred Martin and W. H. Steckton. Pattison and Guthrie held a little reception at the new Colt house. Among the callers were Col. S. B. Dick. He is one of Pennypacker's most enthusiastic supporters. Dr. T. L. Flood, who admires Pattison as a brother Methodist, but who will vote and work for Pennypacker, was another visitor.

No Overflow Meeting Needed.

The meeting was held in the Academy of Music. Big posters over the town announced that "The overflow meeting would be held in the court house." The theater seats 840 people and it was unnecessary for any of the auditors to stand. The overflow meeting was not held.

Bands and mules continue to be trouble contributors to the Democratic campaigners. Tonight the Prohibition band, led by the celebrated director, Prof. F. B. Boynton, furnished the music. The professor endeavors to prepare programs fitting to the occasion. Tonight he thought it appropriate to play a dirge as the opening piece.

Ex-Senator J. S. Logan presided and in introducing the candidates presented "Thomas Nolan." Pattison, Guthrie, Nolan, Stranahan and Osborne each made speeches.

Tomorrow the upper Allegheny valley is to be covered by the campaigners. The night meeting will be held in Bradford.

PAVING BIDS OPENED.

Offers From a Company of Alleghenians Were Thrown Out.

Bids for paving a number of Pittsburgh streets with asphalt were opened yesterday by Recorder J. O. Brown and Director J. Guy McCandless. The Pittsburgh Asphalt Company was the lowest bidder. The prices ranged from $1.79 a square yard on some streets, to $1.95 on others. Up until the Empire Asphalt Company entered the bidding, a year ago, Pittsburgh paid from $2.15 to $2.50 for asphalt paving.

The Pennsylvania Asphalt Company objected to the consideration of the bids of the Atlas Construction Company because the latter has no plant in the city limits as required by the specifications. The bids of that concern were accordingly thrown out. The Atlas company is composed of Joseph Hastings, Samuel C. Grier and other Allegheny politicians.

Benzine Exploded.

Two cars, standing on a siding near the McKees Rocks' roundhouse of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, were destroyed yesterday morning by the explosion of a can of benzine. One was a wrecking car and the other was loaded with asphaltum, owned by W. B. Lupton & Co. of this city. The estimated loss is $2,500. The benzine was used for cooking purposes by men in the work car, and the explosion was caused by leaving the can near the stove. Five men in the wrecking crew had difficulty in escaping.

JOSEPH HORNE CO.

Weather—Fair. Thursday, Oct. 2, 1902.

Today will bring the largest excursion to town so far this Exposition season. The fame of the acrobatic Creatore has gone abroad and out-of-town people are anxious to see him and hear his band.

Every visitor should take some time to look over our store. This week is a general opening week of Fall fashions, and it is the consensus of opinion that there never was such a conspicuous fashion exhibit. Seventy departments take part in the showing and you may be sure it is an interesting study.

A Genuine Surprise for Women.

Black Silk Stockings, $1 a Pair.

But the regular prices are $2, $2.50, $2.75 and $3.

They are all made from bright thread silk, either plain or open ribbed effects.

Ten grades, each a beautiful luster black, and there are all sizes.

So ladies who would like to wear two to three dollar silk stockings, and only pay a dollar for them, have the opportunity before them today. Only 1,140 pairs.

A Range of Prices on Black Silks.

There is no better way of demonstrating variety than by giving a concise list of the things you are going to talk about, backed by a range of prices.

Consider these several lines of Black Silks and note where the prices begin and stop, and bear in mind there are many different intermediary prices.

Black Peau de Soie, 85c a yard to $3.50.
Black Peau de Cynge, 75c a yard to $2.50.
Black Velour Crystals, 85c a yard to $2.50.
Black Satin Sultan, $1.25 a yard to $2.50.
Black Poplins, 85c a yard to $4.
Black Satin Merveilleux, 75c a yard to $1.50.
Black Gros Grains, $1 a yard to $2.50.
Black Crepes de Chine, 75c a yard to $5.
Black Grenadines, 75c a yard to $4.50.
Black Fancy Silks, 85c a yard to $5.
Black Lining Taffetas—19 to 36 inches—50c a yard to $2.

In the foregoing you have, plainly stated, the least expensive Black Silks up to the very finest. It is easy to figure the cost of one of those handsome silk dresses.

And now let us call your attention to something very, very special:

In Lyons is the C. J. Bonnet manufactory of black silks, which has come down through two centuries with a reputation for making the best taffetas woven. When our buyer was in Lyons the past Summer he secured two numbers of this taffeta in a way that enables us to say for them a much lower price than usual—75c a yard usually 90c—85c a yard usually $1. They are handsome plain taffetas.

There is also a special Swiss Taffeta that we are selling for 65c a yard, although it is an 85c value. 19 inches wide and "guaranteed" woven on edge.

The New Colored Silks.

Have a pretty new silk for waists, called Pekin Plisse. It comes in such delicate shades as pink, turquoise, maise, lilac and ceil—the ultra fashionable tints for evening wear.

In colored Crepe de Chines the new arrivals present many pretty evening shades. Such popular prices as 75c, $1 and $1.25 a yard.

The New Velvets.

Women who read the fashion magazines are not to be told that velvets have again assumed a high place in fashionable dress. For those who do not we may tell the news. The revival began last season, and now is at its height.

In the highest grades of velvets, those from which elegant coats and costumes are made, we have new arrivals in all silk velvets—20 to 28 inches wide—from $4 to $8 a yard.

50c-a-Yard Handsomely Printed All-Wool Challis, 33c a Yard.

No material so highly prized for the making of misses' dresses, and for all kinds of house garments.

Girls' Long Coats.

Lots of mothers would throw up their hands if they were asked $50 for a 12-year-old girl's coat; some other mothers would admit that was about what they had thought to pay. And so it goes.

Do you wonder why there is such variety in this store?

We must please—please you, please some other person of a diametrically opposite taste.

For 4 and up to 12 years, long coats of zibeline, broadcloth, cheviot and covert, beginning at $7, and running to $9, $10, $12, $15 up to $40.

In the way of something real exquisite for your girl, allow us to recommend our long corduroy and plain velvet coats, selling for $12 and up to $50.

Girls' three-quarter length Coats of cheviot, kersey and zibeline, at $5, $8.50, $10 and on to $35. Sizes for 4 to 12 years.

Young Men and the New "Weskits."

There was a time when these garments cut quite a figure. In those days the young fellows—popularly dubbed the bloods—to cut any sort of a dash had to have a fancy "weskit."

Of late years the custom has been revived, a pleasing renaissance of ancientness, and the wardrobe of the fashionable young man of today is incomplete unless it contains several of these waistcoats.

Our clothing department shows the correct styles in both quiet and gay patterns, from $2.50 to $6.

New Lace Curtains.

Tuesday evening quite a lot of our new Lace Curtains arrived, among them some pretty patterns in Arabian, Renaissance and Cluny laces.

The Cluny Curtains from $4 to $9 a pair.

The Renaissance Curtains from $7.50 to $30 a pair.

The New Clothing for Men.

Fit, character, style and workmanship. A quartette of essentials to good clothing that we have yet to find equaled in the clothing we sell.

Every style of suit, every style of top coat that men, either young or elderly, are ready for the Autumn selection.

The suits at $15 comprise black Thibets, our special fancy mixtures, cassimeres, worsteds and cheviots, in plaids and stripes, and the 3-button double-breasted blue serge suit.

For $18 a great assortment of fancy weaves, stripes, checks and plaids, in cheviots and tweeds; black undressed worsteds, blue diagonal serges, and black clay worsted.

At $20, $22, $25, there are single and double breasted styles, cut 3-button square, 4-button, box and close fitting. And the greatest lot of patterns, in both fancy, light, medium and those dark, indistinct dressy patterns.

At $28, $30, $32, we get into the finest. And the suits are fine. No mistake about that. Exclusive designs in many suitings, including the West of England Cheviots.

In the matter of top coats, we are making a specialty of one at $15. For that price there is choice of meltons, beavers, friezes, in about any color desired. That is about the best way to put it without calling off a great lot of colors. And any length desired, also.

At $20, the same materials, the same range of lengths, only you can have satin or silk lining.

We also have a new shipment of those natty top coats, 31, 32 and 33 inches long. Tan, olive and oxford gray cheviot, and other materials, $10 to $22.

We also desire to give notice that we have Automobile Leather Coats, made of fine Mexican kid. This is something new and intended only for automobiling.

Double-breasted Chauffeur's Coat, $14.
Norfolk, $20.
Single-breasted long cut, $18.

Sheepskin Wool Vests are comfortable when out with the auto. Here at $4.

Boys' Suits and Overcoats.

More variety than ever in the Boys' department. That's what boys like. And do you know, if we had to choose between the two, we would rather please the boys than the men. Anyhow, boys are more particular than men.

Our great Suit for boys is our special $5 suit.

It comes in many patterns of solid colors of cheviot, and in solid colors, fancy stripes and mixtures of Scotch tweeds. To make the trousers stand the wear and tear of boyish sports the seat and knees are doubled.

From $6 to $12.50 we have hundreds of new Fall Suits, knee-pant style, with 2-button double-breasted, 3-button double-breasted, Norfolk and single-breasted Coats, with vests. Every boyish material.

SPECIAL—We have 25 light weight Overcoats for little boys—3 to 7.

Blue, tan, red and gray. The former prices were $5, $6 and $7. Will sell them for $3 each.

In our regular line there is every style of top coat that boys like—and that means consulting the diversified tastes. All the cloths that go into boys' overcoats. $5 to $25.

Two Special Numbers in Separate Skirts.

It is quite likely women understand what a general variety there is here in skirts, especially of those have attended our opening of Fall Fashions the last two days.

More determined than ever that this shall be a store of assortments.

HILL DICTATED EVERY ACTION

BIG CHIEF KICKED HARD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Governor, Bird S. Coler, Brooklyn; lieutenant governor, Charles N. Bulger, Oswego; secretary of state, Frank Mott, Chautauqua; comptroller, Charles M. Preston, Ulster; attorney general, John Cunneen, Erie; state engineer and surveyor, Richard W. Sherman, Oneida; state treasurer, George R. Finch, Warren; associate judge of the court of appeals, John C. Gray, New York.

With the exception of treasurer this is the Hill slate given out Tuesday night. That slate contained the name of D. J. Van Auken, Ontario, for treasurer, but a new choice was made this morning. Hill completely dominated the convention. Coler was nominated for governor on the first ballot by 444 votes to 3 for Jacob A. Cantor, president of Manhattan borough. All the other nominations were made by acclamation, and the convention adjourned at 3:25 p. m.

Devery Rudely Turned Down.

The liveliest feature of the convention was Devery's fight for a seat from the Ninth assembly district in New York city. Hill decided to exclude both the Devery and Goodwin delegations from that district, and the credentials committee so reported. Both Devery and Hill received tremendous applause when they appeared in the convention hall, and the galleries were frequently noisy in Devery's favor.

When the credentials committee reported against both Devery and Goodwin, on the ground that their primary election had been so corrupt and turbulent that it was impossible to decide which faction won, Devery forced his way to the platform and demanded his seat. He said he had won by a large majority, and appealed personally to Hill to give him justice. The committee's report was adopted, 422 to 21. Devery and his delegates marched out of the hall, the "big chief" declaring that some one would regret the action taken. Later, before leaving for New York city, Devery said he would support the ticket.

Socialism on Mine Ownership.

The platform is long, declamatory and generally denunciatory of Republican policies. Concerning the anthracite coal strike it says:

We advocate the national ownership and operation of the anthracite coal mines by the exercise of the right of eminent domain, with just compensation to owners. Ninety per cent of the anthracite coal deposits of the world being in the state of Pennsylvania, national ownership can but be in the interest of the whole people.

Fuel, like water, being a public necessity, we advocate national ownership and operation of the mines as a solution of the problem which will relieve the country from the suffering which follow differences between labor and capital in the anthracite mines. This course will insure peace in the mining sections and remove the cause for differences leading not only to suffering, but oftentimes to bloodshed and insurrection.

It will relieve the consumers of coal not only in this state, but throughout the whole country; insure steady employment and ample compensation to labor; transfer children from the mines to the schools; insure, strengthen and preserve the stability of the business interests and popular institutions of our country. Whatever differences of opinion may exist over other propositions of public ownership, the propriety of that policy, as applied to anthracite coal mines, must be apparent to every citizen.

Down on the Trusts.

The platform further declares that the tariff taxation should be limited to the necessities of the government economically administered, that the tariff should be extensively revised to secure free trade in articles of manufacture, and reciprocity should be extended. Trusts are condemned, and especially the beef and coal trusts, because they have raised the prices of their products. Congressional legislation is demanded to curtail the power of great combinations of capital. Amendment of the tariff is advocated "by putting those products of trusts which are essential to the life, comfort and necessities of the people upon the free list." The Dingley tariff law is condemned as a "trust breeding measure."

The president's speeches on the trust problem are characterized as "diffuse, evasive and contradictory," hinting at "an impractical, dangerous and doubtful scheme of a constitutional amendment." The Republican party is declared to be responsible for "trust conditions." The colonial system which holds the Philippines in subjection is denounced. Heavy reduction of tariff duties for the benefit of Cuba are called for. Sympathy is expressed for the Roumanian Jews.

OFFICIAL PROGRAM OF THE ENCAMPMENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The official program of the thirty-sixth encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which will be held in this city next week, was issued today. The program begins with religious exercises at Camp Roosevelt on Sunday afternoon.

Monday morning there will be an automobile parade and a regatta on the Potomac river. The afternoon will witness the dedication of Camp Roosevelt, with addresses of welcome by Secretary Hay and Commissioner MacFarland, and a response by Commander-in-Chief Torrance. At night there will be a general campfire at Convention hall.

The principal event of Tuesday will be a naval parade, with Brig. Gen. Charles Heywood, United States marine corps, as marshal. A number of army corps reunions will take place on this date, and also a number of receptions by auxiliary ladies' organizations. In the afternoon Pension Commissioner Ware will give a reception. At night the Grand Army will be officially welcomed at Convention hall.

On Wednesday will occur the general Grand Army parade, to which the entire day will be given up. At night there will be a number of reunions and an official reception by the Women's Relief corps.

The meeting of the national encampment will take place Thursday and Friday. On Thursday the Women's Relief corps will hold a convention, as will the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, the Daughters of Veterans and the Women's Veterans' Relief union. A number of receptions will be given by ladies' auxiliary societies.

On Saturday the Women's Relief corps will hold a convention.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—The president's injured leg continues to improve and his condition is satisfactory, according to the report given out at the temporary White House tonight.

BYERS TOOK THE OPEN GOLF HONOR

LOCAL AMATEURS OUTPLAY PROFESSIONALS.

Weather Conditions Prevented Fast Golf, but New Champion Had Low Score.

For the first time in the history of local golf the open championship has been captured by an amateur. E. M. Byers, the present amateur champion leading all professionals on the Allegheny Country club course yesterday was a score of 159 strokes for the 36 holes of play.

Ernest Way, the Pittsburgh golf professional, won the second prize of $15 with 161 strokes, while three amateurs, George Ormiston, C. B. Fownes and B. S. Horne, were ahead of the other professionals, with scores of 163 and 164. Byers gets the first prize of $25 in plate, while the third prize of $10 goes to Nichol Thompson of the Edgewood Golf club, the second and third awards not being open to amateurs.

Though the scores as a whole were high, on account of the inclement weather and the water-soaked course, Byers won the honor by the fastest kind of golf, under the conditions for the afternoon round. He made the 18 holes in 75 strokes, the amateur record held by O. D. Thompson being 75. Ernest Way, who was playing with Byers, came in in 76. B. S. Horne led the morning play with 82, while Ormiston was second with 83, and Byers, Thompson and Keddie fourth, with 84 each.

The course was at its worst in the morning, the players starting in a steady rain. A feature of the day was the play of C. B. Fownes, the boy member of the Highland team, who tied for fourth place with B. S. Horne, ahead of all the professionals but Way.

The competition today will offer 36 holes of qualifying play for the amateur championship, with 45 entries. Eighteen holes will be played in the morning and 18 in the afternoon, the eight lowest gross scores being eligible for the match play for the amateur honor now held by E. M. Byers. The second eight qualify for the second cup, and the third eight for a third cup. The 36-hole final matches takes place on Saturday. The scores yesterday were as follows:

Lively Row at Hearing.

At the close of a hearing before Magistrate D. J. McGeary at Central police station yesterday morning, Attorney Joseph Howley and Detectives Richard Kelly and George Wagoner lost their temper and a scene followed, which has not been equaled in the police court for months. J. Mutchler had a hearing on a charge of obtaining money under false pretense, made by B. Lavitsky of Braddock. When he was discharged for lack of evidence Attorney Howley picked up a receipt, which had been offered in evidence, and the detectives tried to bully him into giving it over to them, in the scuffle which followed the paper was torn to shreds.

AN EYE-OPENER.

Didn't Believe it Possible That Coffee Was at Work.

People often attribute their ill health to some indiscretion in eating, and change diet in the hope of recovering their wonted good health; finding no change for the better in their condition, they are at a loss for the cause, never for a moment thinking that the cup of coffee which they take in the morning is the true source from whence all their ills have come.

A lady in Philadelphia had her attention called to the pernicious working of coffee on the system by reading a little book on "How to Live." She says: "It was truly an eye-opener to me. All the many symptoms of the nervous stage under which I had been laboring so long, were here directly traceable to coffee drinking. Especially was it shown to be responsible for the complete 'breakdown' of my nervous system, which I had ascribed to many different causes, and which had become so great that my hands shook like that of a toper whenever I carried things to my mouth or reached out to grasp anything. I found myself subject to frequent spells of despondency and gloom, a feeling of emptiness, with constant sour eructations.

"Now, like every slave to an inordinate appetite, I was loath to believe that my favorite morning and mid-day beverage was the true cause of all this nervous wretchedness.

"Having noticed the advertisements of Postum Food Coffee, I determined to test it, and purchased a package and had some prepared carefully as directed. I enjoyed my first cup immensely, and Postum has been my favorite drink ever since, and that is a year and a half ago. I had barely used it a week when I realized a general 'tone-up' of my system. First, my appetite improved; next, I had no feeling of depression for days together, and a sensation of comfort especially of my stomach, was noticeable. After a month I was aware that my hands no longer trembled, my nerves were improved and this improvement continued until I entirely recovered my health.

"Whenever I learn of a case of nervous prostration, dyspepsia, or stomach trouble among friends and others, I at once urge the abandonment of coffee as a beverage and the use of Postum in its stead, and I have yet to learn of a single case in which it failed of its effects." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

EACH CAR MADE A POSTOFFICE

HEARING GIVEN TO HIM

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
905 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.

George McAllister of Baltimore a former Pittsburgher, was given a hearing by the officials of the postoffice department today on a scheme for expediting mail by means of trolley and street cars. Mr. McAllister for a number of years has been urging his scheme upon the attention of the department, but today was the first time that he was able to secure a hearing.

First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne ordered the hearing and appointed a committee consisting of Assistant Superintendent Hedges of the free delivery service, an assistant to Mr. Hedges and the superintendent of the Washington free delivery service. Mr. McAllister's scheme was listened to with attention.

In brief, Mr. McAllister proposes that each trolley or street car be a traveling mail collector. On each side of the cars there are to be slots in which letters may be dropped. The letters will slide down into a bag or box, and at the city postoffice they will be lifted and taken into the office. It is calculated that many business men and others will drop their mail into the slot while the cars are passing and thus the cars will not lose any time.

In Allegheny the scheme has many advocates, as was shown by the letters that Mr. McAllister displayed to the members of the committee. Mr. McAllister contended that his scheme would be a still further step in expediting the transit of mail. He assured the committee that the managers of trolley and street car companies would be willing to adopt the scheme for small compensation.

The committee promised Mr. McAllister to give the subject careful investigation and will make a report upon the plan to the postmaster general in about a month.

It is doubtful if the scheme is adopted. It was tried in Philadelphia a number of years ago and abandoned, and also has been discussed in Buffalo and a number of other cities.

West Virginia postmasters were appointed today as follows: Hyer, Braxton county, Harry C. Kenoufl; Thayer, Fayette county, James H. Boyrd; Uneeda, Boone county, W. S. Hook.

SIXTEEN PAGES.

The Times joins with The Gazette in taking the view that the proposed park location for the polytechnic school would be of no injury to the park. If it could be shown that it would injure the park that would settle it, for the city needs good parks and is woefully behind other cities in this respect. But in other cities the planting of fine buildings in public parks has contributed to their embellishment. Museums, picture galleries and other institutions of an educational nature are a feature of large public parks the world over. The Toronto university is placed in the middle of a large public park and constitutes one of its attractions. The idea of locating the polytechnic school in Schenley park was suggested by the serious difficulty in raising funds to purchase sufficient acreage for a site elsewhere. The city hasn't the funds and its legal right to raise money for the purpose is at least doubtful, so that if the park location is feasible it provides a prompt method of satisfying the conditions attached to Mr. Carnegie's splendid offer.

The principle of requiring public contribution adopted by Mr. Carnegie in making his lavish benefactions is attended by embarrassments which are becoming more and more noticeable, and which are likely to increase as time goes on. Mr. Carnegie's idea is that by making his donations conditional upon public maintenance of the institutions he founds the public will be interested in their management, so that they can never degenerate into dead trusts. Much might be said in support of this view of the case, but it is also true that the practice may in some cases lead municipalities into expenditures that will burden taxpayers and hinder municipal development along lines more strictly compatible with their proper functions. In his polytechnic school offer Mr. Carnegie has departed somewhat from his usual practice, for he proposes to endow the school, although making it a condition that the city shall supply the site. Now, the polytechnic school will be a great thing for Pittsburgh, but it is a question whether the city has a legal right to use its funds, not for the education of its own children as in the public school system, but for establishing a school for special technical instruction open to pupils from other localities just as much as from Pittsburgh.

Questions of this nature have troubled other municipalities so that they have been compelled to decline Mr. Carnegie's generous and attractive offers. A recent instance is that of the borough of Marleybone, England, which gave thanks to Mr. Carnegie for his offer of $150,000 for the establishment of a free library, with the statement that the borough could not see its way to accept the offer because of the increased tax rates that would be entailed. The same cable dispatch making this announcement mentioned a report that Mr. Carnegie was now averaging about eight libraries a day, and his donations amounted to nearly $45,000,000 a year. So vast a sum, attended by increase of taxation, amounts practically to a vast addition to the public debt, accompanied, however, by a corresponding increase of public assets in the way of instrumentalities of culture. Of all Mr. Carnegie's donations none equals in practical value the polytechnic school endowment he has offered to Pittsburgh, and in one way or another the offer must be availed of, but the difficulties in the way cannot be ignored.

Our news columns this morning give an outline of the plans of the Pennsylvania railroad which they are about to submit to councils, and it will be seen that they contain measures of relief for the congested conditions from which Pittsburgh now suffers. The branch to be constructed to the Allegheny river at Brilliant station, and the bridge across the river there connecting with the West Penn, will divert a vast amount of freight traffic, which now drags through the city. The removal of the tracks from Liberty avenue will relieve an important thoroughfare from a servitude which now curtails its value, and the elevated tracks along Duquesne way, terminating in a great warehouse system at the Point, will be an immense improvement in business facilities. The removal of the grade crossing at Try street and Second avenue will also constitute a valuable improvement. All these improvements, together with those which the B. & O. railroad will make, and the added facilities which the entrance of the Wabash will provide, will in a few years work a great transformation in the lower part of Pittsburgh and will vastly enhance the commercial importance of the city. The growth of Pittsburgh in the past is simply the earnest of what it will be in the future, and a greater Pittsburgh is coming that most people can now imagine.

In view of the great value of the proposed improvements, it will be simply common sense to meet the railroad companies in an appreciative and liberal spirit. The franchises they need they should have, but they must make fair compensation, and doubtless they expect to do so. The time has passed when a city might be expected to pay for such improvements. Such a policy was quite justifiable in the days when railroads were a new thing and there was an indefinite amount of venture at the risks assumed, but with transportation thoroughly systematized as it now is, with business expectations susceptible of close calculation, capital has a basis of operations too well assured to stand in any need of contributions at the public expense. In the case of Pittsburgh, the volume of traffic in sight insures the copious employment of all the facilities the railroads can furnish, and it would be absurd for them to expect to be paid for attending to their own business. But in arranging terms, removal of tracks from grade may be considered as fair compensation for franchises granted for that purpose. We should consider the removal of the tracks from Liberty avenue sufficient compensation for the grant of the privilege of erecting an elevated road along Duquesne way, but the city could not be expected to bear any part of the cost of constructing that road.

In keeping with the broad policy which should be applied to Pittsburgh interests, we think that the emergency loan desired by the city government should be authorized by councils. The revenues are insufficient to meet the appropriations, and the public business must go on. The same principle that would be applied in private business concerns is just as applicable in public affairs, and any private business house so situated would borrow the money to meet its engagements and maintain its position as a going concern. We therefore think the reform members of councils would act unwisely in offering factious opposition to the measure. At the same time it should be distinctly understood that the system of basing appropriations upon a fictitious estimate of revenues will not be allowed to continue. Next February we expect to see an administration elected which will bring in a proper municipal budget, balancing income and expenditure, and husbanding municipal resources so that a progressive policy can be maintained without oppressing the taxpayers.

A DYNAMITE POLICY.

When the Pattison party of Democratic spellbinders reached Titusville, en route from Oil City to Erie, "a few sticks of dynamite were touched off" to attract a crowd. It was an attempt to blow a little enthusiasm into the Democratic campaign. It is the way of the Democracy to endeavor to blow things up. It tried to dynamite the union of states out of existence in the early sixties, and it has since endeavored to dynamite the prosperity built up and fostered by the Republican party. It is not its fault that it has not succeeded, and it is still at the game with a persistence worthy of a better cause. It is revolutionary and destructive in its tendencies and needs to be kept suppressed.

Judge Pennypacker, at the meeting at Huntingdon, Pa., declared that the Democratic party is usually right on large questions of public policy after they have become irreversible facts, differing therein from the Republican party, which is right on them from their inception. The established truths of history are the promises from which the conclusion was drawn. The preservation of the union at any cost, the abolition of slavery, the resumption of specie payment, the establishment of the national banking system and of a single standard of money values are items of the bill of particulars presented by the Republican nominee. All have been opposed in their turn by Democrats. As these things things they opposed, but now accept, are irrevocable, it is plain the judge was having his little joke at their expense.

Party policies which have now become national policies had their birth in the Republican party and were established by it to the national good, but all the time the process of establishment was in progress the Democratic party was using dynamite. Once or twice it looked as if the dynamite would do its work, but in the end the net result has been to blow the Democratic party out of public confidence. It has been hoist by its own dynamite. It is no more worthy of confidence now than at any time in the past. If after accepting results that cannot be overthrown it is professing virtue in other directions, it is only for a purpose. It has dynamite up its sleeve, and will use it at the first opportunity.

When the Democratic party was in control of the nation it defended the absolute ownership of labor by capital, was responsible for the wildcat banking that made currency a mockery, pursued a policy that left free labor unemployed, that impoverished the country, bankrupted the national treasury and left the Republican party when it came into power on the threshold of a great civil war for maintenance of the union and the establishment of human rights, with no resources but the patriotism and self-sacrificing devotion of the people. With these the present noble structure of peace and plenty have been reared. It has been subjected to a dose of Democratic free trade dynamite, but in the hands of the Republican party recovered from the shock, while the dose of Democratic free silver dynamite that was prepared for it simply wrecked the Democratic party and left the nation alarmed at the attempt, but unscathed.

When the Democratic party went out of power in Pennsylvania it left the state in a bankrupt condition, and the inheritance therefrom is the state debt, which exists now in name only, a mere reminder of old conditions, as under the wise policy of the Republican administrations a sufficient sinking fund has been accumulated to pay every dollar of it, after expenditures for public education and for public charities that have won admiration and commendation everywhere. And in the face of such party record the Democratic candidates are touring the state, asking Republicans to turn the Republican party out of power and put the Democratic party in.

The Democratic dynamiters won't win. The people don't believe in a dynamite policy. They don't want the structure of prosperity to be blown to pieces. They need it in their business. They want the building up policy to continue and will have none of the wreckers. If the Democrats could dynamite their way into power in Pennsylvania it would encourage them in their effort to dynamite their way into power in the nation, and if they could succeed in that it would be dynamite for everybody.

HILL'S TICKET AND PLATFORM.

Mr. Hill's New York Democratic convention nominated the slated ticket without a break in the list. For a Democratic ticket it is an eminently respectable one. The platform, however, gives more attention to national policies than to state issues. It declares tariff revision to be the "supreme duty of the hour," defining the revision desired to be the Cleveland brand, "for revenue only." So much for free trade. Mr. Bryan and his free silver theory are completely ignored.

From denouncing the protective tariff the resolutions turn to a denunciation of the system which locks up in treasury vaults the money that is needed in active business, unmindful of the fact that this sub-treasury system is of Democratic origin, resulting from the demolition of the United States bank. This denunciation is well placed, for it is an awkward plan that produces stringency of the currency from prosperous conditions.

On the subject of trusts it has much to say. It especially denounces the beef and coal trusts and flouts President Roosevelt's proposition for an amendment to the Constitution. It declares the trusts are the "legitimate products of Republican policies and laws;" that they are "excused and apologized for, defended and protected by Republican administrations in return for campaign contributions." This is an old libel. The record is open. Grover Cleveland's two Democratic administrations never curbed a single harmful combination. President Roosevelt's Republican administration halted the beef trust and attacked the Northern Securities organization. President Roosevelt himself is far in advance of this Democratic utterance in advocating regulation of the trusts without destroying business prosperity.

Naturally, the platform contains an attack upon the Republican policy toward the Philippines, but offers no reasonable plan for other treatment. Reduction of the tariff on Cuban products, beyond the 20 per cent proposed by President Roosevelt, is advocated regardless of reciprocal concessions. On this subject there is a gleam of intelligence in the denunciation of the anti-reciprocity clique in congress that is as commendable as the attack upon the Democratic sub-treasury system.

Finally, the platform indorses Secretary Hay's effort to secure justice for the Jews in Roumania. It has not the courtesy to give the Republican administration credit for what it has done, but favors such action as has been taken.

This sapient Hill platform differs radically from that adopted by the Pennsylvania Democrats at Erie, despite early indications to the contrary. It openly declares the election of Democratic congressmen to be one chief object of the campaign. Its candor is commendable, though the object is not. The Pennsylvania campaign of false pretenses is reprehensible both in its attempt at deception and its real object. Pennsylvania Democracy represents the policies avowed by the New York Democrats.

ROOSEVELT USES HIS INFLUENCE.

While it is understood that President Roosevelt has invited the attendance of the presidents of the coal-carrying railroads and the strike leaders only after being assured he has no executive authority to compel a settlement, it must not be assumed his effort will be without effect. In the first place it may only be necessary to get the leaders on both sides together to discover a basis for compromise. Second, the interest of the president will concentrate the attention of the public upon the subject to a greater degree. Finally, a refusal to consider the reasonable request of the president, preferred without legal power of enforcement, is sure to bring forward any legal power that may be vested in any quarter to compel a settlement.

The prospect for next Friday's conference is brightened by the fact that other movements to the same end are already on foot. President Baer has expressed his opinion that coal will be mined in ample time and quantity to supply the New York market, an indication that he believes one or both sides to be tired of the struggle. The vice president of Lackawanna wants to meet some of the miners, and President Mitchell has been very active for a week trying to reach some conclusion.

Nevertheless, President Roosevelt's entrance into the field as a peacemaker is timely and commendable. Though confined to the house by the injury to his leg, he is as active as ever in looking after the welfare of the country. He might have acted sooner had he been able to find any authority to compel compliance with his wish to have the strike ended. His personal influence, however, should go a long way toward securing results.

THE COST OF THE STRIKE.

It is estimated by those who are given to reducing everything to dollars and cents that the profits on anthracite coal lost to the mine owners during the term of the strike foot up a total of $50,000,000, and that the wage earners have lost about $20,500,000. The damage to the mines is estimated at $10,000,000, and the cost of policing them at $2,000,000. This makes the actual total loss to the disputants $82,500,000—a large sum of money. There are other losses that cannot be so easily reduced to figures. There are industries dependent on the operation of the mines that have come to a full stop, bringing their owners to the verge of poverty, if not to actual want. There are groceries and meat stores and other stores that suffer from a lack of patronage. There are retail coal dealers in near and in distant cities, towns and villages who are left without coal to sell, and who find a part at least of their livelihood gone. Their patronage of the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker, the furniture dealer and the clothing merchant is moderated by their decreased incomes. And so it runs, up and down the scale. Owing to the great prosperity of the country the ill effects of the idleness of these 147,000 miners has been lightly felt by the general population outside the anthracite coal regions, but it has had its influence on their fortunes, and it cannot go on in the face of approaching winter without having a larger effect. The whole present loss cannot be stated in a row of arabic numerals preceded by a dollar mark. The losses suffered by operators and miners is a mere starting point. The coal that would have been mined during the progress of the strike had the mines been operated would approximate at points of delivery to consumers a value of $200,000,000. Even this will not represent the total loss to the country. Contingent losses are always considerable. It is a fearful drain on the national prosperity, and it is time to stop it.

With "Bill" Devery camping on the trail of D. B. Hill the New York Democratic campaign will be considerably more of a circus than Tom Johnson ever dreamed of.

Miss Stone should not undertake to resume her missionary labors without having a ransom syndicate in good working order before she starts.

It is very evident that the president's interest in national affairs is not limping any as a consequence of his sore leg.

With coal at $20 a ton it is not difficult to determine who is getting the worst of the present situation in the anthracite field.

The prince of Siam, who is coming to America in October, will hardly attempt to follow the Duke Boris' trail.

Dr. Parkhurst has come home from Europe with a new bunch of suggestions and a badly disarranged liver.

Mr. Hanna's "stand pat" advice does not include the fellows who are holding only a pair of deuces.

It is not likely that Mr. Devery's opinion of the Saratoga convention would look well in print.

Saratoga doubtless feels that some other town should be given a chance to make political history.

Secretary Root declines to be pushed out by the rumorists.

DEVERY SIMPLY PING-PONGING

Now He Threatens to Take the Bat and Play Real Ball—Still Popular.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 1.

After settling the Democratic convention in an uproar, W. S. Devery is on his way home from Saratoga. What will happen when he gets to the Ninth district and has time to realize the full import of the insult he has suffered in being barred from the convention notwithstanding that he got the votes to elect him delegate, may be inferred from the remark credited to him this afternoon: "These fellows up here (in Saratoga) that are knifing me don't know Devery. Why, I've only been ping-ponging. Wait until I begin to play ball and get to the bat." His followers around the "pump" are ready to give their leader a tremendous ovation. Whatever may be the facts with regard to the alleged buying of votes in the Ninth district, there is no doubt that "Big Bill" is one of the most popular men on the West Side tonight. The feeling among the residents of his district is that he has been shamefully cheated, and no one doubts that he could head a parade of several thousand men if he cared to show his strength in that way. Devery is fond of display, and perhaps he will do something of the kind. It is certain that the end of the controversy in his district has not been reached. The convention hit on an easy way of escaping from an embarrassing situation, and, with David B. Hill as the principal mover, there was no time for an effective protest. But it must be settled whether W. S. Devery or Frank Goodwin were elected. It was not pretended by the convention that neither of them was entitled to a seat as a representative of the district; only that the convention could not decide between them. Things look bright around the "Four Corners" tonight. Devery may come at any time, and his henchmen want him to feel that they have not become dispirited by his reverse. It is only temporary, anyhow, they argue, and that will be Devery's position when he gets back.

General Opinion of Police Reform.

Three men—Thomas Tobin, Alexander McInearny and Robert Kelly—were held today for murder at the coroner's inquest into the death of the man Craft, killed in the Empire hotel in the Tenderloin on Saturday last. There could not have been any other outcome of the inquest, for the crime was practically confessed by all of them. The house where the crime was committed is still dark, but people in the neighborhood say that no doubt it will be rumbling again as soon as the excitement has died down. That is the general opinion of police reform in this city.

Chimpanzee in Evening Dress.

One of the social incidents of this afternoon was a reception given by "Esau" at a Broadway hotel. "Esau" is a chimpanzee and he is said to be one of the best mannered specimens of his race extant. He was attired in a white vest, swallow-tailed coat and other habiliments of a gentleman in the evening, and he took luncheon with a select company of doctors and others. Lest there may be any criticism of "Esau" for wearing evening clothes in the afternoon, it may be explained that he used to live in Chicago. "Esau" is attached to the Bostock "Animal Arena," which is to begin a New York engagement at St. Nicholas garden tomorrow. Perhaps it was a press agent that invited the company to meet "Esau," although I have not heard that it was. At all events, the behavior of the gentle simian was above reproach, both at the table and when afterward he sat down to the piano and favored the company with a few improvisations of an entirely original character. There was a whisper that Harry Lehr would be present, but if he was no one recognized him.

Bankers at Theater.

Chairman J. Edward Simmons and Secretary Louis Pierson of the entertainment committee of the New York State Bankers' association, to be held in New York, October 9 and 10, have made arrangements to convert the Casino theater building into a pyramid of electric light on the first evening of the convention. The bankers expect to attend "A Chinese Honeymoon" in a body and Delmonico will serve a banquet in the theater during the intermission and after the final curtain. The drop curtain will be festooned with various colored electric lights in a novel design, say the management, and there will be other features to make the bankers talk. Several Pittsburgh bankers will attend the convention as guests of their New York brethren.

Coler's Selection Good Politics.

The selection of Bird S. Coler, former city comptroller, to carry the Democratic standard as candidate for governor, in opposition to Benjamin B. Odell, is regarded by everyone as good politics. A man with a clean record, independent in action and with wealth enough to place him above petty temptations, Tammany thinks it has the very best representative it could find, and probably it has. All the indications are for a white-hot campaign in New York state this year.

Miss Dressler's Illness Closes Theater.

The New York theater is closed. It shut up last night because Marie Dressler was too sick to play her part in "King Highball." This Rice offering has been hanging on at the New York for some weeks. Some people do not like it; others do, however, and it stems as if it was making enough money for the management to keep on. But when the buxom Marie declared that she was too indisposed to perform her usual stunts last night, the Sire Brog. decided to shut up shop, and there will be nothing doing for the rest of the week, except the getting in of the Hagenbeck animals, which will on Monday begin an engagement in opposition to Bostock at St. Nicholas garden, about a mile away.

An Irreligious Retort.

The Evening Telegram today publishes this, which I pass along without comment: "A Pittsburgh clergyman wants to know what is the cause of the decline in church-going. Why is it that so many men and women absent themselves from the regular services? Is it that they have lost religious faith? Don't know, neighbor, don't know. Still, look over the bunch that is dealing it out today. That might explain something."

Coffee Grower Not Satisfied.

It seems that Americans do not drink enough coffee. This is the expressed opinion of the internal conference of delegates from the coffee-producing countries at the coffee exchange today. The conference wants to hit on some plan for increasing the consumption of coffee so that it shall be equal to the production. It will be news to many persons that such a movement is necessary, considering that America has been called the greatest coffee-drinking nation in the world.

The Hebrew New Year.

It is estimated that more than 10,000 Hebrews gathered in the various synagogues in Greater New York at 6 o'clock this evening. At that hour began Rosh Hashana, the Hebrew New Year, and the services will last, with several intermissions, until the "Shofar" is blown at 6 o'clock tomorrow night. There was an effort on the part of leading Hebrews here to have a more expensive observance of the New Year than for some time past, and the demonstration tonight suggests that these efforts have been successful.

Great Demand for Wood Fuel.

With coal at a prohibitive figure, poor people in New York are more eager for wood that can be had for the carrying away than ever they were. Wherever there are stores and other places which receive goods in crates or packing cases, there will always be found groups of women and children waiting for a chance to get an armful of wood. They get a great deal, too. The big hotels help out a great deal in this respect. They get their fruit in large quantities in crates, and these crates are always snapped up eagerly by the women and children from the tenements. There are some persons, generally Italian women, who make a business of collecting wood and cutting it into convenient size for kindling. They sell it at a few cents a bundle and make a tidy living from it. The scarcity of coal causes an unwonted rush for this wood now, and the Italian kindling vendors have to fight for all they get.

Talented Lacemaker in New York.

Among the exhibits at the women's exhibition in Madison Square garden next week will be some marvelously fleecy lace, duplicates of some curtains made for Queen Victoria, and which still drape windows in the palace. The lace was all made by one person, Mrs. Emma Robertson, who is now a resident of this city. She is a Scot, and she learned to make this cobwebby lace in her native country. The specimen she will have in the women's exhibition is bordered in a design uniting the thistle, shamrock and rose, while the stars and stripes fill the body of the fabric. Mrs. Robertson's lace work is fairly well known, having been exhibited at Buffalo and other cities.

Ambulances to Be in Better Hands.

A reform which has long been demanded in New York went into effect today. Ambulances of Bellevue hospital will be in charge of senior doctors, instead of the rattle-brained young fellows just graduated from medical schools who have been trusted with ambulances heretofore. A senior doctor is one that has seen six months' service in the hospital, which average 1,000 cases a day. The ambulance service has never been entirely satisfactory and it is thought the change will be highly beneficial. One of the diversions of the young fellows on ambulances is to rush a patient to the hospital before he has time to die, not from motives of humanity altogether, but because if the surgeon takes a dead person to the hospital he must pay a penalty of drinks to his colleagues. This custom works another way sometimes, in that a dying man is hustled toward an undertaker's instead of the hospital, on the assumption that he will die before the end of the trip. The change in the ambulance surgeons may not remove this unpleasant feature of hospital service, but it surely will have a tendency to efface some of its offensiveness.

Molineux Trial to Begin Monday.

It is probable that the Molineux murder trial will begin on Monday next. Osborne, assistant district attorney, who obtained the conviction of the defendant at the last trial, complains that he cannot find all the witnesses he requires, but believes he will be able to proceed with the case on Monday, notwithstanding. Judge Barrett was expected to be on the bench for the trial, but his health is bad and someone else may preside. Molineux, in the Tombs, is said to be exceedingly cheerful, being convinced that he will be acquitted, while Osborne seems none too sure of conviction.

Mascagni's Musicians Land.

Sixty-five of Mascagni's musicians arrived in New York today on the Italian liner Nord America. Most of them were seasick. They walked down the gangplank, each with his violin or other instrument under his arm, and seemed glad enough to be ashore to play a psalm of rejoicing there and then. Mascagni himself, with his vocalists, are expected to arrive on the Philadelphia on Saturday. He will open at the Metropolitan opera house on Monday next.

Enthusiastic Horse Show Despite Mud.

White Plains has a horse show, and although it poured with rain all day and mud on the roads was something appalling, a great many New Yorkers went to the show in automobiles, four-in-hands and by other means of locomotion. The mud in the field and track was up to the ankles, and the whole scene was dismal, so far as weather conditions could make it so. It was the West Chester county horse show. There were enough enthusiasts present to make the weather only a secondary condition, however, and the managers said it was "a very successful opening."

Working Policy Game on Children.

That New York has more and varied styles of wickedness than any city in the east has often been said and never earnestly denied. Over in Williamsburg there are mean rascals who cheat school children by the old policy game. The police raided a house today, where they found several children, besides adults, buying policy slips with the assurance of old hands. It is comforting to know that the keeper of the den is in jail and likely to stay there for a while.

Third-Rail Trains Popular.

Third rail electric trains began to run on the Sixth avenue "L" today between Fifty-eighth and Rector streets. It is expected that the rest of the division will soon be served with the new trains, although the company is proceeding cautiously, sandwiching the electric trains between those drawn by steam engines. The cars are commodious and well lighted and the public is disposed to like them. Fifty-eighth street on the Sixth avenue line is at the end of what used to be the main line, but is now only a "spur." The main line runs to One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street at the polo grounds. Influence of the Troops.

From the Wilkesbarre Leader.

Now that the troops have been called out here in Luzerne county the people ought to feel a sense of security such as they have not felt for some time. They will harm no one who doesn't deserve harming and if there shall be no disturbances, no attempted violence, no intimidation and no molestation of the peaceably disposed—even though they be going to and from work—the soldiery will really have nothing to do. But the influence of their presence is wholesome and the whole community feels safe.

A Plain Duty.

From the Philadelphia Press.

The Republican ticket in Pennsylvania this year should receive not less than 600,000 votes. If that number is cast—and it will only be 25,000 more than Hastings had eight years ago—it will elect 28 Republican congressmen and leave the Democrats but four. It would be unpardonable in the Republicans of this state if the next house of representatives should be lost through their failure to do a plain duty.

PERSONALS.

A meeting of the division freight agents and commercial freight agents of the Pittsburgh and trans-Ohio divisions of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was held yesterday morning at the general freight office in this city. It is the intention to hold the meetings bimonthly, at which routine matters will be discussed. C. S. Wight, manager freight traffic, Baltimore; L. Rush Brockenbrough, general freight agent, Pittsburgh; A. P. Bigelow, general western freight agent, Chicago. Division freight agents, H. M. Matthews, Pittsburgh; W. L. Cromlish, Pittsburgh; O. A. Constans, Cleveland; C. T. Wight, Sandpsky; D. G. Gray, Columbus. Commercial freight agents, C. H. Harkins, Chicago; T. J. Walters, Pittsburgh; E. N. Kendall, Toledo; C. F. Wood, Cleveland; H. H. Marsh, Wheeling; W. E. Warburton, Akron, and Charles M. Lanning, Detroit.

Senator M. S. Quay left on the Limited last night for the east. He was unaccompanied, but was met at the depot by Congressman W. H. Graham of Allegheny and F. M. Willock, local oil operator. Mr. Quay in a short conversation said he had enjoyed the celebration at his home in Beaver Tuesday, but was feeling very tired.

"What do you think of the local situation?" he was asked.

"The waters are troubled," he replied.

"What are the chances for the Republican state ticket?"

"I don't know, but I'm still for the ticket."

"Will you be in politics when you reach the three-score year and ten mark?"

"I hope not. I'm tired of it."

Further than this Mr. Quay refused to say anything.

Frank G. Rodgers, an insurance adjuster of Chicago, went out on the Limited last night, after spending a day in Pittsburgh. Insurance rates, already unusually high in Pittsburgh, Mr. Rodgers says are to be increased after January 1, 1903. "The rates over all the country are going up," said Mr. Rodgers. "During the past year there have been more disastrous fires in every part of the country than the insurance companies ever had to deal with before. Many of the companies have been heavy losers during the past year, and the necessity of raising rates to protect themselves is imperative. Pittsburgh has not had any real big fires for some months, but during the past few years this town has cost the insurance companies a barrel of money. The increase will be uniform and Pittsburgh will not suffer more than any other city."

L. C. Haas, general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, returned to Pittsburgh last night after spending two weeks in the Canadian woods.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Leo Riebling.

Leo Riebling, one of the best-known musicians in the city, died Tuesday night at his home, No. 824 Jacinda street, Knoxville. Mr. Riebling was 36 years of age and his whole life was devoted to music. He was an organist of note and was in charge of the organ at St. Andrews' English Lutheran church. For years he taught at Seton Hill academy, Greensburg, and was for a long time a member of the Pittsburgh orchestra. Mr. Riebling was a practical piano builder and was noted as an expert tuner all over the country. He married Laura Phillischody, the daughter of the late Maj. Phillischody of the South Side, who, with three children, survive him. His father is John Riebling, a piano dealer. He leaves two brothers and five sisters. The former are Otto Riebling of H. Kieber & Bro., and Walter Riebling, who is in business with his father. His sisters are Mrs. Robert Iverson of New York, Mrs. Julius Miller of New York, Mrs. Gus Knabe of Torrington, Conn., Mrs. Gus Wilkenning of Chicago, and Miss Beatrice Riebling, who is now in Europe.

Rear Admiral James E. Jouett.

Rear Admiral James E. Jouett, U. S. N., retired, died at his home, "The Anchorage," Sandy Spring, Md., early yesterday morning. He was 74 years of age and had a long and distinguished career. He was born in Kentucky and was appointed in the navy from that state. He was retired in 1880. The funeral will take place at 11 o'clock on Friday from the home of Col. J. M. Morgan in Washington, D. C. The interment will be made at Arlington with full military honors. Admiral Dewey and a number of prominent naval officers and also Senator Blackburn have been invited to act as pallbearers.

George B. Kennedy.

Attorney George B. Kennedy, a son of Judge John M. Kennedy, presiding judge of common pleas court No. 3 of Allegheny county, died yesterday morning at the family residence in Wilkins avenue, of typhoid fever. Attorney Kennedy, who was 27 years old, had been practicing law for the past three years, during which time he was connected with the law offices of Knox & Reed and later with the law firm of Patterson, Sterrett & Acheson. He was a brother of Attorney John M. Kennedy, Jr., who died suddenly about a year ago. Besides his parents, Mr. Kennedy is survived by one brother, David Kennedy, and a sister.

Charles T. Lemmon.

Charles T. Lemmon, stenographer of the Indiana county, Pa., court, died Tuesday at noon. Deceased was a member of the Masonic fraternity and also of Pittsburgh commandery No. 1, K. T. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. John H. Shoemaker of Rosston and Mrs. George Lloyd of Cincinnati, also by two brothers, M. H. of Galveston, Tex., and Thomas T., employed on The Gazette.

Calvin Pease Humphrey.

Calvin Pease Humphrey died at Akron, O., Tuesday night of apoplexy. He was born in Hudson, O., June 21, 1840, and was graduated from Western Reserve university in 1863. From college he went into the army and served as corporal in the Eighty-fifth Ohio regiment and as lieutenant in the Eighty-eighth. He gave particular attention to the practice of law, in which he made a wide reputation.

Obituary Notes.

Word has been received in Pittsburgh of the death of John M. Stupy, formerly of Allegheny, at Wilmington, Ill., on Tuesday. He was a brother of Charles B. and William H. Stupy.

Evan J. Williams died yesterday at the home of his brother, corner of Eighteenth avenue and Mifflin street, Homestead. He was 20 years old and had lived in the borough most of his life. His parents and one brother survive.

"FOGHORN" KELLY MET HIS MATCH

An Indiana Orator Likened Unto a Windmill Run by Water.

Northern Indiana is being regaled with stories about the late Hon. Freeman Kelly of De Kalb county, who twice ran for congress in that district, and who served in the legislature, says the Indianapolis News. Kelly had a remarkable voice, noted for its strenuousity, and in later years he earned the sobriquet, "Foghorn" Kelly. It is said of his voice: "The first note he struck was a deep bass; each succeeding note a deep bass, and he always wound up in a deep bass." It was his custom, as soon as he began to warm to his subject, to pull off his coat. Then he would drop his vest, and, in turn, his suspenders, while his mighty arms would paw the air and his body would writhe as he delivered his philippics, until the sweat poured from every pore.

Almost with each sentence Kelly would drink immense draughts of water, emptying a tumblerful almost at one swallow. He was fond of joint debate with his political enemies, and his repartee could not be despised, so that usually he was a formidable competitor, no matter who might be pitted against him.

Occasionally, however, he met his match, and once a farmer knocked him completely out. He was addressing a crowd of farming men, and was describing his earlier life on a farm, with the intention of enlisting their sympathy. "Why," he shouted, in his deepest bass, "I was born on a farm, and was raised between two rows of corn." "A pumpkin, by gosh," shouted a ruralist. The audience saw the point, and Kelly was down and out.

Judge Woodhull, noted for his stinging sarcasm, once met Kelly in joint debate in Steuben county. Kelly had the opening argument, and he lashed his opponent with all the eloquence at his command, and as it was a hot day, he drank great quantities of water at the end of each period. When it came his turn to face the audience, Woodhull quietly remarked: "In the last hour I have observed a phenomenon in mechanics which no doubt has attracted your attention as well as mine. It is the first time in my life that I ever say a windmill run by water." The audience shouted approval, and once again Kelly was down and out.

BULLET AS A TIME SAVER.

"A whole lot of ideas with which we grow up change when we get into another country," said a New York man who had just come back from a three-months' trip in the southwest, to a Sun reporter. "Now, one of the things we have heard of all our lives is that if a man's hat blows off he is a fool to run after it, for there is always somebody around polite enough to pick it up and hand it to the owner, if he has to walk a block to do it.

"I have seen it done. I have read about it more times than I have had hats. But it

Make a small cash deposit and we will gladly reserve any article you select. You can call for your purchase and make the remaining payment whenever it is convenient for you to do so.

NOW IS THE TIME. THIS IS THE PLACE GET INTO LINE EARLY

Every Man Should Read This

The largest stock of men's clothing ever bought at one time is now here. The Liberty Clothing Company negotiated for three weeks with the manufacturers, Warner Bros. & Co., of Buffalo, in order to secure this gigantic lot of clothing at the right price. It is the manufacturers' entire season's stock. And it contains such an enormous number of suits and overcoats that for the last ten days a large force of men have been kept at work assorting and marking these goods. You never in all your life saw such a pile of high class clothing. No other person ever saw such a sight. You need only to come here and take a look at the stock to realize that no other three stores could possibly afford such a variety. And as for prices, anyone with even half an eye can tell that this clothing is going at an average of one-third its value. From two to three suits for the usual price of one. Two or three overcoats for the usual price of one. That is the best way to put these values before you. And you can easily prove what we say by getting here with the crowd.

Everything is marked in plain figures. Make your own selection, if you wish—you don't even need to talk to the salesmen. It requires no experience to detect a bargain in this instance, for every item in this mountain of clothing is a TREMENDOUS BARGAIN.

This sale starts this (Thursday) morning, and continues till every garment here is sold. Come as soon as you can to the store of the Liberty Clothing Co., 646 Liberty street, corner Sixth avenue (not Sixth street).

The Prince Henry Overcoat is going to be very popular this season. Fact is the fellows who follow the fashion will simply have to have it. Fortunately it is a style very becoming to most men and is a mighty comfortable coat besides. Better have a look at the Prince Henry, anyway. We have them in all the leading shades. Our Sale Price is..... $9.98

Thousands of other Overcoats which we have not room to describe but everyone of which has particular merit and none of which can be bought elsewhere for anything near the prices at which we have marked them. Sale prices are $7.49, $7.85, $7.98, $8, $8.98 and $9.98.

Overcoats are very stylish this season—more attractive than for many years. Some of the leading styles are: Paddock, Prince Charles, King Edward, etc. Of course, all the intermediate styles are here also, and even if you already have a good Overcoat, it will pay you handsomely to attend this sale and put the new Coat away for next year.

A Hint of the Size of This Stock

You can gain an idea of the immensity of this stock from the fact that before putting it on sale an architect was called in to ascertain if the building was strong enough to hold the goods. The Overcoat floor in particular is a sight worth coming miles to see. And every Coat in the collection is an artist's model. Don't miss seeing this wonderful array.

AN ENVIABLE RECORD COVERING 52 YEARS

Warner Bros. & Co. have been manufacturing tailor-made clothing for the past 52 years. They are experts in every detail of the business. Their chief buyer of materials, Mr. K. Greenberg, has no superior. His knowledge of the business is so thorough that he invariably secures the most desirable fabrics of all kinds. Not only is he always determined to have the BEST of cloths, but he is just as particular as to the linings and trimmings. Then, as the tailoring is always of the highest class, the clothing of Warner Bros. & Co. naturally has no equal. The only way to imitate it is to have a merchant tailor copy it in all particulars. But this would cost you three or four times the prices at which you can now buy at this sale at the store of the Liberty Clothing Co.

FAME of the MANUFACTURERS OF THIS CLOTHING

Warner Bros. & Co. are known throughout the length and breadth of the United States as the manufacturers of the finest tailor-made clothing. Merchant tailors are fond of imitating this firm's styles, because Warner Bros. & Co.'s clothing is recognized as the most desirable to be had at any price. And if everybody knew the truth, a good many merchant tailors would be obliged to go out of business. Not only because they cannot possibly make as stylish clothing as this famous concern, but everyone must admit that it is impossible for merchant tailors to compete in prices.

Just consider, then, what it is to get this elegant clothing for a third regular prices. Just estimate how much you have gained when you get one of these splendid suits or overcoats for your own use. Whether you have been wearing this kind of clothing or not, one thing is certain—you will always want it after securing a suit or overcoat at this sale of the Liberty Clothing Co.

Exposition visitors will save enough by attending this sale to more than pay all their expenses. Persons who cannot possibly get here in time should order by mail, giving size and full particulars. The goods will be shipped by express immediately. But do not fail to come if it is within your power. You'll remember this sale as long as you live.

COL. QUAY GOES EAST

Conferred With Several Leaders Yesterday—J. O. Brown Harps on His Republicanism—Great Rally of Citizens Tonight.

Senator M. S. Quay, in his capacity as state chairman of the Republican party, spent a busy day in Pittsburgh yesterday. He came up from Beaver, where on Tuesday he celebrated the sixty-ninth anniversary of his birth with his family, in the morning, and at 9 o'clock last night left over the Pennsylvania for Philadelphia.

Senator Quay made no statement as to his purpose in visiting Pittsburgh, following his usual custom of giving no interviews, but there is no doubt that the intent of this visit was to look into the connection of the Allegheny county machine with the "Grimes Muddy Water" party. That Senator William Flinn is the real backer of this scheme, which, masquerading under the high-sounding title of Ballot Reform party, seeks to secure a few votes for the ring ticket and to sacrifice for that purpose the state Republican ticket, is not doubted. That other members of the local ring are connected with this double-dealing is suspected also, since Senator Flinn's retirement is an enforced bluff.

Both Recorders Called.

Among those who called on Senator Quay yesterday were Recorder J. O. Brown of Pittsburgh and Recorder John S. Murphy of Allegheny. Samuel C. Grier of Allegheny was about to send his card up when he saw several newspaper men and decided that he was going to call on William Witherow, proprietor of the Duquesne. "I did not intend to call on Senator Quay. I am out of politics," he said, soberly.

Robert McAfee, formerly director of the department of public works in Allegheny, was another caller. County Recorder George M. von Bonnhorst and Col. Samuel Moody, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh, also called.

About all Senator Quay would say was that everything is progressing satisfactorily in the Republican campaign and that the reports all point toward victory.

Recorder Brown seems to be quite optimistic these days. He says he believes nothing can stay the march of the Republican party in the state, city or county. He incidentally says that Pennypacker will be elected governor of Pennsylvania, and denies that the machine is going to scratch him for Robert E. Pattison, the Democratic candidate. He declines to talk about the Ballot Reform party for publication.

J. O. Brown Talks Republicanism.

"I am a very busy man just now," said Recorder Brown yesterday. "I have a disease. I have it in every bone and sinew. This disease is the Republican party. I am working for it, body and soul. I have not lost any of my enthusiasm. I am for the whole ticket from the top to the bottom."

"Will the organization vote for Pennypacker? Is there a movement on the part of the city or county organization to vote for Pattison?"

"I am satisfied there is no such intention. The members of the Allegheny county organization are Republicans, and they will not vote for Democratic candidates for anything."

"Will Pennypacker get as many votes in this county as do the county candidates?"

"He certainly will," said Recorder Brown. "There will be a big vote out this fall, and most of it will be for the Republican candidates, state, congressional, legislative and county. A large number of Republican ballots will find their way into the ballot box this fall that were not there in the spring."

Recorder Brown was asked about the vice crusade, and said: "John McAleese is running the vice crusade and from what I hear he must be doing well with it. The town is shutting up tighter every day. Pittsburgh will be a tight city after a while."

Yellow Book May Reappear.

Recorder Brown had a meeting yesterday with Director A. H. Leslie and Adolph E. Edis and L. B. Cook, organization candidates for the legislature in the seventh district. Shortly after that meeting there was another conference between the recorder and Supt. John McAleese and Supt. Philip Demmel of the bureaus of police and detectives. The important part the police department has in the campaign is shown in the removals that are being made nearly every day. Policemen suspected of disloyalty to the organization ticket can expect to lose their positions.

There were rumors yesterday that the yellow book was again to make its appearance, and it was believed that it had a place at the conference with the legislative candidates. It is argued that those who favor the machine will have no objections to signing the book, and that those who do not will refuse to sign. There is an uneasy feeling that many of the employes are disloyal to the machine ticket, but are keeping it closely to themselves. It is hoped that the yellow book dodge will smoke out these people and make it easy to adjust them to the sliding board.

Many Citizens Meetings.

The Eighteenth ward headquarters of the Citizens party were opened last night at No. 5200 Butler street. Several hundred voters met H. Kirke Porter, candidate for congress, and other candidates. A ward organization has been formed with Mark Lydon as chairman; A. M. Miller, vice chairman; John Mellor, secretary.

A largely attended meeting of Citizens party workers was held at the Bane schoolhouse on the hilltop last night. The issues of the campaign were discussed by City Controller John B. Larkin, George H. Stengel, Thomas Costello, J. Boyd Duff and Joseph H. Vitchestain.

There was a large gathering of Citizens party enthusiasts in Dewey hall, Hays station, last night. The speakers were James W. Brown, candidate for congress, and J. B. Hershey, J. Denny O'Neil, A. J. Duffy, R. H. Heath and Thomas Costello.

The Citizens of Wilmerding turned out in large numbers last night to attend a Citizens party mass meeting held in the First district schoolhouse. The speakers were Samuel G. Bailey, W. S. Woods, John Pierce, Jacob L. Wehn and C. A. O'Brien. The Welsh miners' choir, from the anthracite coal regions, sang several campaign songs and were warmly received.

Meetings Scheduled for Tonight.

Many Citizens party meetings will be held tonight in various sections of the county. Besides the meeting at Kenwood Lawn pavilion, there will be a mass meeting at Hoods' hall, Carnot postoffice, to be addressed by J. W. Brown, S. G. Porter, George H. Stengel, Joseph H. Vitchestain; at Verona, in Crookson's hall, to be addressed by W. S. Woods, R. T. McElroy, S. G. Bailey and J. Robert Wright, assisted by the Welsh miners' choir; at Coultersville, in Snedden's hall, where the speakers will be T. C. Jones, J. B. Hershey and A. B. Stevenson; at Glassport, to be addressed by E. M. Trich, J. P. Dunn and W. A. Carney, and at the Franklin schoolhouse, in the Eighth ward, where L. S. Levin, J. M. F. Foster, P. J. Donahue, H. A. Clay and James E. Evans will speak.

A Citizens mass meeting will be held in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, tonight, and tomorrow night there will be meetings in the Sixth, Thirteenth and Fifteenth wards.

Citizens party mass meetings are scheduled for tomorrow night at McKees Rocks, Aspinwall, Grant school, Third ward, Pittsburgh; Thirty-sixth ward auditorium, Brushton school, Thirty-seventh ward, and also in the Twenty-eighth ward.

The Democrats will hold a mass meeting tomorrow night in the Ralston school hall. The speakers will be W. H. S. Thomson, James M. Dunn, George H. Stengel and James E. O'Donnell.

Great Rally in the East End Tonight.

The East End will ring with Citizens party enthusiasm tonight. A mass meeting is to be held in the Kenwood Lawn pavilion, which will virtually mark the opening of the campaign in that section of the city. The meeting promises to eclipse in size the opening meeting at Old City hall, two weeks ago. The list of speakers includes some of the best-known champions of reform in the city. They are Councilmen R. H. Douglas, Dr. George W. McNeil, D. J. Boyle, W. B. Rodgers, Thomas M. Brown, H. Kirke Porter, candidate for congress; Daniel Ashworth, W. M. Randolph and Maurino Cancelliere.

A street parade will precede the meeting over the principal thoroughfares of the East End. It will have the usual accompaniment of red fire, transparencies and bands of music. The parade will consist of three divisions, composed of Citizens party workers of the Homewood, Garfield and Bloomfield districts.

The Bloomfield division will form at Main street and Liberty avenue, at 7 o'clock. Henry Nichols will be the marshal. The procession will be headed by the Commonwealth band. The Garfield division will form at Penn and Millvale avenues. George H. Hawksworth will be marshal. Music will be furnished by the Second Brigade band. The Homewood division will form at Brushton avenue and Mumford street. Isaac Shearer will be marshal. Homewood band will head the procession.

Machine Gatherings Announced.

The machine county organization announces the following meetings: October 15, Springfield public school, Thirty-first and Smallman streets; speakers, the Rev. J. H. Martin, James Francis Burke, Archibald Mackrell, the Rev. H. J. Williams. Thursday, October 23, Turner hall, Hamilton street, Allegheny; speakers, Congressman W. H. Graham, John P. Eberhart, Charles A. Bruehl and Archibald Mackrell.

The Democrats have arranged a meeting at White's hall, Carnegie, for Friday evening, October 10, and one at the Brushton schoolhouse for Friday evening, October 17. The speakers at the latter will be George H. Stengel, J. E. O'Donnell, Robert Mattern and A. B. Stevenson.

Joint meetings of the Democrats with the Citizens are to be held at the Sixth ward, Allegheny, school, Tuesday evening, October 14, and at the Wickersham school, Twenty-fourth ward, Pittsburgh, October 18. Speakers for these meetings will be assigned later.

NEXT WEEK PLAYS.

There Is but Promise of Interesting or Novel Attractions in Local Theaters.

William H. Crane will be seen at the Alvin in his now familiar dramatization of Edward Noyes Wescott's famous story, "David Harum." Special interest in this engagement is felt for the reason that it will be the last opportunity to see Crane as the lovable old horse trader. The actor will give up the role at the end of the present season.

"Mistress Nell" will be given at the Grand opera house next week, when the stock company will have the privilege of using Miss Henrietta Crosman's own version of George Hazelton's play. Miss Taylor will essay the dual roles of Nell and the rollicking Irish youth, while Mr. Ingersoll will play the king.

"The Bandit King," one of the strongest melodramas ever written and which has not been seen by the new generation of playgoers, will be the attraction at the Bijou next week, with John J. Farrell in the title role.

The attraction coming to the Empire theater next week will be "Hunting for Hawkins," which is described as "a big musical gaiety," and is said to be an exceedingly clever comedy with a clearly defined, consistent plot for basis.

It is a well-known fact that the world's greatest acrobats and gymnasts come from Germany. Among the greatest that that country has produced in recent years is the Stelling troupe that will appear at the Duquesne theater commencing next Monday night with the best of all vaudeville combinations, the Orpheum Show.

For the second week of the season, beginning next Monday, the Avenue theater management announces The Motto Girl, a European novelty and enigma that has created a furore in New York, and an accompanying vaudeville bill of unusual strength.

"The Morning Glories," which is owned and managed by Sam Scribner, a well-known Pittsburgh boy, will be at the Academy next week. The "Glories" has been one of the standard attractions at this house and one of the best burlesque shows on the road.

STILL FEVERISH IN WALL STREET

Stock Dealers Gradually Recovering from Monday's Nervousness.

MONEY BECOMES EASIER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 1.—There were traces of feverishness in the stock market today and constant variations in the course of prices all day, but the tone became quieter as the day progressed and affairs of the market showed a tendency to settle down to a normal condition after the excitement of the previous two days.

The rush on the part of those long on stock to take profits in the opening dealings this morning was entirely natural, considering the buoyant uprush of prices at the closing last night, and considering also the denials on the part of officials among the coal operators that there was any basis for yesterday's rumors of a settlement. These rumors continued to play a part in the market and the principal strength of the day was shown by the coal stocks, the buying of Reading apparently coming from inside sources. The same powerful interest was credited with the support of other stocks, notably United States Steel and Southern Railway and the sentimental effect of this buying was a potent factor in rallying the market from its opening depression.

All Coal Road Stocks Stronger.

The only actual news that became public before the close of the market concerning the strike situation was the invitation by President Roosevelt for a meeting with him of the representatives of the mine operators and the miners. The sympathetic effect of the buying of Reading, Southern Railway and United States Steel was manifest among the coalers generally, both anthracite and bituminous, and among several of the independent steel companies. But the buying was not pursued to a notably higher level and there were constant reactions throughout the day.

In the final hour the money rate ran up to the highest point of the day and induced considerable selling, making the closing easy and moderately active. Outside the stocks which made a show of strength during the day, final prices were at or near the lowest in many cases. Louisville lost an extreme 3 points and closed within a point of that, and St. Paul's loss amounts to 2 points.

Money Loosening Slowly.

The effect was manifest of the forces of relief for the money stringency and money was easier through the day, although pretty stiff at times. The disbursement of the October 1 payments of dividends and interest served to release some resources that were temporarily tied up and the payment of government interest due after October 1 was begun at the sub-treasury.

The banks were also in the market to some extent as lenders as a result of a release of a portion of their cash reserves held against government deposits. There was nothing in the nature of forced liquidation, therefore, but there was a manifest indisposition to replace at once loans liquidated on Monday which had figured in marginal accounts in the stock market. The realization was very general, in fact, that a crisis had been averted on Monday that was more dangerous than was appreciated at the time. The chastening effect of this influence was seen in the more sober character of the dealings in stocks.

The bond market was quiet and steady. Total sales, par value, $3,905,000. United States old 4s coupon advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

WEIDENFELD CONDEMNED.

Federal Judge Expresses His Opinion in the Peter Power Suit.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 1.—The text of the decision of Judge Amidon, of the United States circuit court, in the case of Peter Power and Camilla Weidenfeld against the Northern Pacific Railway Company, was made public today. Power sought to enjoin the Northern Pacific Railway company from transferring its stock to the Northern Securities Company. Weidenfeld asked to intervene as a plaintiff, alleging that he, and not Peter Power, was the owner of the shares of stock on which the suit was based. Judge Amidon dismissed the entire suit.

The judge severely censured Weidenfeld for instigating the suit through a dummy. He held that the action of the Northern Pacific company, in voting to retire its preferred stock, was perfectly legal.

LARGEST IN THE WORLD

McElveen's Furniture Establishment Is Noted for the Magnitude and Rare Beauty of Its Stock.

Pittsburgh has many distinctions, not the least of which is that the largest furniture house in the world is situated here. The establishment is McElveen's, occupying numbers 525, 527 and 529 Penn avenue. The business of the concern has been growing steadily for years, and during the past decade has developed so rapidly that one change after another was found necessary in order to secure adequate quarters for the accommodation of the firm's trade.

An annex, six stories high, with a frontage of 60 feet and a depth of 150 feet, was recently added to the main building and has just been opened. The main building is eight stories high, and it also has a frontage of 60 feet and a depth of 150 feet. Thus the annex represents an increase in floor space of exactly 75 per cent. As practically the entire floor space of the first five floors of the whole building is devoted to the display of furniture, this means that McElveen's show rooms occupy 90,000 square feet of floor space. And truly, it is a display worth seeing. Not so much because of the quantity of goods displayed, but because it furnishes such a complete exposition of all that is best in the furniture maker's craft as can be seen to such advantage nowhere else in the world. It is a liberal education in the art of housefurnishing to spend a few hours studying the various distinctive styles, each with a beauty all its own, and each here represented by its best types.

It is a well-known fact that the spirit of the people of each succeeding age has always found more or less graphic expression in the household furniture of the time. It is interesting, for instance, to compare and contrast the noble, stately, but, withal, somewhat pompous furniture of the Roman with the simple and strong, but no less beautiful, furniture of the Colonial period. There are resemblances and differences which clearly suggest points of similarity and points of divergence in the two peoples. Then contrast them both with the florid styles that prevailed in the days of the later French kings, Louis XIV., Louis XV. and Louis XVI.

All that is best and most beautiful will be found faithfully reproduced in its highest form at McElveen's. And you will see, too, how the artists of the present day have combined the old ideals into new forms of beauty, that are themselves, perhaps, the best expression of this most cosmopolitan country, in a cosmopolitan age.

Upon entering McElveen's the visitor is impressed by the air of elegance and refinement that pervades the entire establishment. In spite of the fact that the display on the first floor is general in its character, representing many widely varying styles of furniture, the arrangement is so artistic that there is no clashing of incongruous styles. Look where you will down the long aisles or across the spacious room, the effect is harmonious and pleasing. When you come to consider the articles separately you will note something in addition to the perfection of material beauty, of design, infinitely careful and painstaking construction and exquisite finish. These, of course, you will see, but you will also observe that each style is distinctive from any shown by other concerns and exclusive with this establishment. Perhaps that is one of the principal reasons why persons of originality and refinement prefer to buy their furniture at McElveen's.

It is a pleasant transition from the rather somber, if restful atmosphere of the first floor to the brilliance and sumptuousness of the second floor. This floor is devoted to parlor furniture. Here are complete suites for the parlor in almost bewildering variety; but each represents the best phase of some great designer's art, and each possesses an innate beauty and distinction of its own. Here, too, are many odd gold pieces, rarely beautiful gold cabinets and numerous other things that delight the heart of the visitor.

The second floor of the annex is given up to library chairs, leather couches, etc., in such variety and beauty that no adequate description could possibly be given. It is enough to say that as among persons of culture no other portion of the dwelling receives more careful and thoughtful attention in the furnishing than the library, so there is McElveen's spared neither pains nor thought to make this display in every way worthy.

The third floor of the main building is devoted to bed room furniture. The display includes complete bed room suites in mahogany, birch, maple and oak, worked into forms of beauty never before equaled. It is a revelation of the marvelous beauties nature has wrought with careless and prodigal hand beneath the rude bark of the forest trees. And it is a splendid triumph for the patient skill of the men who have not only rescued for mankind these inimitable creations of the Masterworker's hand, but have wrought them into beautiful and useful forms that at the same time give comfort to the body and esthetic enjoyment to the mind.

The third floor of the annex is devoted to iron and brass beds, odd pieces of bedroom furniture, chiffoniers, dressing tables, etc.

The fourth floor is given up to the display of dining room furniture in oak and other woods. Here in all the most pleasing and unique designs are dining tables, sideboards, buffets, china closets, etc.

The dining room furniture display also occupies the fourth floor of the annex. Here the materials are mahogany and weathered oak.

On the fifth floor the booklover will find much to interest him because of the unequaled display of bookcases, library tables, etc. And the business man who visits this department would by all means step over into the annex. For there he will find a truly remarkable display of office furniture. Some idea of the extent and character of this display may be gathered from the fact that there are represented 1,000 styles of office desks and 50 styles of office tables and directors' tables. No idea of office furnishment can be too elaborate nor too elegant to find its fullest realization here. And it is worth remembering that McElveen's office furniture possesses the same distinctive qualities that characterize the furniture in the other departments of this establishment.

On the sixth floor a corps of skilled workmen is kept busy getting goods ready for shipment.

The seventh and eighth floors are devoted to stock.

The building possesses its own electric lighting plant. To illuminate the vast floor space 3,000 incandescent lights are required, the power for which is generated by two immense dynamos and engines of 150 horse power.

This establishment is one of which Pittsburgh may justly be proud. Its proprietors have sought earnestly to make it in every detail as nearly a perfect furniture house as possible. And they have not lacked the most substantial evidences of the approval of a public whom they wish most sincerely to continue to please.

HARD FIGHT IN IDAHO.

Ex-Senator Shoup, Formerly of Kittanning, Republican Leader.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—On issues both national and local, Republicans and Democrats are fighting bitterly to carry the fall election in Idaho. Not only are there a governor and representative in congress to be chosen, but the legislature will name the successor to Senator Heitfeld. Both sides are confident of success. There is an entire lack of apathy in Idaho, even if it is an "off year."

Ex-Senator Shoup, formerly of Kittanning, who for many years led the Republican party of the state, is confident that the Republicans will regain control. So far he has declined to say whether or not he is a candidate for the senatorship in the event of Republican success.

PITTSBURGH CAPITAL HAS ERECTED A MODERN AND GIGANTIC INDUSTRY ON THE CONEMAUGH

The Columbia Plate Glass Company, composed of Pittsburghers, has its great modern plant at West Blairsville completed and operations will be started in a few days. The works, as shown in the cut, are located along the Conemaugh river. To the rear is a colony of homes for workmen. At the extreme right is the abandoned plant of the American Tin Plate Company. The Columbia factories are so arranged that the process of manufacture is continuous, the material starting with the batch house at the left end of the buildings and passing through one to the other without once being moved back, till it is placed in the warerooms in the last of the big parallel buildings. To the right of this is the boxing shop.

Erection of the works, after the plans of William Glyde Wilkins, engineer and architect, has covered a period of more than a year. The company has invested $1,000,000 in the enterprise. Samuel C. Grier, former delinquent tax collector in Allegheny, is president and John M. Conroy of Conroy, Prugh & Co., secretary.

I would suffer greatly after my meals with my stomach and heavy, dull pains, so that I was almost led to believe that I had heart trouble. One day a customer saw me suffering and recommended Ripans Tabules—in fact, gave me one. I felt so much relieved in a few hours that I sent to a druggist for some, and after taking another after supper and one at bedtime I arose the next morning feeling like a different person. I have always kept them in the house since.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rochester, Pa., Oct. 1.—Secretary Harry Pulliam of the Pittsburgh National league club dropped into towa today, bringing with him his bunch of hard hitters from the Smoky City, who were under instructions to take a game from the Rochester Athletic association team, the champion aggregation of ball-tossers of Western Pennsylvania. Mr. Pulliam and his bunch left town this evening convinced they couldn't beat the Rochesters unless they put Chesbro in the box.

It took even 11 innings to convince them they were up against the real thing, but the evidence was growing more overwhelming each time they went to bat. Cushman was on the rubber for the visitors and if he had not had the hardest hitters in the United States to back him up he would have had to chalk up one more defeat in his game record. The contest was a red hot one from start to finish and was witnessed by the largest crowd of the season.

The Spectators Were Wild.

In the first inning both sides were retired without a run. In the second the visitors were again unable to score, but the Rochesters secured one run, Mathay knocked an easy one to Cushman and was out at first. Then Miles meandered to the plate and soaked one of Cushman's curves for a home run. The yell that went up from the Rochester bleachers was heard at New Brighton, four miles away. Simpson went out on a grounder to Phelps, and Sebring pulled in Coleman's long fly.

In the first half of the third the visitors tallied once. Cushman hit to Simpson and was out. Beaumont reached first on a fumble by Lindsay. Burke flew to Mathay, scoring Beaumont. Sebring struck out. No more runs were scored until the sixth inning, when the visitors secured one and the locals two. Burke hit to Miles and was thrown out. Wagner hit safely to left. Sebring followed with a drive to middle, scoring Wagner. Merritt struck out. Phelps reached first on an error and Chesbro fanned. East reached first on Zimmer's drop of his third strike; Mathay was hit; Miles flew out to Cushman; Simpson fouled out; Coleman knocked the ball over the fence for a two-bagger, scoring East and Mathay. Shotwell hit an easy one to Merritt.

In the eighth inning the visitors tallied again, tying the score. Burke hit to left. Wagner flew out to Coleman. Burke was caught at third; Sebring hit to middle and Merritt to right; Phelps drove to left, bringing Sebring home. Chesbro flew out to Shotwell. This ended the run-getting, neither side being able to score in the three last innings. When Umpire List called the game on account of darkness.

Some Very Pretty Plays.

The game was a fast one and the brilliant work of both teams kept the fans in a continual uproar. The features of the game were the catch by Coleman of a fly against the fence and a fast double play by Chesbro and Zimmer. Simpson pitched a magnificent game, striking out eight of the hitters of the National champions, a feat very few pitchers have been able to do. Score:

BASEBALL NOTES.

The members of the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati ball clubs have accepted the invitation to see the performance at the Alvin theater tonight.

This will be Newsboys' day over at the ball park, and there will no doubt be a large turnout of the little fellows, who are the most baseball cranks and rooters for the champions. President Dreyfuss says he will make Newsboys' day an annual fixture in the future. The boys can secure tickets at the newspaper offices.

Down in Louisville they think they have a team that is a world beater, and yesterday President Dreyfuss received a telegram asking him to bring his champions there for a game on Sunday. If the game is played there will be a great reception in store for the Pirates, as the Louisville fans still have a warm spot for their old favorites.

Phillips, Hahn and Poole are the pitchers the Reds will use against the champions in the final series of the season, which starts at Exposition park this afternoon. Phillips has been a great friend of the champions this season, and he is more than anxious to score a victory. This trio of twirlers will give Clarke's crew a hard run for that record.

Dave Fultz has been secured by the Brooklyn club for next season. They have no jumper, as he went to Connie Mack and laid Brooklyn's proposition before him, thus giving the Athletics' manager first chance at his services. Connie wanted to keep Fultz, but could not meet the Brooklyn offer, and Davy was then given an honorable release from the Athletics. It would be better for baseball if there were more players of the Fultz type.

The year's batting averages for 1902 were as follows: National league, Pittsburgh; American league, Philadelphia; Eastern league, Toronto; American association, Indianapolis; Western league, Kansas City; Southern league, Nashville; Connecticut State league, New Haven; Three-I league, Rockford; New York State league, Albany; California State league, Oakland; Pacific Northwest league, Butte; Northern New York league, Malone; Otoro State league, Natches.

IN VERY BAD SHAPE.

State's Eleven in No Condition to Tackle Pennsy.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., Oct. 1.(Special.)—The State College football team is in hard luck just now, and the prospects for the game with Pennsylvania on Saturday are rather gloomy. Last Saturday Forkum was hurt and has been out of practice all week. Quarterback Hewitt sprained his knee on Monday and is in bad shape, and today Fullback Smith was hurt. Guard Junk and and Left End Beisicker are also on the hospital list. Of the old men Cummings is putting up a good game at center, while Junk is playing better than last year. Among the new men who are showing up well this week are Selee at tackle, and McIlvee at half back. On the whole, the men are doing as good work as possible so early in the season, though there is still a lack of good team work. Coach Golden will help the men at herd practice until they leave for Philadelphia on Friday.

THE TRAP EXPERTS DO CLEVER WORK

RAIN AND HIGH WIND PREVENT PERFECT SCORES.

Many Out of Town Shooters Attended West Side Gun Club's Tourney.

Bad weather marked the opening day of the fall tournament of the North Side Gun club. The rain and high wind prevented high scores. Forty starters faced the score. Shooters were present from New York city, Rochester, N. Y.; Fulton, N. Y.; New Castle, Ruffs Dale, Irwin, Punxsutawney, Brownsville, Rodfield, Sewickley, Ravenna, O.; Blairsville and Butler, Pa.

Wenona, the celebrated wing shot, did fine work in the sweepstakes. She also gave a fine exhibition of rifle and revolver shooting.

A large crowd is expected on Thursday to witness the contest for the bronze medal which represents the championship of Western Pennsylvania between L. B. Fleming, holder, and W. L. Harper, challenger. Shooting will commence promptly at 9 o'clock.

The high average for the day was made by Harry Watson of Sewickley, whose record was 162 out of 175. Lew Fleming was second with 156 out of 175, and Atkinson of New Castle was third with 155 out of 175. Shaner of New Castle was fourth. This is considered good work, particularly as there was a very strong wind blowing across the range.

BASEBALL RECORD BROKEN.

Game Was Played in Fast Time of Forty-five Minutes.

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—A baseball game which broke a record of 41 years was played to this city today between the Atlanta Southern league and Knoxville teams.

These two teams played a full nine-innings game in the remarkable time of 49 minutes, breaking a record which was made on the old Excelsior grounds in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1861, by exactly one minute. Henly, the star pitcher of the Southern league, who has signed to pitch for the Pittsburgh National league team next season, was the slab artist for the Atlanta team. He gave but one hit in this game, and only 28 batsmen faced him in the entire nine innings. The game resulted in a victory for Atlanta by a score of 2 to 1.

President Dreyfuss said last night that while Pitcher Henley had been recommended to him by many people, he had not signed him for the Pittsburgh team. He also said he knew Henley to be a good twirler, and was sure he had been signed by the New York club.

PLAYED IN THE RAIN.

Women Golfers Show Good Scores on Poor Grounds.

BROOKLINE, MASS., Oct. 1.—The women golfers played the first round today in a heavy rain. The playing was very strong and not one of the 16 matches was decided before the 14th green was reached. Mrs. E. A. Manice, the metropolitan champion, was defeated by Mrs. Walter M. Gorman of Philadelphia, which was the surprise of the tournament so far. A number of interesting matches were played and the sport enjoyed by a small crowd of spectators. The drawings for today are:

Miss Margaret Curtis vs. Miss Pauline Mackay, Miss Mollie Brownell vs. Mrs. W. M. Gorham, Miss Bessie Anthony vs. Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, Miss Genevieve Hecker vs. Miss Ruth Underhill, Miss Louisa A. Wells vs. Miss M. B. Adams, Miss M. W. Phelps vs. Miss Fannie C. Osgood, Miss F. L. Vanderhoof vs. Mrs. William Shippen, Mrs. C. F. Fox vs. Miss Georgianna Bishop.

COLUMBIA WILL TRY AGAIN.

Old Cup Defender Will Be Put in Commission.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—It has been ascertained beyond the possibility of a doubt that the cup defender Columbia, owned by former Commodore J. P. Morgan, N. Y. Y. C., will again be placed in commission in the early spring to become one of the trial boats for the new yacht that will be built by the Herreshoffs, if the races for the trophy take place, as announced, next season.

MEETS BOBBY DOBBS.

Fred Broad Starts East for His Fifteen-Round Bout.

Fred Broad of New Kensington meets Bobby Dobbs tonight instead of Pepper Griffin at Meyersdale in a 15-round contest to a decision. Dobbs has been in training at Baltimore and is in good shape. Broad left last night looking in good condition along with a few friends. They will meet at catchweights for a good sized purse.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 1.—Tufts college repeated history today, scoring a touchdown on Yale. last year they did it also. The score today was, Yale 34, Tufts 6. The game was interesting, giving indications of how effective the big rush line will be in interference. Glass, Hogan, Hamlin and Coffin gave the backs good protection. Shevlin's individual play in the second half was the best, carrying the ball 65 yards to a touchdown and fighting his way through the whole Tufts team. To do this was a remarkable feat. Again just before the game ended he ran 33 yards with two tackles clinging to him.

In the first half Metcalf used the backs, Chadwick and Ward on end runs mainly, only occasionally giving Hogan and Hamlin a try. The second half was a line-bucking game mostly with Shevlin and McClintock doing the heavy work. The line-up:

Yale—34.		Tufts—6.
Glass		O. Galeroska-Forsythe
Goss-Sinney	Right guard	Hill
Hogan	Right tackle	McMahon
Coffin	Right end	Nason
Metcalf	Quarterback	McCarthy
Ward	Right halfback	McLow
Vanderpoele-
McClintock	Fullback	Knight

Umpire—W. S. Mott. Referee—H. S. Hammond, Yale. Linemen—Mr. Mullen, Mr. Tufts and Mr. Strong, Yale. Touchdowns—Chadwick, Hogan, Ward 3, Shevlin. Dunham. Goals—Ward 4, Knight 1. Time of halves—25 and 20 minutes.

SCORED ON A FUMBLE.

Porter, Bowdoin's End, Got the Ball and Made a Long Run for Score.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Bowdoin scored on Harvard this afternoon, little Porter, the plucky end on the Maine team picking up the ball on the five-yard line after a fumble by Graydon, and running the whole length of the field for a touchdown. Four or five Bowdoin men behind him and not a single crimson jersey got within 10 yards of him during his whole fight down the field. Bowditch chased hard to catch him but he was kicked off sideout the line and Bowdoin had a free kick. Marshall received it in the middle of the field and, without interference, he dodged everyone of the Maine boys and scored. He missed a hard goal and Bowdoin led at the end of the first half, 6 to 5.

In the second half Harvard had things more her own way, and scored twice in the 10-minute period. The line-up:

Harvard—17.		Bowdoin—6
Hovey	Left guard	Shaw
King-Force	Center	Staples
Shea	Right guard	Hatch
Knowlton	Right tackle	Balloom-Leavitt
Bowditch-Motley	Right end	Porter
Marshall-Elkins	Quarterback	Blanchard
Lindsay-Piper	Left halfback	Munro
Leadbeg-Penney	Right halfback	Winslow
Graydon-Meier	Fullback	Flen

Touchdowns—Porter, Marshall, Penney 2. Goals from touchdowns—Monroe, Marshall 2. Referee—Mason. Umpire—Cochrane. Timers—Graham and Wood. Linemen—Sullman, Harvard; Connor, Bowdoin. Time—15 and 10 minute halves.

PENNSY WON THE GAME.

Was Slow in First Half but Lively in the Second.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—The University of Pennsylvania football team defeated the Franklin and Marshall eleven today, on Franklin field, by the score of 16 to 0. Pennsylvania's playing the the first half was slow and she was able to make only one touchdown against her opponents. In this half the ball was secured by Pennsylvania on a fumble and by good line plunging they made the 25 yards between them and the goal posts. The second half proved to be more spirited, the red and blue players bracing up and playing hard in the line. The two touchdowns in the second period were made principally on the good work of the line men. The line-up:

Pennsylvania.		F. & M.
Stockwell (Collins)	Left guard	Spotts
McCabe	Center	Strohm
Bennett	Right guard	Reth
Dick	Right tackle	Bell
Metzgar (Thomas)	Right end	Luts
Howard (Dale)	Quarterback	Westman
Weisenfluh (Forther)	Left halfback	Gitt
Gardiner	Right halfback	Klihefer
Hare (Sloan)	Fullback	Horne

Touchdowns—Bennett 2, Gardiner 1. Goal from touchdown—Gardiner 1. Referee—E. P. Barnard. Umpire—Dr. Charles E. Scheff. Times of halves—20 minutes.

TIGERS' FIRST GAME

The Line Did Not Do Very Aggressive Work.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—In the first game of the season Princeton defeated the Swarthmore college eleven this afternon by a score of 18 to 0. The Tiger line was not very aggressive, and accordingly the gains through the Quaker team were usually small, in spite of the fast work of the back field. The line-up:

Shevlin-Cleveland	Center	Cooper
Barney	Right guard	Lippincott
Dewitt-Rafferty	Right tackle	Stewart
Henry-Bard	Right end	Satterthwaite-Bana
Burke-Vedder	Quarterback	Russell
Hall-Delaney-Kafer		Smith
Moore	Left halfback	Crowell
Hart	Right halfback	Crowell
H. McClave-Kafer	Fullback	Hall

Touchdowns—McClave, Moore 2. Goals from touchdowns—Dewitt 2. Umpire—John Dana. Referee—S. McClave. Timekeeper—George Goldie. Time of halves—20 and 15 minutes.

Altoona Defeated Wilmington.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 1.—(Special.)—After defeating Connie Mack's Athletics yesterday, Wilmington A. A., which won the $1,000 game from Brandywine, was easily defeated today by the locals. Altoona batted savagely and in the seventh drove Blough out of the box. Veil was in splendid form and with strong support would have allowed Wilmington but one run. His fielding, with Doherty's and Hinton's, was brilliant. O'Neill excelled for Wilmington. Score:

WORK OF PLAYERS PLEASES COACH

The Pittsburgh Team Had Fine Signal Practice and Given Lively Work.

Coach Richardson is particularly pleased at the rapidity in which the men are learning the signals, the boys seemingly taking up that portion of their practice faster than did the team of last season. An hour's time was spent in signal practice in the morning at the natatorium, the players lining up as follows:

After practice Richardson was so well pleased that he remarked that if the men kept on the way they have started, Pittsburgh ought to be represented by a splendid team. Kerkhoff again distinguished himself. The big guard runs as low as Richardson, strikes the line about three feet from the ground, and in practice he nearly knocked down the partition in the natatorium. He also appears to be a very level-headed player.

Davy Sheehan joined the squad yesterday and the veteran trainer went to work with the men at once, giving them tips about getting into condition, diet, etc.

The field was a regular pond, but that didn't bother the players, although it interfered with the catching of punts.

Manager Berry has made another important addition to the Pittsburgh eleven. A telegram was received yesterday from Edward H. Sherlock of Providence, R. I., accepting Berry's terms to play here this season. Sherlock is on old teammate of Coach Richardson, having played on the Brown university eleven two seasons. He was graduated from Harvard last June and while at the Cambridge university he and Daley, the best field general Harvard ever boasted of, had a spirited fight for the quarterback position. He was declared ineligible by the Harvard coaches in his junior year because of alleged professionalism. He is 23 years old and weighs 165 pounds. He can play any back field position and in addition can substitute at end if needed.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

The players of the Manchester team are requested to report Thursday evening at the Hollywood grounds. The uniforms have arrived and the manager wishes to have some brisk practice.

The Unique A. C. wants games for Saturdays and Sundays during October and November, with all strong 95 to 100-pound teams. Address C. J. Stock, 55 Pine street, Pittsburgh, South Side.

The 1905 Engineering football team of W. U. P., late in organizing, has its schedule not yet filled. All 130-pound teams desiring games address manager '05 Engineering team, Western university, Allegheny City.

The Maplewood A. C. of Wilkinsburg will have a strong team on the gridiron this year and would like to hear from any 85 to 70-pound teams in regard to games. Address Charles Spear, 125 Center avenue, Wilkinsburg, Pa.

The Pirate Jr. basketball team would like to arrange games with all 9 or 10-year-old teams. Address H. Blum, 540 Ohio street, Allegheny. The players are Waddell, Fee, Blum, A. Blum, Albrecht, Peiffer, Baird and Neeson.

The Bedford A. C. of the South Side will play the strong Quaker A. C. of Allegheny on Saturday at South Side Recreation park. Manager Wadlin wishes to have all players report for practice Friday evening at the park.

The Sycamore A. C. would like to hear from all 85-pound teams for October 4, and all Saturdays in October and November, on the Sycamore's new grounds. Will play half or more. Address Carl Stern, 704 South avenue, Allegheny.

The Meadow Tigers will play the Plymouth Indians on Saturday on the Plymouth grounds. All players will report for practice on Thursday and Friday. All teams wishing games with 65 to 70 pounds weight, address Tice Ryan, 29 Carver street, East End.

The manager of the West Lake would like to hear all players report for practice Thursday evening. West Lake will play Pittsburgh Reserves Saturday and would like to have a game October 11 with a 110-115-pound team. Address Lee Wanstel, Elliott street, city.

The Tin Kinder A. A. is being organized for the season. All of the old players, as well as a few new ones, will be found in the lineup. They would like to hear from all 90-pound teams, out-of-town teams preferred. Address D. Brickell, care of Shoenberger Steel Company, city.

The South Side High school second team will play the Allen A. C. at Recreation park, South Side, October 7. The S. S. H. S. would like to arrange games with all 60-70-pound teams. Address Ed. Evans, manager second team, care S. S. H. S., corner Tenth and Carson street, South Side.

The Glassport Juniors are without a baseball game for Saturday, owing to the Beaver A. C. cancelling. The Juniors would like to hear from some good club for a game at home. The Trafford A. C. or the Rustlers preferred. Full expenses for 11 men. Address P. E. Moore, box 17, Glassport, Pa.

The Madison Tigers will play the strong Allegheny Tigers on the Madison Tigers' grounds on Saturday at 3:30 p. m. As both of these teams are out for the 90-pound championship, a good game is expected. Any good out-of-town teams wanting a game for Thanksgiving Day address Thomas Newlan W. Myers, 112 Clarissa street, city.

The manager of the Quakers requests the following players to report Thursday evening, corner Irwin and Western avenue, at 7:30 o'clock: Jenkinson, H. Smith, Lanious, Farris, Irwin, Laughlin, Best, Brown, Henry, H. J. Smith, Ross, Wilson, Bittner, McCauley, Newberry, Drumm, Gillmore, Watson and Henderson. All strong 100 or 105-pound teams interesting games address Homer Roe, 113 East Jefferson street, Allegheny, Pa.

Swissvale will play the Lyceum team Saturday at 3:30 p. m. on the Swissvale grounds. Swissvale is in the field with the best team of its history, the team as at present weighing over 150 pounds to the man. The following men are requested to report for practice on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock: Marshall, Wills, Sands, Kelly, Houston, Moffit, Hughes, W. Carr, McKeever, Weigle, Petch, Wagner, Dowther, Porter and Cruikshank.

The Flavels of the East End will practice at the Larimer avenue grounds. All players must report promptly at 7:30. Flavel has not been scored against this season, so all players who expect to play the Lamonts. A hot game is expected, as several of the Lamont players are old Flavels, and are on to Flavel's quick, snappy style of playing. The game will be played on Lamonts' grounds, on Baum street. Flavel has a few open dates. For games address George Tierney, 512 Carnegie building.

The manager of the Admirals does not know what he'd do if he could not get a game with any of the football teams in and around Pittsburgh. The Admirals had games scheduled with Duquesne, Hazelwood and East Homestead, and none of these teams answered the letter. The Admirals are ready to play any amateur team in Allegheny county. Any team desiring a game for Saturday, October 4, or any Saturday except October 25, address F. McKnight, 8232 Second avenue, or Bell telephone 2417 King 2.

ALABARCH WON SELLING STAKES

Proved One of the Good Things at Gravesend Meet.

STEEPLECHASE A FARCE

Four Horses Went to Post and Three Fell in First Mile. Jockey Showed Pluck and Was Loudly Cheered.

New York, Oct. 1.—Alabarch, from the Drake stable, won the Fort Hamilton selling stakes for 3-year-olds at Gravesend today. The Albert gelding was at the odds of 12 to 1. Getting off in a good position, he lay in behind the leaders until the stretch was reached where Lyne, his rider, sent him to the front, and won rather handily by a length, with the outsider, Ascension, second and the second choice, Emshee, third. Anak in this race was played for a good thing, his price opening at 12 to 1 and closing at six. He was prompt to the stretch, where he was shut off and completely thrown out of the race. He finished last.

The steeplechase was a farce. Four horses went to the post and before the mile had been covered three horses fell. Hark Forward was first to come to grief while taking the Liverpool jump. Ferocious bumped into Philma Paxton, causing both horses to fall. Miss Mitchell won by half a mile, while Hark Forward was remounted and secured second money. Barry, the rider of Philma Paxton, was shaken up and Monahan, who was standing in the infield, remounted Philma Paxton and finished third. He was loudly cheered for his ride. The weather was cloudy and the track heavy. Summaries:

FLYING TORPEDO'S RACE.

Won from Fine Field and Showed Great Speed.

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—Flying Torpedo in the fourth race, at one and an eighth miles, at Harlem today, won easily over horses which heretofore have made him look like a selling-plater. Against this horse the judges at Hawthorne ruled several days ago, denying his entry in the future, and later modifying the order by allowing him to race over slow and muddy tracks. The horse had speed to spare today. He allowed Lacrimae, the 3 to 2 favorite, to race Ed Adack and when they began to stop, he forged to the front, beating Rolling Boer, two and a half lengths to the wire. The stake was worth $1,580 to the winner. The track was heavy and holding. Summaries:

First race, 5½ furlongs—Senator Morrison, 95, McIntyre, 6 to 2, won; Florentan, 95, Wilkerson, 15 to 2, second; Joe Buckley, 108, Robbins, 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:16 4-5. Style, Pericles, Prince of Endurance, Puredale, The Counselor and Laura F. also ran.

Second race, 5½ furlongs—Evelyn Byrd, 100, McIntire, 16 to 5, won; Lady Contrary, 101, Robbins, 9 to 2, second; Private Nolan, 103, Birkenruth, 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:17. Centerback, Chanton, Meraps, Alfred C., Gracious, Sand Clea and Herz also ran. Simon left at the post.

Third race, steeplechase, short course—Old Fox, 138, H. S. Wilson, 13 to 5, won; Helgrid, 142, T. Murphy, 7 to 1, second; Crest, 150, McAuliffe, 5 to 2, third. Time, 3:44. Dagmar, Harry E., Capt. Conover and Fearful also ran.

Fourth race, the Prairie stakes, 1¼ miles—Flying Torpedo, 112, Birkenruth, 13 to 2, won; Rolling Boer, 105, Buchanan, 4 to 1, second; Scotch Plaid, 95, Piersit, 9 to 1, third. Lacrimae, 108, Robertson, 3 to 2, fourth. Sutton, 95, Robbins, 40 to 1, fifth; Ed Adack, 98, C. Kelly, 9 to 2, sixth. Time, 2:09.

Fifth race, 5 furlongs—Lord Touchwood, 99, Hoar, 5 to 1, won; Judge Himes, 102, Robbins, 10 to 5, second; Hindi, 100, Coburn, 11 to 5, third. Time, 1:08 3-5. Rankin, Musical Slipper and Gold Bride also ran.

Sixth race, 5½ furlongs—Emma A. M., 100, Kelly, 11 to 1, won; Pierce J., 103, Hoar, 9 to 2, second; Ben Frost, 101, Helgeson, 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:16 1-5. Leviathan, Kazan, Julia Ortiz, Automaton and Little Jack Horner also ran.

SHARP CENSURE FOR PATTISON

EX-GOVERNOR RECKLESS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 1.—Ex-Judge Pennypacker today and tonight met the voters of the one-time Democratic stronghold of Lycoming county which the leaders hope to land this year in the Republican column with a substantial majority. Naturally Democratic by several hundred majority, but gradually becoming Republican, with the Republicans united this year on the state ticket, it is the belief of the leaders that Judge Pennypacker will have a good majority and that Congressman Deemer will win, notwithstanding the fusion of Prohibitionists and Democrats on his opponent, James Mansell.

With a large afternoon meeting at Montoursville, a reception at the rooms of the Young Republican club and a rousing mass meeting that filled the big court house in this city tonight, the Republican candidate for governor was justified in feeling gratified by his splendid reception and by the earnest united action of the Republicans of the county to anchor it in the Pennypacker column.

Brown Talks on Rapid Transit.

Judge Pennypacker again spoke on ballot reform at the night meeting and touched up the pharisaical denunciations of the Republican party by the self-conscious candidate of the Democratic machine. William M. Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor, also censured Mr. Pattison for his misleading statements about the rapid transit franchise.

The next governor and party made an early start from Huntingdon and made an hour's stop in Harrisburg, where Judge Pennypacker, Gen. Latta and J. Allan Leeds called on Gov. Stone at the executive mansion, and after a pleasant chat Mr. Pennypacker was shown through his future official home by Gov. Stone.

At Williamsport the party was met by a delegation of representative citizens, headed by County Chairman William Russell Deemer. Others in the reception committee were Congressman Elias Deemer, ex-Mayor S. N. Williams, ex-Mayor William G. Elliott, ex-County Chairman T. H. Culver, ex-County Chairman Lyon, John B. Coryell, J. A. Deemer, A. Niemyer, John K. Hayes, O. S. Brown, City Chairman Reno L. Gage, J. W. Lane, Charles R. Stearns, John H. Hunt, A. W. King, District Attorney W. H. Spencer, J. V. Brown, J. P. Reimeyer, James V. Bennett, James M. Kline, James B. Krause, Brua C. Keefer, City Treasurer E. L. Tyler, County Commissioner C. T. McClaren, Clarence Else, J. G. Coryell, C. B. Farr, James Daly, Harry Bubb, County Secretary H. W. Pries, ex-Judge Mitchell, John M. Wilson, H. Russell Hill, Capt. Evan Russell, Joseph C. Righter, W. C. Robinson, George W. Harter, George L. Stearns, James Wilkinson, W. D. Hotchkiss, S. M. Bubb and A. P. Feerley.

Accompanied by the committee, Judge Pennypacker and Gen. Latta without delay boarded a special trolley car and went to Montoursville, where an audience of several hundred Republicans gathered in the opera house gave the candidate a warm welcome. The Rev. J. G. Griffith presided at the meeting and lost no time in introducing Judge Pennypacker, who spoke briefly on the importance of supporting the Republican party, which had always been in the fore front of progress and reform.

Referring to the Democratic outcries over the alleged ills under which the Pattison boomers assert the state is suffering, Judge Pennypacker refuted the charges and said that according to the Democratic orators the only cure would be the election of a Democrat who was not born in the state and who had spent one-third of the past quarter of a century in the executive chair without having ever attempted to cure the ills of which he complained.

As a matter of fact, the judge urged, the Democrats, while dodging the real national issues, are simply using the alleged state issues as a cloak under which they hope to secure that which would enable them to secure control of the national government and to elect not only a Democrat but a free silver Democrat and an advocate of the Kansas City platform to the executive chair of the great Republican state of Pennsylvania and help to swell the Democratic representation in both the national senate and the house by electing a Democratic legislature and Democratic congressmen.

A Point for Temperance Folk.

Speaking of Prohibitionists, he urged that the Republican party, through the legislature, had passed a high license law which had reduced the licensed saloons in Philadelphia from over 6,000 to less than 2,000.

Speeches were made also by Gen. Latta and District Attorney Spencer. Mr. Spencer made a strong plea to the Republicans to support Congressman Deemer, urging that the Prohibition and Democratic candidate, James Mansel, could not be other than a Democratic congressman if elected on the Democratic ticket.

Prior to the night meeting there was a reception at the rooms of the Young Republican club, at which the gubernatorial candidate shook hands with several hundred prominent citizens.

County Chairman W. Russell Deemer opened the night meeting and ex-Judge Max L. Mitchell was made chairman. He said the candidates should be congratulated on having a Democratic county turn out such a large meeting, and in introducing Judge Pennypacker as the next governor of Pennsylvania, he elicited a hearty round of applause.

Judge Pennypacker repeated his ballot reform speech delivered at Butler and referring to the fake party backed by Flinn of Pittsburgh, said:

Ballot Reform Party Unnecessary.

We have heard in the course of this campaign a great deal about ballot reform. It seems to be a standing subject, and one that worries our friends on the other side very much. I see that recently a party has been organized in the state which is to be or has been called 'The Ballot Reform party.' It would look to me like a very unnecessary thing to organize another party. We have plenty of them, and especially on that subject. Because if there is anything on which all the people in both the great parties agree with one another, as far as I know, it is upon that particular subject.

The judge then reiterated his opinion of the exaggerated stories of election frauds. In concluding Judge Pennypacker said:

The gentleman who has been nominated for the governorship of Pennsylvania on the Democratic ticket will not be, in my judgment, the governor; and I say that in a spirit of kindly feeling, because I know him quite well and have known him for many years. I don't think that any man, at any time ought to be governor of this commonwealth who lacks faith in the intelligence and integrity of the people of Pennsylvania. I don't think, for that reason that he is deserving of the governorship. I do not think he has read the history of Pennsylvania. Coming here as he did from another state, I don't think he is sufficiently grateful for, or that he appreciates sufficiently, what has already been done for him.

I don't think that he understands exactly how it happened that he was elected on those two occasions. In what state of this country, in what Democratic state, did it ever occur that a man of opposite faith was elected to the chief magistracy in order to check the zeal of party friends? In what state in this country has the honor and honesty and integrity of the people ever before them to such heights? I think, too, he is too eager and too anxious. Like his party, running to and fro over the earth and walking up and down therein.

William M. Brown's Speech.

Candidate William M. Brown, speaking of the statements of Mr. Pattison regarding the rapid transit franchises, said:

Mr. Pattison has been talking all the time during this campaign about the Constitution. He talks almost continually on that subject and nothing else. Now, the constitution of Pennsylvania provides that no street railway shall be constructed, and that the legislature shall not give a franchise for the construction of a railway, without the consent of the local authorities in the municipality in which that railway is to be built.

I would like to ask Mr. Pattison how, under the constitution of the state, it would be possible for the legislature to receive anything for a franchise which it has not the power to grant? The legislature grants a charter; the local authorities grant the franchise. Does not Mr. Pattison know that what Mr. Wanamaker offered $2,000,000 for was a franchise granted by the Philadelphia authorities and not for the charter by the legislature? I believe Mr. Pattison is not strictly honest in the statement he is making on this subject.

In all their speeches, the Democrats are talking about national issues, tariff, trusts, Philippines, and even the public ownership of coal mines. Why is it? Because they are afraid, because they are not even agreed among themselves.

The meeting closed with a speech by Gen. Latta and an enthusiastic reception to the candidates. The party will go to Bellefonte tomorrow.

BETTER POSTAL FACILITIES.

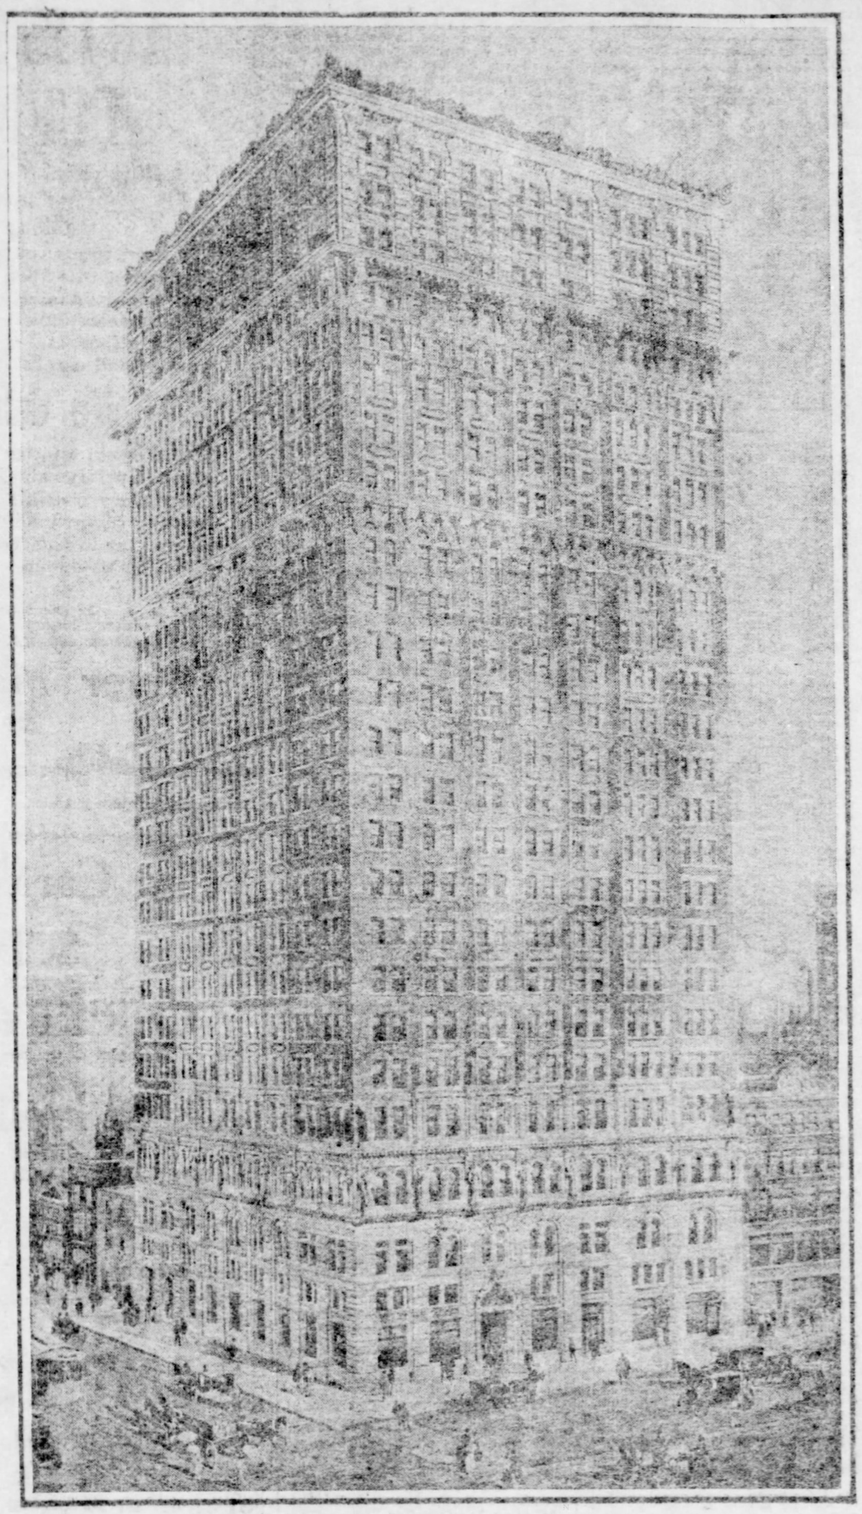
Arrangements Being Made to Improve the Local Service.

The facilities for collecting and distributing mail in the territory reached by the Pittsburgh postoffice is to be greatly improved by the end of this week. Twenty-six additional carriers are to be put to work collecting and distributing the mail, and a new schedule is now being arranged by James E. Cowan, superintendent of the city division.

Some of the new carriers were put to work yesterday, and it is expected that by Saturday all will be on duty. Of the new skyscrapers in the downtown district many will have a special carrier for each building. An order was also issued establishing foreign money order offices at the East Liberty, Wilkinsburg, Arsenal and Carson stations. The postal sub-station at Hazelwood was opened yesterday.

Pure Food Agents at Work.

Six persons were given hearings yesterday before Alderman John Groetzinger on charges of violating the pure food laws, by selling adulterated goods, made by Pure Food Agents F. M. Powell, G. N. Wilcox and E. D. Miller. The defendants were William J. Elster of stand No. 116, Pittsburgh market; W. Urwin of No. 418 East Ohio street, Allegheny; W. J. McCutcheon of stand No. 80, Allegheny market; H. F. Power of No. 704 Ann street, Homestead; H. Stehughauser of stand No. 5, Pittsburgh market, and Nicholas Mehr of No. 90 Southern avenue, Pittsburgh. Each was held in $300 bail for court.



FARMERS DEPOSIT NATIONAL BANK BUILDING.

The accompanying cut shows the Farmers Deposit National bank building, at the corner of Fifth avenue and Wood street, as it will appear when completed. With the Keenan lot included, as shown in the cut, the site will have a frontage of 120 feet in Fifth avenue and 140 feet in Wood street. The building, with its 24 stories, will be one of the four highest skyscrapers in the world. Work has now progressed to the 21st story with few serious accidents and with remarkable speed, considering the delays that have resulted from the non-arrival of building materials. The entire building will contain 598 offices, which are being leased by Samuel W. Black & Co. Applications have already been filed for over half of this number and several of the largest concerns in the city are negotiating for whole floors in the skyscraper.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 1.—River 4.4 feet and rising. Local packets in and out on time. No towboat movements. Business dull.

LOUISVILLE—River rising; canal, 3.4; falls, 1.2; foot of locks, 3.7. Business good.

HUNTINGTON—River 5 feet and rising.

MARIETTA—River 3 feet 3 inches and rising. All local packets will likely resume.

WHEELING—River 2 feet 11 inches and stationary.

OIL CITY—River 7 inches and rising.

GREENSBORO—River 7 feet 1 inch and stationary. Woodward down Thursday; Columbia and Gertrude up.

PARKERSBURG—River 3.2 feet and rising. The Beasie Smith left at 6 p. m. for Wheeling.

POINT PLEASANT—River 2 feet 2 inches and falling.

GALLIPOLIS—River 4 feet 6 inches and rising.

STEUBENVILLE—River 2 feet 6 inches and stationary.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet 6 inches and rising.

ONLY A SLIGHT SWELL.

Rivers Are Rising at Several Points in the Upper Valleys.

It will probably be several weeks before the Ohio river reaches a coal shipping stage. There was nothing in the conditions last night to warrant a prediction of more than a few inches rise. The river may pass the three-foot mark at the Davis Island dam.

Fairmont reported a rise of one foot yesterday afternoon and this may fill the upper pools of the Monongahela, but it is doubtful. The Allegheny is not doing much, only a few inches of a rise being reported in spots. The indications are for clearing weather, but if more rain should fall within a few days, it might produce sufficient water to enable some of the towboats tied up near Pittsburgh to bring their empties into port.

Arrival.

Elizabeth, Ganoe, Brownsville.

Packet Leaving Today.

Gertrude, Morgantown, 3 p. m.

News of the Rivers.

At 9 o'clock last evening the gauge at the Davis Island dam indicated a stage of 2.7 feet and the river was falling.

An effort will be made today to bring the Florence Bella to Pittsburgh from Newcomerstown.

Both locks were closed to navigation at Lock No. 1 yesterday, but were open last night as usual. A small landslide caused the inconvenience.

The tug Lizzie Archbold of Mound City is at work taking out the wreck of the H. A. Speed, which burned in the Paducah harbor some time ago.

Capt. B. A. Hopkins of Catlettsburg is at Cincinnati in search of a light draught towboat for the Big Sandy trade. He inspected the Mary F. Golden.

Capt. Thomas Patterson, a Pittsburgh and New Orleans pilot, has been confined to his home in the East End for several weeks on account of illness.

The steamboat inspectors at Wheeling inspected the towboat Nellie Walton at Steubenville, Capt. Charles Sloan left for there to look after his boat.

A representative of some eastern marine capitalists recently made an investigation of the Texas oil fields and reports that it is not practicable to use oil on steamers north of Vicksburg.

The steamer Elizabeth, leaving yesterday for Monongahela river points, will make an effort to go through to Morgantown, as it is thought that the rise will help the boat to get over shoal places.

The Falls City has been thoroughly overhauled at Howard's shipyard. All her woodwork, pantry, kitchen, electric plant, machinery, boats and hull have been made new. She has been painted inside and out.

Jefferson Frame, the present wharfmaster at Wheeling, and William Truax of the wharfboat force, have announced themselves as candidates for wharfmaster upon the Democratic and Republican tickets, respectively.

The McKeesport Sawmill Company is building 30 barges for the Vesta Coal Company. Of this number 20 have already been finished. The craft are being constructed of Oregon fir, but on account of the slowness of freight deliveries it has been difficult to turn out the barges as rapidly as desired.

On account of the high price of timber, coalboats are being taken apart at New Orleans and the timber loaded on barges for shipment north. The Raymond Herner now tied up at Gallipolis on account of low water, has a large load of timbers taken from old coalboats, which will be brought to Pittsburgh.

Capt. W. L. Sibert, the government engineer, is glad the river is not going to rise much. A high stage of water just now would probably prevent a large shipment of coal to the south on account of the conditions existing at Lock No. 1, but it is said that by Monday or Tuesday the repairs will have progressed to such an extent as to insure against inconvenience at the lock in the event of a shipping stage.

TWO OFFICIALS HONORED.

George L. House and Cornelius Burns Given Reception.

George L. House of Camp avenue, Braddock, superintendent of the construction department of the Duquesne steel works of the United States Steel Corporation, at Duquesne, was visited by some 50 employes and officials of the plant at his home last evening, and presented with a handsome leather reclining chair. The presentation address was made by the Rev. Edwin M. Bowman, pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church of Braddock, and was responded to by Mr. House. Several speeches were made and supper was served. The guests were all members of the Masonic fraternity. Mr. House has been ill the past two months and recently returned from a hospital in this city.

Cornelius Burns, foreman of the machine shops at the Edgar Thomson steel works, who resigned his position, was yesterday afternoon given a farewell reception by his fellow workmen. About 100 members of his department met him at the office shortly before he was to leave the plant, and after expressing their regrets at his resignation, presented him with a gold-handled silk umbrella, a gold-mounted French meerschaum pipe, studded with rubies, a fine cut glass tobacco jar and other articles belonging to a smoker's outfit, together with a large and handsomely worked burned leather pillow.

Candy Jobbers' Meet.

A meeting of the Tri-State Candy Jobbers' association was held last night at Newell's. There were about 30 members present from various parts of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia. Officers were elected at the business meeting, and a banquet was held later in the evening.

PATTISON MEN MADE THE NOISE

SNUB FOR DELEGATES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Oct. 1.—The testimony of the witnesses for the Pattison faction at the hearing in the Dauphin county court in the contest between the rival wings of the Union party to determine the legality of the state nominations of each faction was disapproved today by the testimony of William R. Knight, Jr., of Philadelphia, and a large number of other reputable witnesses from all over the state. Mr. Knight and his associates testified that the disorder in Musical Fund hall, Philadelphia, where the Pattison faction called the convention to meet, was created by that faction and not by the adherents of Judge Pennypacker.

"The noisiest men in the hall," said Mr. Knight, "were C. Tyson Kratz of Norristown; Lewis Emery, Jr., of Bradford, and Oliver J. Hewit of Tyrone, who have testified that it was the Pennypacker delegates who broke up the convention and forced the Pattison delegates to adjourn to the Continental hall, where the Democratic state candidates, with the exception of Mr. Nolan of Reading, the candidate for secretary of internal affairs, were nominated."

Mr. Knight told how State Chairman Riter refused to recognize the Pennypacker delegates before the Pattison crowd bolted from Musical Fund hall, and said that after the bolt the convention was quiet and ordrely and that the regular Republican state candidates were nominated by acclamation. The attorneys for the Pattison faction subjected Mr. Knight and other witnesses to rigid cross-examination, but were unable to make any material change in their testimony.

The entire day was consumed in the hearing of this case. The Pattison faction's attorneys called several witnesses to prove their allegations that Knight and his adherents broke into Musical Fund hall and took possession of it and forced the Pattison people to leave because it was impossible to transact business. Court adjourned till tomorrow.

The contest instituted by the Allegheny county machine against the Citizens nominees for congress in that county for the purpose of trying to keep their names out of the Democratic column on the official ballot will be heard tomorrow and the indications are that it will be disposed of in short order. George Shiras III, City Chairman Crawford and other Citizens' leaders are here to attend the hearing.

REFORM IN ALLEGHENY.

Ministers and Prominent Citizens Lead Fight Against Machine. Unique Rally Planned.

The Citizens party workers in Allegheny are planning the biggest rally of the campaign for Friday evening, October 17, in Carnegie hall. It will differ from the ordinary political meeting in the fact that women will be invited to hear the issues of the campaign and will be given front seats in the auditorium and the privilege of the proscenium boxes.

So thoroughly in earnest are North Side voters, that the leading ministers will attend and take an active part in the meeting. The best element of Allegheny's citizens will lead in the overthrow of ring rule, and the stay-at-home voters and those who hitherto have manifested little interest in politics will be out in force on November 4.

A poll of all the voters on the North Side, made last month by the Citizens, is being corrected and tabulated for use by the watchers at the polls.

"The old trick of voting a whole colony of repeaters in half a dozen districts will not be played this time," said a member of the Citizens committee last night, "and our reports made in the house-to-house canvass will enable us to prevent the voting of dead men and those who have left the city."

The machine seems to have abandoned the fight in Allegheny. No local headquarters have been established, and what little work is attempted is directed in a half-hearted way from the Sixth avenue office. The silence of despair pervades Allegheny city hall, and it is evident that Recorder Murphy will make little effort to keep his cohorts intact. At the Citizens headquarters in Kenyon hall reports were received last night from every ward, showing that the reformers have strengthened their lines in every district in the city.

VERMONT'S GOVERNOR.

Gen. John G. McCullough Elected by the Legislature.

MONTPELIER, VT., Oct. 1.—The legislature today elected as governor Gen. John G. McCullough, Republican, of Bennington. At the polls Gen. McCullough failed to receive a majority, although receiving the largest number of votes.

Today he received 164 votes in the legislature. Percival W. Clement, the high license local option candidate, received 59 votes and Felix W. McGettrick, Democrat, 45. Z. S. Stanton, Republican of Roxbury, was elected lieutenant governor.

It is the truth.

MANY MISSION WORKERS PRESENT

DELEGATES MAKE A BIG SHOWING AT BRADDOCK.

Morning Session Devoted to Discussion—Women Elect State and Western District Officers.

The Western Pennsylvania Christian Missionary society, in annual convention at the First Christian church, Braddock, held three active sessions yesterday. Two hundred and fifty delegates were present at the opening and in the afternoon fully 400 were present.

The morning session opened at 9 o'clock with a Bible study service in the gospel of St. John, conducted by the Rev. Robert J. Bamber of Turtle Creek. There was a 15 minutes' service of song, which was followed by an address on "The Outlook in Western Pennsylvania," delivered by the Rev. W. R. Warren of Connellsville, Pa. The subject was discussed by the Rev. C. C. Cowgill, C. E. Smith and the Rev. Fields. An address on "Evangelistic Work for Western Pennsylvania That Will Tell" was delivered by the Rev. A. T. Campbell, pastor of the Rowan Avenue Mission church, this city. The session closed with a prayer and praise service conducted by the Rev. F. M. Gordon, recording secretary of the association.

Women's Convention.

Mission workers from all over the state were present at the annual convention of the Christian Women's Mission board in the afternoon. A praise service was conducted by Mrs. W. J. Russell of the East End Christian church. Mrs. T. W. Phillips of New Castle, Pa., state president, made the opening address. Miss Elsie Taylor, state secretary, reported a membership of 1,612, a gain of 228 during the past year. In the general fund there is $1,574 27; in the state fund $201 44 was raised, and for special purposes, $643 04, making a total of $2,418 75 raised during the year.

Mrs. K. E. Roberts, state treasurer, reported $201 44 of the state funds on hand. Mrs. M. H. Weaver, state superintendent of children's work, told of a gain in membership during the past year of almost 400.

The state officers elected for the year 1902-03 follow: President, Mrs. O. H. Phillips of Braddock; vice president, Mrs. J. E. France of Philadelphia; secretary, Mrs. W. J. Russell of Pittsburgh; treasurer, Mrs. K. E. Roberts of Carnegie; state superintendent of young people's work, Mrs. M. H. Weaver of Reading.

Western District Officers.

The Christian Women's Mission board is divided into an eastern and western district, and the women of the western district yesterday elected their officers for the coming year as follows: President, Mrs. A. B. Speer of Pittsburgh; vice president, Mrs. Henry Spangler of Bellevue; secretary, Mrs. I. N. Wells of Wilkinsburg; treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Hamilton of the East End, and district superintendent of young people's work, Miss Nellie Whiting of Knoxville.

Mrs. Julia Gerould of Cleveland, O., told of her recent tour through India, Japan and China. After singing by Miss Mabel Phillips of Braddock the session adjourned.

The evening session opened at 7:30 o'clock with a praise service conducted by the Rev. J. F. Futcher. This was followed by an address on "The Wonderful Book," by the Rev. Dr. W. J. Russell of the East End, and an illustrated address by the Rev. John A. Jayne of the Observatory Hill Christian church, Allegheny.

LINCOLN'S MOTHER HONORED.

LINCOLN CITY, IND., Oct. 1.—A monument to Nancy Hanks Lincoln was dedicated here today. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather the largest crowd that ever gathered in the county witnessed the ceremonies. The vicinity of the monument was cleaned of underbrush and a number of eating stands, one capable of seating 1,000 people, were erected.

The stone for the monument was taken from the base of the Abraham Lincoln monument in Springfield, Ill. Gen. John C. Black of Chicago delivered the oration, and Gov. Durbin accepted the monument.

It means Ostracism.—Foul breath and disgusting discharges due to Catarrh make thousands of people objects of aversion. Hon. George James of Scranton, Pa., says: "I have been a martyr to Catarrh for twenty years, constant hawking and dropping in the throat and pain in the head, very offensive breath. I tried Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. The first application gave instant relief. After using a few bottles I was cured."—14.

Doan's Kidney Pills

Cure sick kidneys—cure every form of kidney trouble—Have been a blessing to thousands of Pittsburgh homes—Plenty of proof of it—The word of your friends and neighbors—
Read this—

Mrs. William Armour, who has a grocery store at No. 528 Seventh avenue, suffered for several years with kidney troubles, and would have been suffering yet had it not been for the work of "The Little Conqueror." "It began with a pain across the small of my back," she says, "and gradually grew worse until I was scarcely able to go about my work. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and I got a box at Eggers' drug store. The first few doses helped me wonderfully, and before the box was finished I was completely cured. I was so rejoiced that I sent a box to my sister, who lives in Leechburg, and who has suffered a great deal from kidney trouble. She was as greatly benefited as I was, and never gets tired of talking of the wonderful merits of Doan's Kidney Pills."

SUPREME COURT RULING

Justice Mitchell Has Ruled That Bonded Debt Is Not Included Under 2 Per Cent Limit—City Has Leeway of $1,800,000.

When City Solicitor Thomas D. Carnahan meets the councilmanic committee on polytechnic school site on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock, with reference to the proposition to increase the bonded indebtedness of the city without the consent of the people, he will point to the decision of the state supreme court in the case of Luther Keller vs. the city of Scranton, the Lackawanna Railway Company and the Scranton Railway Company. He will tell the committee that under this decision the city councils of Pittsburgh can, without the consent of the electors, increase the indebtedness of Pittsburgh to the extent of about $1,800,000.

This committee was appointed to get Mr. Carnahan's opinion with reference to a site for the school. They wanted to settle the question as to whether the city could secure money to buy a site without going to the expense of an election, and the danger of the proposition being defeated by the people in the present chaotic condition of political affairs. The idea was suggested by Col. Samuel Harden Church, a member of the plan and scope committee.

An Important Decision.

The decision of the supreme court was printed September 15. The facts in the Scranton case are: Scranton councils passed an ordinance providing for the construction of a viaduct over the Lackawanna railroad. The damages to property owners would be about $100,000, which the city would have to pay. There was no money in the city treasury available to pay it. The debt of the city of Scranton at the time was $882,000. Of this $290,000 had been approved by the electors, and the balance had been incurred without that approval.

The assessed value of taxable property was $23,121,000, 2 per cent of it being $462,420. Keller went to court. The lower court said the city could not increase its debt to the amount without first getting the consent of the voters, and issued an injunction. The case was taken to the supreme court, which said in an opinion by Justice Mitchell that a city can increase its indebtedness to the amount of 2 per cent of the assessed valuation of its property providing that the 7 per cent limitation was not exceeded.

Reversed Lower Court.

The decision of Justice Mitchell reversing the lower court and sustaining the councils of Scranton, which Solicitor Carnahan will bring before the committee on Friday, is as follows:

"The general scheme of the constitution with regard to the amount of municipal indebtedness is clear. Section 8 of Article IX divides such indebtedness into three classes, considered with reference to amount, first, debt exceeding 7 per cent of the assessed value of taxable property, except as to cities whose debt exceeded 7 per cent at the time of the adoption of the constitution; second, new debt or increase of indebtedness by the municipal authorities, which is permitted up to 2 per cent of the assessed value; and, third, new debt or increase of indebtedness exceeding 2 per cent or less than 7 per cent of assessed value, which is permitted with the assent of electors at a public election.

Power Is Recognized.

"The words of the section with which we are directly concerned are: 'Nor shall any municipality or district incur any new debt or increase its indebtedness to an amount exceeding 2 per centum upon such assessed value of property without the assent of the electors thereof.' This, though a limitation of the power of creating debt, is also a recognition of its existence.

"The result of the provision is that the municipal authorities, charged with the raising and spending of money incident to the current expenses of the government, still have the same power they have always hitherto had to the creation of public debt up to the 2 per cent limit, and the same power to the further limit of 7 per cent if authorized by a vote of the electors.

"The order in which these two powers may be exercised is not prescribed, and is not material. What the section is concerned with is the amount of indebtedness of each class, not the order in which it is incurred.

A Fine Distinction.

"It was found as a fact in the case we are considering that at the time the ordinance was passed the debt of the city was more than 2 per cent of the assessed value of taxable property therein, but that part of the debt had been duly authorized by a vote of the electors, and if this were deducted from the gross amount the remainder, created by councils without the special authorization of the electors might be increased by the estimated debt to be incurred under the ordinance, without reaching the 2 per cent limit. Under such circumstances, the debt was within the authority of councils and the ordinance valid. The decree is reversed and the bill directed to be dismissed with costs."

James C. Gray, a former assistant city solicitor who is frequently consulted by the machine city government regarding questions of law, says that under the above decision the right of the city to increase its indebtedness to the extent of about $1,800,000 is unquestioned.

He bases this on the figures that the present indebtedness of the city of Pittsburgh, created without the special authorization of the electors, is about $4,200,000. Two per cent of the assessed valuation of Pittsburgh taxable property is about $6,000,000. The city would then have the difference between these amounts yet to go, or $1,800,000.

These opinions are disputed by many people. Controller John B. Larkin refuses to discuss it. "I am not a lawyer," he says. But the controller declares that he will not be a party to any increase of the indebtedness of the city. That Pittsburgh councils will not permit the passage of any ordinance to make the debt any greater is an assured fact. The Citizens majority in the common branch, which favors the park site, will see to it that no such ordinance receives their approval unless in case of a great public necessity, which is not yet apparent.

For Battle Monument.

Prof. George H. Lamb, principal of the Braddock borough schools, who was appointed chairman of a committee to consider the erection of a monument on the Braddock battlefield, issued a call for a mass meeting, to be held October 7, when a sub-committee will report a plan to bring about the desired result.

GREAT SERIES OF GOSPEL MEETINGS

Sunday Afternoons He Will Appeal to Young Men, Assisted by Splendid Music.

The unique series of meetings begun last fall in the Exposition music hall and transferred later to the Bijou theater and there continued until the Rev. S. Edward Young left for the holy land, in February last, are to be reinaugurated in the new Bijou theater Sunday afternoon, October 12. The Bijou has been chosen because it now has the largest seating capacity of any building in the Greater Pittsburgh region—larger than Exposition music hall.

There are 2,800 seats in the theater proper and 400 more will be placed on the stage, making in all 4,200. The 3,000 seats last year were frequently too few for the crowds that were drawn by the services, and with the special music, for which negotiations are now being made, it is believed that 4,200 seats will be none too many for this season's attendance.

Pastor Young proposes to arrange to catch the highest grade of musical organizations which have to pass through Pittsburgh on their regular routes, between Fridays and Mondays, and so save traveling expenses and get reduced rates. He is in communication with all the leading instrumental and vocal organizations in the country. He says it requires something like an orchestra, or a band, to take the place of the pipe organ which the church has, to properly support Benjamin Franklin Butts' great chorus and the congregational singing.

He declares the most difficult point is to get these organizations to play thoroughly religious music, and to that end he sends them classic and gospel religious pieces to be transposed and produced before arrival.

The chief object of these meetings is to provide a good gathering place for the young men of the Greater Pittsburgh region, many of whom would be in less helpful places on Sunday. Last year's audiences were principally young men, and numbers of them went from these services and joined churches. The pastor of one of the most influential churches declared in public last February: "All the churches reap what is sown at the Bijou. A member of my church who had remained away 10 years came one Sunday night and said the afternoon Bijou meeting had brought him back."

Mothers at a distance from the city have sent word asking that the services be held again this year. In order not to interfere with any other service the meetings will be held each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the music commencing a few minutes earlier, the doors opening at 2:30 o'clock. The ushers, Christian workers, all members of the chorus and several soloists including Director Butts, give their services entirely free, as does Pastor Young.

HEBREW NEW YEAR BEING CELEBRATED

Observation Began Yesterday at Sunset in All Synagogues of the City.

The ecclesiastical year of the Hebrew race commenced yesterday at sunset, and the Jewish people all over the world will observe the event. The festival proper does not begin until today, but according to the Jewish custom all festivals begin on the previous evening at sunset and conclude at the same time on the holiday. Ever since the Jews were taken into captivity by the Babylonians it has been the custom to observe New Year's day in the fall of the year, the Jews accepting the Babylonian belief that the world was created in the fall season. In ancient times the Jewish rabbis ordained that this day should be devoted to solemn reflection and sacred thought and the custom has lived to the present time. The opening hours of this season are spent in prayer.

The Rev. J. Leonard Levi conducted services in the Eighth Street temple last night and this morning will conduct the regular New Year's service. In all the Jewish churches in the city similar services were held. The Rev. Levi spoke last night on "A New Year's Wish," and this morning will take for his subject, "Let There Be Light." Following closely the celebration of the new year are the "Day of Atonement," a solmn day in Israel, which falls on next Saturday, and the "Feast of the Tabernacle," which commences on the following Thursday and continues until October 23.

The Eighth Street temple has been beautifully frescoed during the past few weeks and the two paintings, "The Declaration of Human Independence" and "Consecration of Childhood" have been completed by Artist Harry Gorson of Philadelphia.

DENIES ROAD'S RIGHTS.

J. A. Herron Makes Charges of Bad Faith on the Part of the Glenwood Railroad.

Important legal questions are raised in the exceptions filed in behalf of John A. Herron to the bond given by the Glenwood Railroad Company in the matter of the appropriation of his property in the Twenty-third ward. It is claimed the property is wanted to further the contemplated improvements of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company.

The exceptant declares the bond is not sufficient, that the land is not necessary for railroad purposes, and that the railroad is not a public one, nor has the company the right to operate or exercise the right of eminent domain.

It is charged the company has not complied with the law, that it was not incorporated in good faith, and that there is no public necessity for its existence. It is charged that the company is taking property for the benefit of the Baltimore & Ohio, and the Pittsburgh & Connellsville railroad companies, the Glenfield company having been organized for the purpose of evading the railroad laws. It is further stated that the latter possesses no engines or rolling stock. In conclusion, it is alleged that as the Glenwood company's line and that of the Baltimore & Ohio Company are parallel, that the former's possession by the latter is in violation of the law with relation to the purchase or control of parallel or competing lines.

TO EXPERIMENT ABROAD

Sylvester A. Cosgrave, Backed by Pittsburgh Capital, Will Make Steel Ingots in Europe.

Sylvester A. Cosgrave of this city sails today for France and Russia, upon the invitation of prominent steel manufacturers of those countries, to experiment in their works in the making of compound steel ingots.

The last demonstration made at the government proving grounds, at Indian Head, is said to have proved that his process for making armor plate is a practical one for the manufacture of plates for war ships, giving any uniform depth of high carbon steel with a low carbon back, and a plate that graduates the carbon at the center of the plate.

The process has been covered by patents in all European countries and promises to be of large pecuniary benefit to the patentee and his associates.

John M. Patterson, the estate of the late Aaron French and Louis Ross of Homestead are interested with Cosgrave in the patents. The success of the initial experiments in this country is largely due to W. D. Corcoran, the steel expert and former manager of the Howe, Brown & Co. steel plant.

SMALLPOX AMONG THE UNVACCINATED

THE DISEASE IS SPREADING IN HILL DISTRICT.

Board of Health Criticised in Placing Quarantine on Wylie Avenue House.

Smallpox is spreading in the hill district and half the new cases reported to the bureau of health within the last week are in the Thirteenth ward. Twelve physicians employed by the bureau to enforce vaccination are confining their efforts to the stricken section, and it is likely that their number will be increased.

The quarantining of the house at No. 1227 Wylie avenue has caused much unfavorable criticism of the board of health in that district. The neighbors declare that half a dozen persons who were occupying rooms in the infected house escaped and now are at large.

The victim was carried out of the rear of the house and two smallpox signs were posted upon the back door and a fence in the alley, while the front of the house was left without any notice to give warning of the contagion that lurked within its portals. The patient was removed on Saturday evening and the signs were posted on the back of the house immediately. All the members of the household except one escaped the quarantine.

On Sunday and Monday the same state of affairs existed. The signs were conspicuous enough in the alley, but no notice had been posted in the front, where hundreds of persons passed every hour in the day, and many were likely to call at the door, the sanitary policeman who guarded the house, not being in evidence much of the time. Complaint was made by many of the residents in the vicinity and on Tuesday a sign was posted upon the front door.

The neighbors say that political reasons prevented the usual precautions at first. Two prominent physicians occupy houses adjoining the infected place.

Of all the cases of smallpox reported in the last fortnight, not a single victim has been vaccinated since childhood, and several were among those who had refused recently to submit to the virus point when asked to do so by the city physicians.

A horse is quarantined in a stable in Tunnel street. The animal belonged to a negro driver who was smitten by the disease. The man had slept in a hayloft above the horse and a special officer was appointed to guard the stable.

ROBINSON BRINGS SUIT.

Secretary of Loan Association, Acquitted of Embezzlement, Wants Damages for False Arrest.

John C. Robinson, the former secretary of the Globe Mutual Cash and Industrial Building and Loan association, entered suits through his attorney, W. A. Blakeley, against John B. Fitzgibbon, Timothy Griffin and A. A. McGuire, for $75,000 damages. Each is asked to pay $25,000.

The claim against Fitzgibbon is based on an affidavit made by Fitzgibbon, in a suit brought by James McIlvaine against the Cash Building and Loan association in common pleas court No. 2. In that case, as part of the defense to McIlvaine's claim, Fitzgibbon is accused of having wilfully and maliciously sworn that as a result of Robinson's alleged peculations there was a deficit in the association funds of $25,000.

Griffin is asked to pay $25,000 for false arrest. He was the prosecutor in a case against Robinson, accusing him of embezzling $8,000 from the Globe Mutual Building and Loan association.

A. A. McGuire was the prosecutor in the suit charging Robinson with taking $10,000 from the Cash Building and Loan association. Robinson was acquitted of the charges.

FIRST CABINET YOUNG LADY.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 1.—(Special)—A report that Miss Rebekah Knox, the only daughter of the attorney general, will not remain in Washington for the official season, owing to her dislike of her social duties, was denied today by a member of Mr. Knox's household. Miss Knox, it was said, intended to make an autumn visit to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and a winter trip up the Nile.

Miss Knox was introduced into society in Pittsburgh a season or two before her father began his official career here. She comes of one of the oldest families of her state, being the fifth daughter in direct descent who has borne the name of Rebekah. Her family is fond of travel and have been all around the world several times, visiting not only the usual places of resort of travelers, but making many little tours of exploration in unheard-of and out-of-the-way places.

Since the attorney general purchased the Child's residence on K street the family has ranked as liberal entertainers in the administration circle. By the marriage of both the Misses Hay, Miss Knox becomes the ranking girl in the cabinet, unless Miss Root should return from Europe this winter, which is not likely.

Miss Roosevelt and Miss Knox are very much attached to each other, and the attorney general's daughter is a frequent guest at the White House.

Many Persons Lost at Sea.

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 1.—The steamer Moana brings news of the loss of several Australian vessels during gales in the South sea. The schooner Sybil of Sydney, a recruiting vessel, left the Solomon islands in April with 110 persons on board for Queensland, and was never heard of again. The steamer Quiang of Sydney was lost off the Australian coast with all hands, numbering 30, never having been heard of after leaving Sydney on a coasting trip.

Society

A VERY pretty home wedding took place last evening at Clarion, Pa. The bride was Miss Sara Rachel Collner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Collner, at whose home the ceremony was performed, and the bridegroom was Chase Stubbs Robinson of Parkers Landing, Pa. Because of the recent death of a brother of the bridegroom the wedding was quietly conducted.

The ceremony was performed at 6 o'clock by the Rev. Mr. Eggert of White Haven, assisted by the Rev. O. H. Kerschner. The bride was given away by her father. Her only attendant was a little niece, Miss Elisabeth Rimer, who was a flower girl. The bride's gown was of white silk crepe, trimmed with lace and over which fell a long veil of tulle. A shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley was carried.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Robinson, the father and mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Truby Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Wightman, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Robinson of Parkers Landing; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walker, Dr. Eugene Matson, F. R. Voeghtly, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wightman, Miss Albertson, Dr. Edward H. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. McClintock of Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman and their daughter, Wilhelmina, Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Noble, and Mr. and Miss Smith of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Matson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Matson, Mr. and Mrs. F. Haines, Mr. and Mrs. S. Truby, Mr. and Mrs. Judge Truman, James Gray, and Mr. and Mrs. William Truman of Brookville; Miss Isabel Woodworth of Buffalo; Mrs. Anna M. Collner of Washington; F. Lyon, New York; Mr. and Mrs. W. Willard of Dungee, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Collner of Denver, Col.; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ritmer and Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Rimer of Clarion.

The bride is a recent graduate of Walnut Lane seminary in Philadelphia, and has visited several times in Pittsburgh as the guest of Miss Sarah Albertson, who was a schoolmate at Walnut Lane. Mr. Robinson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elisha Robinson of Parkers Landing, Pa. He is a Washington and Jefferson graduate and is well known in this city.

Entertaining a Bride-Elect.

Miss Carrie Gray was the guest of honor at a pretty informal tea given yesterday by Miss Mary Gray of Alder street, East End. Miss Carrie Gray, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Gray of Forbes street, is to be married October 8 to William S. Boyd of Monessen and yesterday many pleasant surprises were arranged for her by both hostess and guests. These mementoes of the occasion will make attractive the new home in Monessen, to which Mr. Boyd will take his bride.

Assisting in receiving were Mrs. Crosby Gray, Mrs. J. H. Gray, Mrs. Ross Foster of Crafton, Miss Florence Moore, Miss Jean Gray, Miss Kuhn, Mrs. Ira M. Clark and Miss Susan Gray. Miss Mary Gray will be the only bridesmaid at the wedding.

Going to Housekeeping in New York.

Mrs. William M. Wherry, Jr., has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Zug, in Fifth avenue, Oakland. Mrs. Wherry leaves this morning to join her husband, and they will begin housekeeping in New York city at once. Since their marriage in the early spring Mr. and Mrs. Wherry have been traveling much of the time. Mrs. Zug will accompany her daughter east. Mrs. Wherry was Miss Rhoda Zug before she married the son of Gen. W. M. Wherry of Cincinnati.

League Begins Sixth Year.

The sixth year of the Art Students' league opened yesterday and will continue until next June. The league was organized in 1886 and is maintained for the purpose of drawing and painting from living models, with the benefit of criticisms from time to time of masters from the east. The league's headquarters are located at Carnegie library, John W. Beatty will criticise the work of members and give several studio talks during the season.

Klein—Geddes.

Miss Alma D. Klein, eldest daughter of Mrs. Klein and the late W. C. Klein of Knoxville, and David Geddes also of Knoxville, were married yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. A. Jones and the bride and bridegroom then left for a short eastern wedding trip. They will be at home after November 1 in their new house, Virginia avenue and Rockill street.

Club Musicale.

An informal social afternoon marked the opening of the year for Pittsburgh Sorosis yesterday. The members of the club, with the presidents of other women's clubs and societies, and some other guests, met in the parlors of the Hotel Schenley and enjoyed a rich musical program presented by several well-known Pittsburgh musicians. Mrs. Myron R. Stowell and Miss Annie E. Tindle, both members of the Tuesday Musical club, and Jean Louis Ferrero and Theodore Rentz, were the soloists. The officers of the club received in formality, both before the musicale and after it was concluded, when tea was served.

The affair was arranged under the direction of the social and the music committees, the former including Mrs. Alfred E. Clark, Mrs. W. A. Black, Mrs. D. M. Clemson and Mrs. J. B. Elsaman, and the latter consisting of Mrs. John D. Shafer, Mrs. Taylor Alderdice and Miss Nellie Weart. The officers of Sorosis are Mrs. Henry J. Bailey, president; Mrs. J. B. Neel, vice president; Mrs. A. M. Saunders, second vice president; Mrs. Alfred Longmore, recording secretary; Miss Alice Penniston, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. N. P. Hyndman, treasurer.

The regular semi-monthly meetings of Sorosis will commence October 8. The subjects to be studied during the year relate to United States history and current events. An exceptionally fine program has been arranged, covering the history of this country from the time of the prehistoric dwellers in America through the different periods of the aborigines, the colonists, the revolution, the early period of the new nation, the various national crises which have arisen and the westward advantage of colonization and statehood. The club now has 44 members.

Rowand—Wagner.

An interesting wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Newel, No. 715 Hill avenue, Wilkinsburg, last evening at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Newell's sister, Miss Ruth Rowand, became the wife of Philip Howard Wagner, the Rev. John H. Prugh, pastor of Grace Reformed church, Pittsburgh, officiating. The bride was attended by Miss Mary Klinefelter, and the best man was Dr. Charles Owens of Pittsburgh. The bride is a daughter of A. T. Rowand and has been prominent in social circles. The groom is a well-known insurance man of the East End. After an eastern trip Mr. and Mrs. Wagner will be at home in Wood street, Wilkinsburg, about November 1.

Date Set for Opening.

The pedagogical section of the Academy of Science and Art of Pittsburgh will begin its second year on Tuesday, October 14, and meetings will be held on the second Tuesday of each month in the lecture room at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Institute. The meetings will be open to all persons interested in education. A regular program of study, with references for private reading, has been prepared for the coming year, during which three lectures will be given by leading educators of the United States. Miss Nannie Mackrell, principal of the Moorhead public school, is secretary.

St. Paul's Pastor Married.

The Rev. Raymond H. Edwards, the new rector of St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal church in this city, was married yesterday at noon to Miss Ada Irene Riggs, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James H. Riggs, in Wellsville, O. The Rt. Rev. Cortlandt Whitehead, bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, performed the ceremony. The Rev. Mr. Edwards, who was formerly rector of the Church of the Ascension in Wellsville, came to Pittsburgh with his bride after the ceremony.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S BRANCH MET.

Pledged Itself to Raise $500 for Southern Mission.

The October meeting of the young people's branch of the missionary societies of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Presbyteries was held in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church in Wood street yesterday afternoon with a good attendance. Mrs. V. G. Boggs, secretary of the Freedmen's board, addressed the meeting on "New Work for the Coming Year," and asked the societies of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny presbyteries to raise $500 for the maintenance of the Good Will mission in South Carolina. The branch pledged itself to raise that amount. Mrs. I. R. Boyce, a missionary at Jalapa, Mex., gave a short talk on the work under her charge.

The following delegates to the women's synodical meeting, which will be held in Washington, Pa., on Wednesday, and Thursday, October 29 and 30, were elected: Mrs. A. H. Jolly of Carrick, Mrs. N. S. Bartz of Crafton, Miss Anna Rosboro of Avalon, Mrs. A. M. Ward of Bellevue and Miss Nannie M. Holliday of Wilkinsburg.

The date for holding the annual meeting was changed from Saturday, October 25, to Saturday, November 1.

SETBACK FOR FISH TRUST

Decision Given In Ohio Will, It Is Said, Result In Lower Fish Prices.

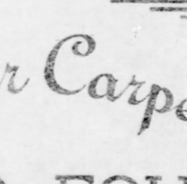
By a decision just handed down by Judge Wing of the United States circuit court of the Eastern Ohio district the fish trust receives a serious setback in its attempt to monopolize the fish trade of the country.

Last spring an injunction was granted against the Buckeye Fish Company of Cleveland in favor of the A. Booth Company, the latter being known as the fish trust. The injunction included E. R. Edson, president, and E. T. Case, secretary of the Buckeye company, which is the largest concern of its kind, outside the trust, in the country.

In 1898 the E. R. Edson Fish Company sold out to the trust, and, on account of lack of harmony, the Buckeye Fish Company was organized in 1899, and has since been a dangerous competitor of the Booth company. The decision of Judge Wing releases the Buckeye Fish Company and E. T. Case from the temporary injunctions secured against them, while that against Edson stands until the evidence has been examined.

It is surmised that E. T. Case will now be the general manager of the Buckeye company, as Edson, who has held that position, is much occupied with other interests. The local representative of the company asserts that they have been operating under serious disadvantages while the injunctions held, and that the immediate result of the court's decision will be to greatly facilitate business, and cause prices of fish to be materially lower all over the country.

RHEUMATISM



Caused by Uric acid in the blood, which stiffens, enlarges and locks the joints and renders you a cripple for life, is permanently cured by

MEDERINE

MEDERINE REMEDY CO., Duluth, Minn.

DEAR SIRS—I take pleasure in stating that after taking two courses of your MEDERINE treatment that my Rheumatism is absolutely cured, after years of suffering. My occupation is on the docks, which means hard work and wet clothes. As a result I contracted rheumatism in my hips, which necessitated laying off from work. I took everything, many doctor's prescriptions, but without a cure. The strong medicine I took almost ruined my stomach, but thanks to MEDERINE I am in the full vigor and health of manhood. A. G. AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION PROPOSED TO THE CITIZENS OF THIS COMMONWEALTH FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII. OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to section ten of article one of the Constitution, so that a discharge of a jury for failure to agree or other necessary cause shall not work an acquittal.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in general assembly met, That the following be proposed as an amendment to the Constitution; that is to say that section ten of article one, which reads as follows:

"No person shall, for any indictable offense, be proceeded against criminally by information, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger, or by leave of the court for oppression or misdemeanor in office. No person shall, for the same offense, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall private property be taken or applied to public use, without authority of law and without just compensation being first made or secured."

No person shall, for any indictable offense, be proceeded against criminally by information, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger, or by leave of the court for oppression or misdemeanor in office. No person shall, for the same offense, be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; but a discharge of the jury for failure to agree, or other necessary cause, shall not work an acquittal. Nor shall private property be taken or applied to public use without authority of law and without just compensation being first made or secured.

UNPRECEDENTED BOOM IN BANK AND TRUST SHARES

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

An unprecedented boom occurred yesterday in the shares of local bank and trust companies. Union Trust led the list, advancing to $2,050 a share bid, a rise of $500 over the highest public sale and $400 over the previous highest public bid. There were moderate offerings at $2,500, but no stock changed hands. The movement was based upon the action of the directors, taken at a late hour the previous evening, to increase the capital stock from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 by selling 5,000 shares at $2,000 a share. The proceeds realized from the new stock would amount to $10,000,000, of which $500,000 would be added to capital and $9,500,000 to surplus, making the new capital, surplus and profits approximate $17,000,000. The bidding on the stock did not reach the maximum price until about the middle part of the session, when it was reported that the entire new proposed issue had been oversubscribed and that present stockholders might be asked to forego a portion of their allotment in order to leave some new stock for distribution among capitalists not now intimately identified with the institution. The advance in Union Trust was the signal for a general upward movement in this entire group, in which Pittsburgh Trust was second only in prominence to the leader. The highest previous price on Pittsburgh Trust was $725, and the stock sold at $722 a share. The bidding at the opening started at $730, and quickly run up to $880, at which 10 shares changed hands. From that point the price rose to $890, bid, an advance of $55 a share, compared with the record price of a few days ago, and at the close one small lot was offered at $885. Fidelity Title and Trust also scored an extraordinary gain. Last month the stock made a new record by advancing to $570, and it started at that figure yesterday, but quickly rose to $601, a net advance of $31. The most active member of the group, however, was Colonial Trust, which sold to the extent of 620 shares at prices ranging from $500 to $604 (the latter paid for one share) and closing at $600. Real Estate Trust was moderately active, advancing from $310 to $315½ and reacting to $314 at the close. Columbia National bank sold up to $425, a rise of $15; Diamond National was $5 higher at $445 and Second National $5 higher at $85. Keystone bank advanced to $384 bid. The only decline of note was in Cosmopolitan National, a small lot of which sold at $101, a loss of 1½. The revival of the movement was responsible for rumors regarding the policy of the various institutions, but so far as developed it was largely in sympathy with the advance in Union Trust. The argument seemed to be that if there was a market for 5,000 shares of Union Trust at $2,000 a share for $100 par value stock paying 6 per cent thereon, the shares of other trust companies were selling too low by comparison.

The remainder of the local market was steady to firm, but the volume of transactions was smaller than for the previous day. Pittsburgh Coal was strong, advancing to and closing at 30¾, while the preferred remained unchanged at 91¾@92. River Coal did not sympathize with the advance, losing ¼@¾ on very light sales. In the iron and steel group United States Steel was the feature, advancing to 41⅛ for the common and to 91 for the preferred. Crucible Steel was quiet but steady. Fire Proofing was higher, Brewing steady and the rest unchanged.

In Wall street there was something approaching a return to normal conditions, both as regards the money market and stock speculation. During the first hour the total sales reached 322,500 shares, for the two hours to noon the total was 515,400 shares, and for the day 900,000 shares, a falling off of about 250,000 shares, compared with the preceding day. At the opening there was considerable hesitation, due to the fact that London quotations were irregular, some stocks showing an advance of 16@1⅝ per cent, while others were down 16@1¼ per cent. London's sales during the day were estimated at 50,000 shares, which probably represented profit-taking on the purchases made during the slump on Monday. As the day wore along renewed strength appeared in the offerings, and that stock was really the feature of the day, rising to 73½, but reacting a point from the highest at the close. The greatest activity and the best prices were made after the announcement that President Roosevelt had issued an invitation to the coal operators and President Mitchell of the miners' union to meet him in conference at Washington on Friday morning. Partisans will attribute this action of the president to political motives, but the fact is that the coal strike is fraught with more unfavorable effects upon general business than the high rates for call loans upon the stock market, and right-minded men will only commend any movement that will result in an amicable settlement. The iron and steel stocks were much more active and stronger than at any previous time this week. United States Steel leading with an advance of a point in both the common and preferred, part of which was retained at the close. The advance of 2¾ points in Manhattan was on the putting in operation of electric motors on another branch of the system, and the report that the entire system would soon be operated by electricity. The market did not close at the best, but a large majority of the changes represented gains.

* * *

The rates for call money did not touch the extremes of the preceding day, the fluctuations being narrower, but the market was firm. The opening was at 6 per cent, but the bulk of the business was at 7 and 8 per cent, the close being at 6 per cent bid, 8 per cent asked, and the last loan at 8 per cent. There was a rumor late in the day that $25,000,000 gold had been ordered in Europe for shipment to New York, but there was no confirmation of the report. Such an engagement, if made, would be of a special nature, since there was an advance in sterling exchange during the middle part of the day which removed the gold-importing point farther away than it was on Monday or Tuesday. In some quarters this advance in sterling was construed as evidence that foreign bankers were averse to renewing the loans made earlier in the year. A better explanation would be that foreign bankers, accepting the opinion of leading financiers on this side that money is likely to rule firm for the remainder of the year, are insisting upon payment of past obligations with the view to negotiating new loans at a higher rate. There is no sentiment lost between borrowers and lenders, and if Wall street bankers can do better than 4 to 5 per cent there is no reason why the foreign lender should not seek to do likewise. In some degree the pinch in money this week was due to preparations made for interest and dividend disbursements this month, which are estimated at $70,000,000, compared with $64,700,000 last October and $57,700,000 the year before. The release of this money, together with the relief afforded by the action of the treasury department, should bring about a more normal condition of the general money market, but it business continues active there will not be, in the judgment of the best posted bankers, a return to low rates until January next, while any general revival in stock speculation would cause another flurry.

OPERATORS WILL EASILY GIVE IN

FOR SAKE OF HUMANITY

The Report Has a Marked Bullish Effect Upon Stocks, Especially Upon Reading—Importation of Steel Rails Still Growing.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 1.—The Wall street community is firm in the opinion that the great anthracite coal strike is all over but the graces and formalities. The report most generally accepted today was that at their meeting yesterday the operators agreed to yield as gracefully as they could and to say that they did it for the sake of humanity. They would, they believe, thus preserve the moral of the situation on their side notwithstanding the retreat.

The elevation of the question to a high human ground is generally considered a fine stroke. It is significant, some think, that the operators should fall in so readily with President Roosevelt's mediatorial invitation.

All of the cooler presidents have signified their willingness to attend the proposed conference at Washington. Mr. Morgan says Mr. Roosevelt's initiative deserves high commendation. There is, in fine, certain evidence that Washington's pertinent interest in this matter is not unwelcome. It is but one step further in inference to suppose that Washington was aware that its initiative would not be misunderstood. Wall street's information today that the operators agreed to yield is very positive.

Effect on the Stock Market.

Reading was bid up sharply in today's session of the market on faith of the more positive reports that the strike is settling. The buying looked very good at intervals, but there seems to be an ambundant shpply of long stock from 72 up.

A yielding on the part of the operators would have been considered a bearish thing two months ago. Traders appear now to be proceeding upon the theory that the ending of the strike on any terms will be a bull argument. The speculative community, indeed, is but beginning to realize the tremendous importance of the coal problem, and as between a yielding of the operators and a disastrous coal famine there is thought to be no question of choice. But why this reasoning should affect Reading bullishly, remains to be explained.

Importation of Steel Rails.

The announcement that the Southern Pacific has gone abroad for 40,000 tons of steel rails, seems to have attracted a great deal of general interest, but it is known among trade authorities that it is but one of a number of large orders that lately have been placed with foreign manufacturers.

American makers of steel rails no longer attempt to deny that a very serious shortage exists. The greatest present difficulty is the want of adequate transportation facilities. Without improvement in this direction it is impossible to see any means of near relief for the steel rail trade.

It is estimated that the orders on the books of the various companies now aggregate 2,000,000 tons. All concerns are so badly crowded with business that they cannot undertake to deliver rails on new contracts sooner than October 1903.

New Rubber Venture.

New York and Chicago business men and capitalists have organized the Para Rubber Company with a capital of $5,000,000. The company controls extensive rubber fields in Venezuela. While the Para Rubber Company will operate in territory adjacent to that controlled by the United States Rubber Company and European interests, it will in no way conflict with the combine. The latter is now interested in a $5,000,000 company that will operate in Bolivia and is preparing to form a second company that will control valuable rubber territory in South Africa. The king of the Belgians is interested in both companies. John Cudahy, the head of the Cudahy Packing Company of Chicago, will be the president of the Para Rubber Company.

More Steel Syndicate Profits.

The members of the underwriting syndicate of the United States Steel Corporation expect at least $15,000,000 profits in addition to the $40,000,000 already distributed. The total profits of the syndicate are placed between $55,000,000 and $60,000,000, but only the syndicate managers, J. P. Morgan & Co., are able to name the exact amount. Most of the latest $10,000,000 dividend was available today and assisted somewhat in relieving monetary conditions.

The third quarter of the present fiscal year of the United States Steel Corporation closed yesterday. Net earnings for that period are expected to reach $38,000,000. Profits from ore shipments will be largely reflected in the earnings of the third quarter. It is well understood that regular dividends will be declared on the preferred and common stocks.

Increase of Corporations.

The authorized capitalization of the new concerns that filed papers in the principal corporation states last month, together with the increases in the capital stocks of existing concerns, aggregated $255,427,200, as compared with $140,000,000 in the corresponding month of last year.

The United States Sheet Steel Manufacturing Company was incorporated in New Jersey today with a capital stock of $150,000. The charter permits the company to manufacture iron and steel in all its forms. The temporary address of the incorporators is 419 Market street, Camden, N. J.

The Butler Turbine Engine Company also was incorporated, with a capital stock of $500,000. E. W. HARDEN.

PENNSYLVANIA EARNINGS.

August Not a Good Month, but Eight Months of the Year Show Increases.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—The Pennsylvania Railroad Company's comparison of earnings and expenses for August, 1902, and for eight months ending August 31, 1902, with the same period in 1901, is as follows:

Pennsylvania railroad, lines directly operated, August, 1902, gross earnings increased $892,400; expenses increased $833,400; net earnings increased $59,000; eight months, gross earnings increased $7,281,200; expenses increased $4,749,000; net earnings increased $2,532,200.

Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore, August, 1902, net earnings increased $28,300; eight months, net earnings increased $217,100; Northern Central, August, 1902, net earnings decreased $11,400; eight months, net earnings increased $68,800; West Jersey & Seashore, August, 1902, net earnings increased $33,400; eight months, net earnings increased $61,100.

Lines west of Pittsburgh and Erie, directly operated, August, 1902, gross earnings decreased $782,200; eight months, increased $477,200; net earnings decreased $87,500; eight months, gross earnings increased $4,260,000; expenses increased $3,213,800; net earnings increased $1,046,800.

PORK AND GRAIN ENJOYED BOOMS

GOOD WHEAT DEMAND

Ugly Corn Reports from Iowa and Short Receipts Lifted the Price of That Grain—Foreign Trade Bearish.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Higher prices ruled on the board of trade today, with provisions especially strong. October pork made an advance during the day of 90 cents over the opening figure, and the close was 75c higher than yesterday's close. January pork closed 25c higher, October lard 30c higher, January 22½ higher and January ribs 10c higher. December wheat closed 1¼c higher, corn was 1⅞c higher and oats ½@¾c higher.

Wheat was active and strong. Steady cables and good commission house buying were responsible for the upturn. Another rallying feature was the fact that many traders had anticipated a drop in prices when the September deal was closed up, and had sold short accordingly. The drop failed to materialize, however, and instead of a weak market, there was a strong feeling prevalent and buying was of better character than for some time. Shorts covered freely.

Wheat Receipts Short.

Smaller receipts, with poor grading, was also a factor. December opened a shade to ⅛@¼c higher at 68⅝c to 68¾c, and the price race steadily throughout the day. The high point was at 69⅞, and the close was near the top, with a gain of 1¼c, at 69⅝@69¾c. Primary receipts were 1,152,000 bushels compared with 1,311,000 last year. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 725 cars, which, with local receipts of 179 cars, 20 of contract, made total receipts for the three points of 904 cars, against 886 last week, and 918 a year ago.

Corn was firm throughout the day. Outsiders were good buyers, as were also commission houses and shorts. Statistics were all in favor of the bulls, with higher cables, small receipts and rather unfavorable weather. The Iowa state report was a bull factor, claiming 40 to 50 per cent of the crop would be unmarketable on account of dampness. December opened a shade lower to ⅛@¼c higher at 46¾c to 46¾c. Active buying carried the price to 47⅞c, and the close was 1¾c higher at 47⅝@47¾c. Total receipts were 69 cars, with 15 of contract.

Oats were dull and fluctuations confined within a narrow range. The market was strong, in sympathy with other grains and on poor grading. December opened a shade higher at 30⅜c and sold between 30⅜@30¾c and 31¼c, closing ⅛@⅜c higher at 31¼c. Local receipts were 131 cars.

The Boom in Pork.

Provisions were strong, with an active demand for October pork and lard, which advanced the price so that those commodities sharplyr. There was some weakness shorn shortly after the opening, due to selling on lower prices for hogs, but locals took hold freely, advancing the price. Absence of offerings was the main reason for the sudden upturn. October pork opened 5c lower, at $16 10, and before the close the price had advanced to $17. The close was 75c higher at $16 90. January pork opened 7½c lower at $15 02½ and sold between $15 02½ and $15 35, closing at the high point, with a gain of 25c. October lard opened unchanged at $9 70, selling between $9 70 and $10 07½, closing 30c higher at $10. Lard closed 22½c higher at $8 77½. Ribs were 10c higher at $8 15.

TWO ENGRAVING PLANTS ASSURED

FRONTAGE BRINGS $45,000

Old Church Property Sold—F. T. F. Lovejoy Buys Residence Site—New Lot Plan at South Monaca.

Two new engraving plants are soon to be erected in Pittsburgh. One will belong to the Colonial Printing and Lithographing Company, which will take over the business of the Anderson Engraving Company, now located at No. 406 Smithfield street. Plans for the building are being prepared by Architect F. C. Sauer, who will be ready for bids on its construction October 10. The building will be a three-story buff brick structure and will cover a lot 65x120 feet. The site is on the north side of Forbes street, opposite Ophelia street, and had been leased for a long term of years from Frank McCann. The building will be fireproof and is to be occupied entirely by the plant of the new company. The cost will be about $30,000.

The other plant will be built by the McKenzie Davis Lithographing Company on the site of the old Welsh Presbyterian church at Second avenue and Cherry alley. Architect Edwin Carroll has designed it, and it will be built under the direction of the Lawton Mortgage Company, which is now taking bids on its construction. The building will be seven stories high. It will be of brick and steel construction and trimmed with terra cotta. With perhaps one exception it will be the strongest building of its size in the city, extra precautions having been taken to make it suitable for the heavy machinery which the company will use. The building will cost $50,000.

Vacant Frontage Brings $45,000.

The sale has just been concluded of two plots of choice frontage in the Thirty-seventh ward for a combined consideration of $45,000. The larger parcel includes 2.3 acres and was sold by William Henning to Christian F. Leng. It consists of a lot 264x408 feet, at the northeast corner of Susquehanna and Maderia streets. The other parcel, which was obtained from the same party, measures 152x343 feet at the southwest corner of Susquehanna and Rosedale streets. Both plots are vacant and are in a locality where moderate-priced houses are in excellent demand.

The old Westminster Presbyterian church at the corner of Frankstown avenue and Continental street, Twenty-first ward, has changed hands for a consideration of $26,000. For some time the property has been in the hands of the Real Estate Savings bank, which now conveys it to Earl B. Beech. The lot measures 333x160 feet and has erected on it a 10-room brick house.

Residence Site Bought.

F. T. F. Lovejoy has purchased from H. C. Frick four properties in the Twenty-second ward for $11,500. Three of them are adjoining lots on the north side of Kensington street, one measuring 80x93 feet, one 90x120 feet and the third 90x94 feet. The fourth plot is a lot 59x94 feet, facing in Richland avenue, adjoining the other property. It is understood that this is the site on which Mr. Lovejoy is soon to build a handsome residence.

The deeds were registered yesterday in an exchange deal made through the office of L. A. Clark & Co. which involves $75,000. The big end of the transaction was the sale of the X. O. Werder flats, on the north side of Kelly street, to W. F. Cartwright, for $40,000. The lot is 60x125 feet and the apartments are new and among the best in the East End. In exchange for the flats Dr. Werder received a brick store and dwelling, standing on a lot 25x115 feet in Fifth avenue, near Vine street, Sixth ward. The property was put into the deal at $35,000, the balance being paid in cash.

Right Among Big Mills.

Another big plan of lots is to be put on sale Saturday by Black & Baird, who have arranged for special excursions on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad and a grand opening sale. The new plan will be known as South Monaca and will belong the Colonial Land Company. It is in the center of the most busy section of the Beaver valley, where the steel mills employ workmen is a matter of great concern to the large manufacturing firms located around it. Among these are the Colonial Steel Company, the Phoenix Glass Company, the Opalite Tile Company, the United States Sanitary Manufacturing Company and the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel Company. Streetcars now run from the property to Rochester, Beaver, Beaver Falls and New Brighton. The new line which will connect with Pittsburgh, by way of Coraopolis, will also run near the plan. The streets are to be paved, curbed and sewered and provided with concrete sidewalks. The lots range in price from $300 upwards.

House Sold for $25,000.

A fine center hall brick house of 12 rooms situated at the corner of Alder and Spahr streets, Thirteenth ward, has been sold by John W. Moore to Jacob F. Keil for $25,000. The purchaser bought for a home.

Architect F. C. Sauer has awarded to Martsolf Bros. the contract for the erection of a 14-room center hall brick and stone residence for E. C. Martin. The house will be built in Atlantic avenue and will cost $15,000. The same architect has plans for a $3,000 flat for Michael Cessa, in Webster avenue, and is taking bids on a $7,000 brick house to be built in Stanton avenue for N. Mangold.

Through the agency of Joseph P. Rankin & Co. 17 lots in the White plan, in the Twenty-seventh ward, have been marketed during the past two days. The lots measure 28x120 feet each and face in Scott Eighteenth street, near Monastery avenue. Nine of them were sold to A. McGregor, the contractor, for $3,200. He has arranged to improve them with nine frame houses, to cost $1,800 each. Six others were sold to D. A. Hendricks for $1,950. He will also build on each for a six-room frame dwelling. The other two were bought by Henry Lehrman for $400.

McKeesport Lots Selling.

In the Silview plan of the Empire Land and Improvement Company at McKeesport H. J. Bechdel & Co. and Harry Myers have sold 12 lots for a total consideration of $7,775. The lots measure 40x100 feet each and wace in Forbes and Euclid streets.

A SPLENDID WEDDING GIFT.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Ritchey Pleasantly Surprised by the Members of the Two-Time Champions.

Surrounded by all save a few of his fellow-players of the twice successful battlers for the baseball supremacy of the National league, Claude Ritchey, their famous second baseman, a happily married man of but a few days since, with the cause of it all standing prettily by his side, was this morning presented with a beautiful wedding gift, a complete bedroom furnishment, as a token from the Pittsburgh baseball club.

The scene of presentation took place in an especially constructed room on the third floor of Friend's large Furniture and Carpet house, 810-816 Penn avenue. The room was beautifully decorated with flowers, and, with the splendid gift artistically arranged, was equally appropriate for the surprise presentation.

Mr. Charles Zimmer, the Pirates' famous catcher, made the presentation speech, and voiced the sentiments, not alone of the players and magnates, but of thousands of baseball "fans" everywhere, when he heaped eulogy upon the blushing groom.

Mr. Ritchley in reply said he was completely overwhelmed and could not find words that would adequately describe his appreciation.

The gift will certainly make the newly married couple an ideal bedroom, being a magnificent brass bed and mahogany furnishments. The committee on selection had the entire furniture field of Pittsburgh from which to do their choosing, and after a thorough search through the many different stores, decided unanimously upon the Friend productions as the handsomest and best they could find.

LAWYER FILES HIS AUTHORITY

Mrs. Soffel Says She Employed S. S. Robertson in Divorce Case.

ANSWERS A WIFE'S SUIT

George L. Bollinger Makes Counter Charges Against Libellant, Naming Places Where he Alleges She Met Other Men.

Attorney S. S. Robertson yesterday filed his warrant of attorney from the respondent in the divorce case of Peter K. Soffel against Kate Soffel in common pleas court No. 3. Some days ago Attorney R. T. McElroy petitioned court in behalf of the libellant, to have Mrs. Soffel's lawyer produce his authority to represent her. The warrant is as follows:

"To S. S. Robertson—You were formerly authorized and are hereby authorized to appear for me as my attorney at law in the above entitled case.

KATE SOFFEL.

"Attest: W. M. JOHNSTON."

An answer was filed in the divorce case of Elizabeth Bollinger against George C. Bollinger. The respondent declares he left the libellant for a very good cause, and explains that he learned his wife was intimate with Bernard F. Rafferty and numerous others. He declares he brought suit for divorce on account of her actions and for no other reason.

Names Prominent Men.

Bollinger declares that after his wife promised to reform, she said: "I have him now where I want him. I will never live with him again, but he will have to keep his mouth shut and withdraw his suit against me."

The respondent further says these promises of reformation were in furtherance of a design on the part of the libellant, Rafferty and his hired detective, in order to defeat the action for divorce and prevent publicity. Bollinger declares also that his wife is now a frequent visitor to the office of Bernard T. Rafferty in the Park building, where it is their custom to retire to a private office.

The respondent further says that his wife, with a male companion, on July 5, last, went from the Duquesne garden to Homestead, where they inquired for hotel accommodations. Bollinger says he treated his wife as an indulgent husband should, until he learned of her bad conduct in visiting Murphy's saloon, the Griswold hotel and Sheppard's hotel, in company with dissipated associates.

Bollinger declares his wife often threw things at him, called him vile names, and denies that he accused her of shop lifting. In conclusion, the respondent demands a jury trial.

The master in the divorce case of Isabelle C. Davis against Roger Davis, filed his report, recommending that a decree be granted. The libellant is 51 years old, and was married January 22, 1896, separating November 10, 1897, when desertion is alleged to have taken place. On the latter date, it is said, the respondent wanted to know what sum of money his wife had received from her brother, and when she refused to tell him he became angry, abused her by calling her names, and left for Johnstown that evening. The respondent is an artist. At one time the couple lived at Paint creek, but later moved to this city.

REV. DR. REID'S WILL.

The will of the Rev. Dr. William J. Reid, former pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, was filed. His estate, worth $30,400, of which $7,000 is real estate, is left to the widow, Mary J. Reid, and the Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company is made executor. The will is dated May 28, 1902.

The will of Anna Pitcairn of Allegheny was filed. Samuel Pitcairn and Emma Pitcairn, grandchildren, are bequeathed $5 each and the residue of a $4,500 estate goes to the decedent's three children.

James S. Templar of Allegheny left a $1,750 estate to his wife. Josef Kohl of Sharpsburg bequeathed a $400 estate to his daughter. Ellen Keefe of Allegheny gave a small estate to the St. Paul's orphan asylum, to be used for the education and maintenance of her five children. Letters of administration were granted to Mary A. Cotter on the $14,000 estate of John O'Brien.

KAUFFELD WILL BROKEN.

Jury Finds the Testator Was Incapable of Devising His Estate.

The jury in the case of the Safe Deposit and Trust Company, guardian of Herman A. Kauffeld, against the heirs of Elias Kauffeld, yesterday returned a verdict for the plaintiffs. This breaks the will of the decedent, who was a South Side liquor dealer and possessed a large estate.

The case went through the orphans' court, where an issue was awarded. The bequests to Kauffeld's wife and son were small, and it was shown that the testator wrongfully denied the faithfulness of the wife and the legitimacy of the son. It was alleged that the decedent was not capable of making a will.

The decision gives the widow one-third of the personal estate and a dower interest in the real estate, while the remainder goes to the son.

WANTS RULE MADE ABSOLUTE.

Wabash Railroad Asks Court to Compel Delivery of Property.

In behalf of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western Railroad Company application was made yesterday to Judge Marshall Brown to issue a rule upon W. J. and Mary J. Reed, to have them show cause why they should not delivery up property, made absolute.

In appropriating a part of the Reed property it was found that but a portion of it, including a corner of the property, would be necessary, and the railroad company gave a $2,000 bond. Exceptions were filed, and to cover the entire property the bond was increased to $9,000. It is declared that the Reeds then occupied the house that had theretofore been vacant, and then, under the homestead act, the right of the company to appropriate the property was denied.

To Decide Next of Kin.

Judge W. G. Hawkins yesterday held another hearing in the contest over the estate of Michael Flannagan, the wealthy Lawrenceville blacksmith. There are many claimants as next of kin, among them Patrick Flannagan of Ireland. After the court decides who is next of kin the successful contestant will be compelled to contest the will offered by Edward McCabe. The court fixed Wednesday next for hearing arguments.

Perrett Will Contest Up.

Judge J. W. Over yesterday began taking testimony in the contest over the estate of Sarah Perrett. The latter left the share of her son, Henry Perrett, to Attorney L. K. Porter and Attorney J. N. Dunn in trust, and it was alleged the lawyers practiced undue influence over the testatrix. The will was sustained by the register and an appeal was taken to the orphans' court.

Boys Tried for Theft.

Phillip Daugher and William Graham, boys, were on trial for the larceny of $20 from F. S. Davis of Bellefield avenue, yesterday, before Judge F. H. Collier and their trial occupied all day. The boys were charged with taking the money with Benjamin Davis, another boy, who admitted his guilt and testified against the others. The jury retired just before adjournment.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

Mary Roba sued James Sullivan, a Braddock saloonkeeper, for $10,000 damages for an alleged assault. The plaintiff was the defendant's housekeeper, it is said.

Mary Jane Collin entered suit against the Drake & Stratton Company for $1,000 damages. She says her house in Elliott borough was damaged by the defendants' blasting.

In the suit of William Kitchen against the Ritter-Conley Manufacturing Company, the plaintiff was awarded $8,800. Injuries received by a piece of iron falling upon him.

Referee in Bankruptcy William R. Blair reported the sale of the plant and property of the Hussey Steel Company of New Kensington for $28,000 to the Union Spring and Manufacturing Company.

William T. Lindsay was appointed commissioner to examine the claims against the steamboat Pastime, and to distribute $1,025, the proceeds from the sale of the boat.

An order was made in the United States district court, dismissing the bankruptcy proceedings against the District Publishing Company of Erie, the statement of the International Paper Company not having been proven.

SCORE OF BIDS ARE IN.

The bids for constructing the new St. Paul's cathedral are being carefully considered, and it will be some time before the names of the builders will be announced. Over a score of bids were received and tabulated by the building committee. The Rt. Rev. Bishop R. Phelan yesterday said:

"We are proceeding slowly. We are building for posterity, and nothing will be done in haste. Among the bidders some submitted estimates for the whole contract, while others offered bids for the stone work, the concrete or the interior finishings, and the question for us to decide is whether we shall give the entire work to one firm or parcel it out among several contractors.

"Some gave us estimates on different kinds of stone and we are making a thorough investigation of the utility of the respective qualities. It is definitely decided, however, that we shall use Indiana stone, a hard, flinty product of the great limestone quarries of that state, or Cleveland sandstone. With these we shall have a material that will enable us to fulfill our promise to give Pittsburgh one of the most beautiful church edifices in the country. We shall spend over $500,000 and the cathedral will not be finished before three years."
